U.S. Stamps Approval On Mikoyan Visit

Khrushchev Top Aide Due Next Month

Deputy Premier May Confer With President, Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Thursday speedily welcomed Anastas I. Mikoyan, Russia's No. 2 man, for a two-week visit to Washington that conceivably could ease the cold war.

The wily, bustling Mikoyan is expected to arrive early in January. Ostensibly it will be an unofficial visit with Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

But the State Department said Mikoyan, who is deputy premier under Nikita Khrushchev, will be free to talk to any U.S. official, including Secretary of State Dulles and presumably including President Eisenhower.

"Any one he wished to see would be glad to receive him," department press chief Lincoln White told a news conference.

Dulles Grants Visa

Mikoyan also is free to visit anywhere else in the United States except in areas declared off-limits to Russians, such as ports, atomic plants and the like. Even in these cases, White said he foresees no problem in making an exception if Mikoyan wishes to visit a proscribed area. The off-limits rules were set up in simple retaliation for Soviet restrictions on Americans in Russia.

Mikoyan applied for a diplomatic visitor's visa Wednesday at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson forwarded the request to Secretary Dulles, who is attending the Atlantic Pact meeting in Paris. The ambassador recommended approval, which Dulles swiftly granted. It all took less than 24 hours.

The Associated Press learned of Mikoyan's request and reported it Wednesday night. White confirmed the report Thursday and said: "Our embassy in Moscow has been instructed to inform the Soviet government that it (the embassy) is authorized to issue a visa for Mr. Mikoyan."

May Talk With Ike

As to why Mikoyan is coming, White said all he knew was what Mikoyan had stated in his request: to visit Menshikov. But White then practically invited Mikoyan to confer with top U.S. officials by saying:

"We have no indication of his desires on matters other than his visit to the ambassador. He is a member of the Soviet government as deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers and presumably will want to pay appropriate calls on American officials as he has on the officials of other countries he has recently visited."

That seemed to throw open the door for man-to-man talks with Dulles and possibly with Eisenhower on all cold war questions. Not the least of these right now is the question of Berlin.

Three Gunmen Get $21,000 In Stickup

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three masked gunmen escaped with about $21,000 in cash and checks from a major magazine distributing firm Thursday after holding 24 employes captive in a two-story building in lower Manhattan.

Police said the gunman pistol-whipped Joseph Rosenberg, office manager of the Metropolitan News Co., and cashier Benjamin Fishbein. The two men opened the safe after the bandits threatened to kill all of the employes. Another man was hit with a gun butt and a woman was slapped during the robbery.

NATO, Winding Up Paris Talks, Defies Soviets

Warns Possible Aggressors It Will Use A-Arms

PARIS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, menaced in Berlin, voted a speed-up in defensive might, including nuclear arms.

The alliance of 15 nations ended its three-day conference Thursday with a communique bristling with defiant phrases in the face of the Soviet threat to freeze U.S., British and French forces out of West Berlin.

"The member countries made clear their resolution not to yield to threats," the ministers pronounced. And they reaffirmed their "manifest will to use nuclear retaliatory forces to repel aggression."

Mikoyan To Visit U. S.

Then they learned that for the past three days or so the United States had been discussing with the Soviet Union an early visit to Washington of Anastas I. Mikoyan, the deputy Soviet premier and intimate of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

That will take Mikoyan to Washington well ahead of the June 1 deadline the Soviets set for declaring West Berlin a free city, surrendering the isolated old capital to harrassment by Communist east Germany.

The news of Mikoyan's projected visit was not officially communicated to NATO delegates. They learned of it first through news agencies.

There was no comment from U.S. officials here. But there was no hiding the comfort the NATO nations found in this mea of approaching the dangerous Berlin problem in informal talks.

West Drafting Notes

The visit by Mikoyan tended to scale down the importance of the notes the West is preparing to send Khrushchev in reply to his virtual ultimatum on Berlin.

Nevertheless, drafting officials plugged ahead to carry out the decisions by France, the United States, Britain and West Germany to reject outright the Soviet proposal on Berlin. The rejection was backed solidly by the whole Western alliance.

Coupled in the notes with the rejection will be an invitation to the Soviet Union to take a new look at the problems of uniting Germany and of bringing security to Europe.

Sneak Attack Ban Talks End On Futile Note

GENEVA (UPI)—The East and West gave up indefinitely Thursday in their drawnout effort to organize a world-wide warning system against surprise attacks.

The deadlocked 10-nation conference on prevention of sneak attacks held the last in a series of fruitless meetings which began Nov. 10, and then suspended the talks without setting a date for re-convening.

Western delegation chief, William C. Foster of the United States, said his government would work "as energentically as possible" to get the talks underway again.

Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, head of the Eastern delegation, blamed the West for the conference's lack of progress so far. He charged the West tried to use the talks to snoop on Russian military secrets.

Although he contended the West was trying to bury the conference permanently by not setting a resumption date, Kuznetsov did not rule out the idea that East and West some day could find a formula for continuing the talks.

The concurrent three - nation conference on establishing a nuclear weapons test ban canceled its session Thursday and was scheduled to adjourn Friday for a Christmas recess until Jan. T. The conference currently is in dispute over a Soviet demand —opposed by Britain and the United States—for a virtual veto in operation of any control scheme to police a nuclear test ban.

500,000 Officials

WASHINGTON (UPI) —There are more than 500,000 elected local officials in the United States —about 30 for each 10,000 persons — the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

Cooper Would Take GOP Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky said Thursday he'd accept the job if he's elected Senate Republican leader.

While declining to say whether he is an active candidate for the post, Cooper did say "if they elected me, of course I'd do it."

Cooper made this statement to a reporter shortly after his fellow Kentuckian, Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky), told a news conference he won't join an insurgent group that says the Senate should have more progressive leadership.

Cooper, a strong voice in that group, said Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont and Thomas H. Kuchel of California would make outstanding leaders.

"Anti-Party" Sins Admitted By Bulganin

Soviet Ex-Premier Confesses He Was Dissidents' Leader

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet ex-Premier Nikolai Bulganin made a surprise appearance before the Communist party Central Committee Thursday and admitted all his political sins.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported Friday he confessed he was the leader of the "anti-party" group of former Premier-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov and Dmitri Shepilov and Lazar Kaganovich.

They all were thrown out of their high offices last year as traitors to the party.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev denounced Bulganin only last month as a member of the anti-party group.

This was many months after he had been removed as premier and demoted to the chairman of the state bank and then to an even lesser job as chairman of the Stavropol Territorial Economic Council in the Caucasus.

"Everything True"

"Everything Comrade Khrushchev said in his report on the anti-party group about Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich and about me and Shepilov was true, and all said here by comrades on the floor is correct," Bulganin was quoted as saying. "Everything corresponds fully to reality.

"When in 1957 the anti-party activities of Malenkov, Kaganovich, Molotov and Shepilov actively developed I joined them. I supported them and became their partisan and accomplice.

"Being then chairman of the Council of Ministers—Premier—I not only became their accomplice but also nominally their leader.

"The anti-party group met in my office and there concerted their anti-party reactionary work."

Bulganin said the members of the group "always took a special stand which did not correspond to the general line of the Central Committee in all fundamental questions of domestic and foreign policy which the Central Committee had to rule on."

First Sided With Molotov

Bulganin was reported first to have sided with the Molotov group in the upheaval of 1957 and then to have thrown in his lot with Khrushchev belatedly when Khrushchev won out in the bout for power in the Central Committee.

A former traveling partner of Khrushchev's on various foreign good-will missions, he remained on as premier, however, until last March when Khrushchev became premier.

Bulganin became chairman of the state bank and later took office in his present job in remote Stavropol.

It was not until last month, in a report on agriculture, that Khrushchev denounced him as a member of the group.

Air Force Jets Set Five Climb Marks

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Two Air Force F104 Starfighters, world's fastest and highest-climbing fighter-interceptor planes, have set five new world time-to-climb records, it was announced Thursday.

Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Parker, Western Air Defense Force commander, announced the new marks were set at Point Mogu, Calif., by two pilots from the 538th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, Larson Air Force Base, Wash.

They also established marks, for which no previous record existed, for two additional heights including a climb to 82,020.8 feet in 4 minutes 26.03 seconds.

Soviets Charge NATO Preparing For War

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio charged Thursday night the North Atlantic powers took "another step in preparing for aggressive war" at their Paris meeting.

Commentator Alexander Druzhinin said:

"The results of the Paris meeting make it convincingly clear that the course followed by this alignment (NATO) is fraught with great danger to universal peace and the security of all nations."

CAB Stand Adds Fuel To Jetliner Crew Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government agency Thursday whipped up the storm already raging over crew requirements for America's fast new jet airliners.

The Civil Aeronautics Board made public a letter to Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida saying it saw no emergency need on the eve of the jet age to change crew standards from those required on present big piston-powered planes.

This continues in effect the government's minimum crew standards for all airplanes weighing 80,000 pounds or more, including the new jets. These standards call for a pilot in command, a copilot and an engineer licensed as such.

The board's stand complicates the dispute between the airlines and two unions — the Flight Engineers International Assn. and the Air Line Pilots Assn. — over whether the third jet crew member should be pilot-trained. This is not required by the CAB.

The pilots claim the third crewman should be pilot-trained, the engineers maintain that technical knowledge of the airplane is the important thing.

Both base their formal argument on safety needs, but both are deeply concerned that the faster and bigger jets will provide less over-all employment for flying personnel.

Gov. Collins had asked the government to review crew needs in view of the present 24-day-old strike by the engineers on Eastern Air Lines. Collins said the shutdown of the Miami-based carrier was hurting Florida business.

U.S. Navy To Rescue

TOKYO (AP)—The coast guard reported Friday it has been notified that a U.S. Navy cargo attack ship has rescued the 24-man crew of a Japanese tuna fishing boat which sank 300 miles west of Wake Island.

Kissing Bandit Wishes Victim Merry Christmas

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman was robbed of $3 Thursday by a kissing, "Merry Christmas" holdup man.

He entered a Manhattan beauty shop, flashed a knife and told Gloria Pizzitola, 30, the manager: "I have three kids and no money. I need $1.50 to buy presents for the children."

She handed over $2.

"Can you spare another dollar?" asked the man, a Negro.

She gave him another dollar.

"Thank you and Merry Christmas," he said. Then he suddenly kissed her on both cheeks and went on his way. Mrs. Pizzitola notified police.

Big Calif. Fire 60% Controlled

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI) — A giant brush fire that swept 60,000 acres through the Santa Ana Mountains along the coast between Los Angeles and San Diego was 60 per cent controlled Thursday.

Firemen said flames that blackened an estimated 100-square mile area, including parts of the Camp Pendleton Marine corps base, were touched off by a target practicing rifleman in the tinder-dry back country of the Southern California coastal section.

The fire blazed along a two- to three - mile front in a flare-up Thursday afternoon near the Riverside - San Diego County line. Equipment and manpower were deployed to meet the new threat on the southeast corner of the blaze, but Forest Service spokesmen said they were hopeful the new "hot spot" could be contained by Friday morning.

Barring a change in the existing conditions, Forest Service spokesmen said, the flare-up was not expected to delay control of the overall burn.

Navy To Erase 9,000 Jobs, End Regulus Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced Thursday night it will cut back its operations in 17 states eliminating about 9,000 civilian jobs over the next several years.

The announcement followed closely on the Navy's cancellation of its 78-million-dollar Regulus II guided missile program.

Texas was hard hit by the two decisions. The contract for the development of the Regulus was held by Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas. The largest Navy center listed for shutdown in the other move was the overhaul and repair activity at the naval air station in Corpus Christi. This will be closed by next July, releasing 3,015 civilian employes.

In all, the Navy plans call for the closing, reduction or merging of 30 shore establishments.

The announcement said this was necessary to balance the shore facilities with the reduction in size of naval operating forces. It also said rising prices and higher labor costs weighed in the decision.

As for the cancellation of the Regulus project, the Navy said, "The termination of this program will permit the Navy to move as rapidly as possible to more advanced systems which include and go beyond the inherent capabilities of Regulus II."

F. O. Detweiller, president of Chance Vought, said the cancellation will leave "a void that cannot be filled by any other weapon in existence or planned."

Secretary of the Navy Thomas Gates said the project—which had barely gotten under way — was being terminated "to provide the best balance in over-all Navy weapons systems within the resources available at present and for the foreseeable future."

The contract for development of the Regulus II, which has a range of more than 1,000 miles and can carry a nuclear warhead, was held by Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

8,800-Pound Moon Carries Taped 'Voice'

Satellite Dwarfs Sputniks, Should Be Clearly Visible

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force launched the biggest earth satellite of the space age Thursday night — a huge and fully visible Atlas ICBM that is designed to "talk back" to the earth.

The new satellite, more than twice the size of Russia's largest baby moon, Sputnik III, may usher in an entirely new long-range communications system. Whether the surprise "talking" experiment will work should be known within 20 hours after the launching here at 6:02 p.m. est.

The satellite, weighing 8,800 pounds, should be more visible than any previous baby moon because of its lower orbit — 920 miles at the highest point — and its tremendous size.

The new satellite is about 75 feet long, more than twice the length of a highway bus. It is more than 200 times heavier than the largest of the three earlier U.S. satellites.

Designed To "Talk"

Scientists immediately began trying to "load" the satellite's special communications system, including a tape recorder, so that it would relay spoken messages back to earth stations thousands of miles away.

It can also send telemetered signals in addition to the spoken messages.

The "talking" communications system contained in the orbiting Atlas was disclosed at a news conference here by Roy Johnson, head of the Civilian Space Agency and high Air Force and Army officials. But the most startling immediate fact about the fifth U.S. satellite is its size.

It was not until two hours after the huge missile was fired that there was a hint that it was a satellite-try. Then President Eisenhower, informed at a White House diplomatic dinner, issued the dramatic announcement of the orbit.

Johnson said the successful placing of the entire Atlas vehicle in orbit "opens the avenue to very large satellites in the future." He said the launching of the Atlas, the first Air Force try at orbiting a baby moon, was conceived last summer to advance communications knowledge and that "it was one of the best kept secrets of recent years."

Great Step Forward

"It is going to be a great step forward in communications."

"Science," he said, "can look forward to the day when the Armed Forces "get out of the overcrowded commercial radio and TV spectrum and will use satellites for communication."

The system was designed to relay spoken messages to earth stations in California, Georgia and Arizona. The exact locations of the stations were not immediately disclosed.

Johnson said the satellite's beacon will be operating on 107.97 and 107.94 megacycles.

"When the satellite passes over a ground station, it will "speak the message back to the station", Johnson said. It can also send telemetered signals.

It is expected to remain in orbit about 20 days — a relatively short life span, but its value is expected to be great.

"This successful launching constitutes a major step forward in space exploration and opens new avenues for the United States and all mankind in their efforts to explore the peaceful uses of outer space," the Defense Department said.

Ike's Voice May Be On Satellite's Tape

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voice of President Eisenhower may be stored in tape aboard the giant Atlas satellite launched Thursday night, to be broadcast back to earth later.

This possibility was suggested during a news conference with Pentagon scientists.

The four-ton satellite sent up by the Air Force is being used in a test of a communications system to send messages to the satellite, then have the vehicle repeat them back later.

First-Class Fares Cut By Rock Island Railroad

CHICAGO (AP)—The Rock Island Line Thursday announced it will reverse rising price trends in travel by cutting round-trip fares for sleeping and parlor car users by 28 per cent Jan. 25.

R. E. King, general passenger traffic manager, said the system-wide reduction in first-class fares will be tried for a nine-month period to determine whether they will boost business.

The Rock Island is the first major U.S. railroad to make such a voluntary cut in round-trip fares applicable to sleeping and parlor cars in the keen competitive battle for the transport dollar.

"What we are doing, in effect," King said, "is to reduce the basic round-trip rate per mile from the present 3.473 cents to 2.701 cents, the equivalent of a 28 per cent slash in so - called first - class fares."

Round-trip rates will carry a 30-day limit.

The nine - month experimental period, King said, "is sufficient time to determine the public's reaction to the new fares."

This is what the reduction will mean on some of the railroad's runs, with present round-trip fare given first, and reduced fare second: Chicago-Des Moines $24.90, $19.35; Chicago-Denver, Colorado Springs $71.95, $55.95; Minneapolis-Kansas City $33.75, $26.25; Minneapolis-Houston $85.45, $66.45, and St. Paul-Kansas City $33.35, $25.95.

King said that new fare schedules will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and state regulatory bodies within the next few days.

Not Kitten On The Keys But Cat Inside Produces Weird 'Music' From Organ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nobody laughed when Mrs. Henry Gerlach sat down to play the organ. They did later.

"It was just horrible," she admitted. "I know I don't play too well, but it sounded like a record player that's rejecting all the time."

She tried again after her husband came home. Same thing, only worse.

He pulled the organ away from the wall and Mrs. Gerlach peeked in the narrow slot at the back near the top.

"There were two green eyes staring at me. I nearly flipped."

That's when Mrs. Gerlach telephoned the music company: "You know that organ you delivered to me today? Well, it has a black cat in it with bells on!"

"Now keep calm, lady," the salesman suggested. "You'll be all right. When's your husband coming home?"

"Look," said Mrs. Gerlach. "I'm a Methodist . . ."

"I'm cold sober. There is a big black cat in there. And he has on a red leather collar with two bells on it.

"Besides, my husband's already home."

The salesman finally checked with the movers. Seems they'd also stopped at Mrs. J. S. Wright's to move a piano into her new home.

A call to Mrs. Wright . . . and news that her half-Persian cat Coalie was missing.

"Our new home has no basement," she said, "and Coalie must have got wind that we were planning to give her away."

Mrs. Gerlach thinks Coalie jumped into the organ and sat on the organ pedal. "A flap opens when the pedal's pressed down and in she must have gone."

Mrs. Gerlach can keep the cat if she wishes.

"My two boys are crazy about her, but she doesn't get along with the cat we've already got."

Don't doubt Mrs. Gerlach's story.

"I've got the cat to prove it."

The system was designed to relay spoken messages to earth stations in California, Georgia and Arizona. The exact locations of the stations were not immediately disclosed.

Johnson said the satellite's beacon will be operating on 107.97 and 107.94 megacycles.

"When the satellite passes over a ground station, it will "speak the message back to the station", Johnson said. It can also send telemetered signals.

It is expected to remain in orbit about 20 days — a relatively short life span, but its value is expected to be great.

"This successful launching constitutes a major step forward in space exploration and opens new avenues for the United States and all mankind in their efforts to explore the peaceful uses of outer space," the Defense Department said.

Sneak Attack Ban Talks End On Futile Note

GENEVA (UPI)—The East and West gave up indefinitely Thursday in their drawnout effort to organize a world-wide warning system against surprise attacks.

The deadlocked 10-nation conference on prevention of sneak attacks held the last in a series of fruitless meetings which began Nov. 10, and then suspended the talks without setting a date for re-convening.

Western delegation chief, William C. Foster of the United States, said his government would work "as energentically as possible" to get the talks underway again.

Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, head of the Eastern delegation, blamed the West for the conference's lack of progress so far. He charged the West tried to use the talks to snoop on Russian military secrets.

Although he contended the West was trying to bury the conference permanently by not setting a resumption date, Kuznetsov did not rule out the idea that East and West some day could find a formula for continuing the talks.

The concurrent three - nation conference on establishing a nuclear weapons test ban canceled its session Thursday and was scheduled to adjourn Friday for a Christmas recess until Jan. 7. The conference currently is in dispute over a Soviet demand —opposed by Britain and the United States—for a virtual veto in operation of any control scheme to police a nuclear test ban.

Three Gunmen Get $21,000 In Stickup

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three masked gunmen escaped with about $21,000 in cash and checks from a major magazine distributing firm Thursday after holding 24 employes captive in a two-story building in lower Manhattan.

Police said the gunman pistol-whipped Joseph Rosenberg, office manager of the Metropolitan News Co., and cashier Benjamin Fishbein. The two men opened the safe after the bandits threatened to kill all of the employes. Another man was hit with a gun butt and a woman was slapped during the robbery.

500,000 Officials

WASHINGTON (UPI) —There are more than 500,000 elected local officials in the United States —about 30 for each 10,000 persons — the Census Bureau reported Thursday.

Cooper Would Take GOP Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky said Thursday he'd accept the job if he's elected Senate Republican leader.

While declining to say whether he is an active candidate for the post, Cooper did say "if they elected me, of course I'd do it."

Cooper made this statement to a reporter shortly after his fellow Kentuckian, Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky), told a news conference he won't join an insurgent group that says the Senate should have more progressive leadership.

Cooper, a strong voice in that group, said Sens. George D. Aiken of Vermont and Thomas H. Kuchel of California would make outstanding leaders.

Air Force Jets Set Five Climb Marks

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Two Air Force F104 Starfighters, world's fastest and highest-climbing fighter-interceptor planes, have set five new world time-to-climb records, it was announced Thursday.

Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Parker, Western Air Defense Force commander, announced the new marks were set at Point Mogu, Calif., by two pilots from the 538th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, Larson Air Force Base, Wash.

They also established marks, for which no previous record existed, for two additional heights including a climb to 82,020.8 feet in 4 minutes 26.03 seconds.

Soviets Charge NATO Preparing For War

Commentator Alexander Druzhinin said:

"The results of the Paris meeting make it convincingly clear that the course followed by this alignment (NATO) is fraught with great danger to universal peace and the security of all nations."

CAB Stand Adds Fuel To Jetliner Crew Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government agency Thursday whipped up the storm already raging over crew requirements for America's fast new jet airliners.

The Civil Aeronautics Board made public a letter to Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida saying it saw no emergency need on the eve of the jet age to change crew standards from those required on present big piston-powered planes.

This continues in effect the government's minimum crew standards for all airplanes weighing 80,000 pounds or more, including the new jets. These standards call for a pilot in command, a copilot and an engineer licensed as such.

The board's stand complicates the dispute between the airlines and two unions — the Flight Engineers International Assn. and the Air Line Pilots Assn. — over whether the third jet crew member should be pilot-trained. This is not required by the CAB.

The pilots claim the third crewman should be pilot-trained, the engineers maintain that technical knowledge of the airplane is the important thing.

Both base their formal argument on safety needs, but both are deeply concerned that the faster and bigger jets will provide less over-all employment for flying personnel.

Gov. Collins had asked the government to review crew needs in view of the present 24-day-old strike by the engineers on Eastern Air Lines. Collins said the shutdown of the Miami-based carrier was hurting Florida business.

U.S. Navy To Rescue

TOKYO (AP)—The coast guard reported Friday it has been notified that a U.S. Navy cargo attack ship has rescued the 24-man crew of a Japanese tuna fishing boat which sank 300 miles west of Wake Island.

Kissing Bandit Wishes Victim Merry Christmas

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman was robbed of $3 Thursday by a kissing, "Merry Christmas" holdup man.

He entered a Manhattan beauty shop, flashed a knife and told Gloria Pizzitola, 30, the manager: "I have three kids and no money. I need $1.50 to buy presents for the children."

She handed over $2.

"Can you spare another dollar?" asked the man, a Negro.

She gave him another dollar.

"Thank you and Merry Christmas," he said. Then he suddenly kissed her on both cheeks and went on his way. Mrs. Pizzitola notified police.

Big Calif. Fire 60% Controlled

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI) — A giant brush fire that swept 60,000 acres through the Santa Ana Mountains along the coast between Los Angeles and San Diego was 60 per cent controlled Thursday.

Firemen said flames that blackened an estimated 100-square mile area, including parts of the Camp Pendleton Marine corps base, were touched off by a target practicing rifleman in the tinder-dry back country of the Southern California coastal section.

The fire blazed along a two- to three - mile front in a flare-up Thursday afternoon near the Riverside - San Diego County line. Equipment and manpower were deployed to meet the new threat on the southeast corner of the blaze, but Forest Service spokesmen said they were hopeful the new "hot spot" could be contained by Friday morning.

Barring a change in the existing conditions, Forest Service spokesmen said, the flare-up was not expected to delay control of the overall burn.

Navy To Erase 9,000 Jobs, End Regulus Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced Thursday night it will cut back its operations in 17 states eliminating about 9,000 civilian jobs over the next several years.

The announcement followed closely on the Navy's cancellation of its 78-million-dollar Regulus II guided missile program.

Texas was hard hit by the two decisions. The contract for the development of the Regulus was held by Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas. The largest Navy center listed for shutdown in the other move was the overhaul and repair activity at the naval air station in Corpus Christi. This will be closed by next July, releasing 3,015 civilian employes.

In all, the Navy plans call for the closing, reduction or merging of 30 shore establishments.

The announcement said this was necessary to balance the shore facilities with the reduction in size of naval operating forces. It also said rising prices and higher labor costs weighed in the decision.

As for the cancellation of the Regulus project, the Navy said, "The termination of this program will permit the Navy to move as rapidly as possible to more advanced systems which include and go beyond the inherent capabilities of Regulus II."

F. O. Detweiller, president of Chance Vought, said the cancellation will leave "a void that cannot be filled by any other weapon in existence or planned."

Secretary of the Navy Thomas Gates said the project—which had barely gotten under way — was being terminated "to provide the best balance in over-all Navy weapons systems within the resources available at present and for the foreseeable future."

The contract for development of the Regulus II, which has a range of more than 1,000 miles and can carry a nuclear warhead, was held by Chance Vought Aircraft, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

First-Class Fares Cut By Rock Island Railroad

CHICAGO (AP)—The Rock Island Line Thursday announced it will reverse rising price trends in travel by cutting round-trip fares for sleeping and parlor car users by 28 per cent Jan. 25.

R. E. King, general passenger traffic manager, said the system-wide reduction in first-class fares will be tried for a nine-month period to determine whether they will boost business.

The Rock Island is the first major U.S. railroad to make such a voluntary cut in round-trip fares applicable to sleeping and parlor cars in the keen competitive battle for the transportation dollar.

"What we are doing, in effect," King said, "is to reduce the basic round-trip rate per mile from the present 3.473 cents to 2.701 cents, the equivalent of a 28 per cent slash in so - called first - class fares."

Round-trip rates will carry a 30-day limit.

The nine - month experimental period, King said, "is sufficient time to determine the public's reaction to the new fares."

This is what the reduction will mean on some of the railroad's runs, with present round-trip fare given first, and reduced fare second: Chicago-Des Moines $24.90, $19.35; Chicago-Denver, Colorado Springs $71.95, $55.95; Minneapolis-Kansas City $33.75, $26.25; Minneapolis-Houston $85.45, $66.45, and St. Paul-Kansas City $33.35, $25.95.

King said that new fare schedules will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and state regulatory bodies within the next few days.

Not Kitten On The Keys But Cat Inside Produces Weird 'Music' From Organ

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nobody laughed when Mrs. Henry Gerlach sat down to play the organ. They did later.

"It was just horrible" she admitted. "I know I don't play too well, but it sounded like a record player that's rejecting all the time."

She tried again after her husband came home. Same thing, only worse.

He pulled the organ away from the wall and Mrs. Gerlach peeked in the narrow slot at the back near the top.

"There were two green eyes staring at me. I nearly flipped."

That's when Mrs. Gerlach telephoned the music company: "You know that organ you delivered to me today? Well, it has a black cat in it with bells on!"

"Now keep calm, lady," the salesman suggested. "You'll be all right. When's your husband coming home?"

"I'm cold sober. There is a big black cat in there. And he has on a red leather collar with two bells on it.

"Besides, my husband's already home."

The salesman finally checked with the movers. Seems they'd also stopped at Mrs. J. S. Wright's to move a piano into her new home.

A call to Mrs. Wright . . . and news that her half-Persian cat Coalie was missing.

"Our new home has no basement," she said, "and Coalie must have got wind that we were planning to give her away."

Mrs. Gerlach thinks Coalie jumped into the van and sat on the organ pedal. "A flap opens when the pedal's pressed down and in she must have gone."

Mrs. Gerlach can keep the cat if she wishes.

"My two boys are crazy about her, but she doesn't get along with the cat we've already got."

Don't doubt Mrs. Gerlach's story.

Ike's Voice May Be On Satellite's Tape

WASHINGTON (AP)—The voice of President Eisenhower may be stored in tape aboard the giant Atlas satellite launched Thursday night, to be broadcast back to earth later.

This possibility was suggested during a news conference with Pentagon scientists.

The four-ton satellite sent up by the Air Force is being used in a test of a communications system to send messages to the satellite, then have the vehicle repeat them back later.

China's Rulers Push Drive For Extension Of Commune System

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio boasted Thursday that the drastic commune system has swept up 99 per cent of the peasants in the drive to make Red China a world industrial giant. And now the drive is on to extend the communes to all cites and towns.

Ignoring reports abroad of widespread peasant resistance and conflicts high in the council of the Chinese Communist party itself, Peiping radio declared: "A new social organization has appeared fresh as the morning sun above the broad horizon of east Asia."

Peiping was quoting from a resolution approved by the party Central Committee at Wuchang Dec. 10—the same meeting that announced Mao Tze-tung's forthcoming retirement as president. It took 4 hours, 20 minutes to broadcast the 15,000-word resolution.

Reports from the Chinese Nationalist underground have said seething unrest over the commune system—which uproots families and places them in labor battalions—led to the decision to replace Mao as chief of the government.

But this appears largely discounted in view of the party's decision to press forward until the commune system engulfs every city and rural area in China. Indeed, the committee description of the communes as "fresh as the morning sun" might well have been written by Mao, who considers himself something of a poet.

Peiping radio said since the first communes appeared last summer the peasants had reorganized themselves into over 26,000 communes."

This embraced more than 120 million households "or more than 99 per cent of all the peasant households of various nationalities in China," the broadcast said.

Now the emphasis will be on the city communes.

The resolution disclosed conflicts high in the party, not over the merits of the commune system but over the speed with which it is heading China from socialism to complete communism.

As a result of misunderstanding, some party members think "they can dispense with the Socialist principle of distribution according to work and adopt the Communist principle of distribution according to needs," the resolution said.

But the resolution said this misunderstanding must be cleared up because "the Socialist system will have to continue for a very long time."

No 'Loyalty Pledge' Signature Needed

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Signing a "loyalty pledge" will be no longer required of student editors at the University of Maryland before they take over executive positions.

The publications board voided the controversial document which came into being this year shortly after editors of the school's humor magazine, "The Old Line", put out an issue which administration officials felt was objectionable.

Prof. George Batka, chairman of the board, said that from now on students will be asked to read the pledge and say that they understand and accept it.

Steel that was produced by the so-called bessemer process began replacing iron rails after the Civil War.

Commuters Pay Annual Tribute To Factory Men

DUNELLEN, N.J. (AP)—A Wall Street commuter in a bright red Santa Claus outfit and an 18-inch beard stepped off a Reading Railroad train and walked over to five overall-clad men.

The commuter, Walker W. Stevenson Jr. of Princeton, slipped a bag full of money to James Bryant of Plainfield, foreman of the group, wished all the men a Merry Christmas, and resumed his trip to his brokerage office in New York.

Some 300 employes of R. Hoe & Co., Inc., printing press manufacturing plant, and another 150 commuters aboard the "Wall Street Express" watched the ceremony—the third annual Christmas tribute from the commuters to the factory workers.

It started several years ago when the Hoe workers waved at the passing train. The commuters waved back.

The commuters — including a group of Princeton residents — really began to appreciate the men in overalls when the crew displayed a sign three years ago before the traditional football game reading: "Beat Yale!"

The commuters arranged with the railroad to have the train make a special stop here before Christmas. They passed the hat aboard the train and presented the men with a gift.

Over $100 was contributed by the group Thursday.

Pope Bestows Red Hats On 20 New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII bestowed the red hats of their high rank on 20 of the 23 new princes of the Roman Catholic Church in a glittering two-hour ceremony Thursday.

While 35,000 spectators watched in majestic St. Peter's, the pontiff placed the broad-brimmed hats briefly on the cardinals' bowed heads and pledged them to be fearless for the faith.

With bright scarlet trains, the cardinals approached the papal throne in the order in which they were named for promotion.

Richard James Cardinal Cushing of Boston, one of the two Americans elevated, came 10th. The other, John Cardina' O'Hara of Philadelphia, was 13th.

The ceremony climaxed the consistories by which Pope John, six weeks after his coronation, has swelled the College of Cardinals to 74 men, the greatest strength in its history.

The three absent cardinals will come here later to receive their red hats from Pope John. They are Jose Cardinal Bueno y Monreal of Spain and Vatican nuncios to Portugal and Italy, who by tradition receive other emblems of their rank from the chiefs of state of those three nations.

Joint Meeting Set In Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal mediators, trying to break a contract deadlock that has halted publication of nine major daily newspapers, Thursday scheduled a joint meeting between publishers and striking deliverers for Monday.

Meantime, mediator Herbert L. Haber said he and his men would continue meeting separately with both sides.

"If circumstances warrant, an earlier joint meeting will be held," he said.

The outlook appeared dim for an early settlement of the nine-day strike against papers serving a metropolitan population of 12 million. Losses in pre-Christmas advertising and wages have soared into the millions of dollars. Store sales also have slumped.

Reds Charge U.S. Planes Drop Leaflets

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists Thursday published a charge that U.S. aircraft were dropping propaganda leaflets over East Germany on flights to isolated West Berlin.

The charge was seen as a possible pretext for interference with Western flights to Berlin through the three 20-mile-wide air corridors over the Soviet zone. The Communists already have challenged the right of U.S. British and French commercial airlines to fly to the city.

The new accusation against the Americans was contained in a letter published Thursday in the official East German Communist Party newspaper Neues Deutschland.

Record Budget, Tax

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 1959 record budget totaling $329,998,503 and a record $3.34 tax rate to balance it were approved today by the city council.

Before making the spending and revenue program legal, the council-man made adjustments which enabled them to clip two cents off the $3.36 tax rate approved by the Board of Estimates.

Robber Drops Into Police Laps

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP)—A robbery suspect fell, unhurt, in front a police cruiser.

As a passenger in the cruiser, he aroused the driver's suspicions when he began to drop money.

Arrested and charged with robbery of a service station was Alvin M. Petit, 25, a Falls Church car salesman. Police said he held up Roy Raynor, took $70, and then ran when he saw an officer inspecting his car.

He fell from an overpass to land in front of a police car.

Salan Says Peace On Way In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — Gen. Raoul Salan, departing French commander, said Thursday peace is returning to Algeria.

In a farewell order of the day to the army he has commanded for 25 months, the new inspector general of French national defense said:

"Today peace returns to the cities and countryside. Pursued without interruption, rebel bands are crowded into the mountains. The adversary mainfests his existence only by the most cowardly attacks."

Prescott And Horney Begin Court Terms

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Judges Stedman Prescott and William R. Horney began 15 year terms on the Court of Appeals Thursday.

Judge Prescott is a resident of Rockville and former chief judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit. On the state court he represents the Third Appellate Circuit composed of Maryland's seven westernmost counties.

Judge Horney, a Centreville resident, is former chief judge of the Second Judicial Circuit and represents the First Appellate Circuit, comprising the Eastern Shore.

Cutbacks Might Curtail College Summer Terms

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A tightening of the state treasury's purse strings last week may force curtailment of summer school terms at the nine state colleges, it was learned this week.

A curb of expenditures under a State Board of Public Works order reducing spending of state agencies by 5 per cent for the current fiscal year will not affect the regular nine-month winter terms at the schools, however.

The board ordered the cutback after noting that revenues for the first five months of the fiscal year had fallen $3,500,000 below original expectations.

A spokesman for the State Board of Education said this could have the effect of eliminating summer school terms as they have been operated in recent years. Most drastic changes would come in the terms which are held in the month of June, the last month of the current fiscal period.

However, he pointed out this would be one of the last places college presidents would look in trying to curtail expenditures. Before dipping into summer school funds to reduce spending, the spokesman said, severe cuts would be made in current expenses, repairs and alterations and equipment accounts.

These cuts, in many instances, were not expected to be great enough to meet the required 5 per cent reduction in spending ordered by the board.

Six of the state colleges regularly schedule two six-week summer terms with the first starting in early June and the second in mid-July. Two others have only nine week summer terms, which generally start by mid-June and continue to the end of July, and the other has only a six - weeks term which has been started in June.

The spokesman theorized that under the cutback it was probably that all of the schools would have to eliminate summer school terms in June. Those holding two six week terms probably would drop to one nine week term, beginning in July — the start of a new fiscal year.

The two with nine week terms now might also postpone the starting day until the new fiscal period and the one with the one six weeks term would drop back to July also.

A serious problem might develop regarding instructional staffs if the expense cutting involves summer schools. The spokesman said, in effect that such a reduction in school terms would mean less money for college professors and instructors.

This, he said, might have the effect of causing them to look for other jobs because "it is money out of their pockets."

"The take home pay of instructors has been a big problem in recent years. The last two Legislatures have helped us fill a great gap between pay in West Virginia and in other states," the spokesman said. "It would be terrible to have a hole spring up in the dike now."

SYLVANIA PLANS MERGER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stockholders of Sylvania Electric Products Inc. will be asked at a special meeting Feb. 11 to approve the merger of their company into General Telephone Corp. through a share-for-share exchange. The boards of both firms approved the plan in principle on Nov. 6.

DISCUSS MONKEY'S FLIGHT — Using a capsule like the one which carried a tiny monkey to the edge of space, Capt. Norman L. Barr of the Navy (left) and Col. Robert H. Holmes of the Army discuss aspects of the 1,500-mile flight last Saturday from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The two space medicine experts said information gained from the monkey's rocket ride makes it almost certain man could stand a similar trip. The capsule and oxygen supply are encased in an air-tight chamber before being fitted into the rocket. (AP Photofax)

Young Couple Suffocates In Gas Fumes

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Robert Holsomback, 25, and his wife, Inga, 23, apparently suffocated early Wednesday in their West Huntington apartment.

Their bodies were discovered shortly before 6 p. m. by Holsomback's mother, Mrs. Fred. S. Holsomback, Sr. — who had become worried when she had not heard from them during the day.

Huntington Detective Chief Herman Frazier said the couple was believed to have been dead about 14 hours when the bodies were found.

Frazier said an open gas fire was apparently turned up before the Holsombacks went to bed and the flame is believed to have used up the oxygen in the small, tightly-closed bedroom, asphyxiating the couple.

Holsomback's mother said her son and daughter-in-law had watched a late movie on television at her home Tuesday night. When she failed to reach them, she became worried Wednesday afternoon and went to their apartment.

Holsomback was the nephew of State Senator Lyle A. Smith (D-Cabell) of Huntington. His wife wife was a native of Weisbaden, Germany, and they had been married only about 18 months.

Gas Station Burglarized Three Times

ROMNEY—Hampshire County authorities are investigating a breaking and entering of a service station on West Virginia Route 28 three miles north of here, the third time in recent months the station has been victimized.

State Trooper C. E. Dorsey, who is investigating, said the entry of the Herriott business place was committed some time after 9:30 p. m. Tuesday when it was closed for the evening. It was discovered when an employe arrived to open up yesterday morning.

Taken were nine tires and a quantity of cigarettes and ice cream, with the total value of the merchandise estimated at $180. The loot taken included seven new tires and two retreads, Trooper Dorsey stated.

Entry was made by forcing the lock of the front door of the establishment Trooper Dorsey said.

BEGINNING EARLY — Santa, portrayed by A. Brooks VanHorn, visited Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, and distributed secret sister gifts at the Christmas party, held in the form of a dinner, Tuesday at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Sorority Fills Yule Stockings

Members of Cumberland Alumnae Chapter, Alpha Sigma Alpha, filled 10 stockings with toys and candy for the Associated Charities at the meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Kight, Braddock Road.

Plans were formulated for the January meeting, which is to be held in the form of a social at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, the 21st.

A jingle party followed and carols were sung with Mrs. Robert Williams at the piano. The decorations were on the holiday theme, with Christmas ceramic holders, red candles and a matching bowl of white crysanthemums and holly, centering the refreshment table. The hostess prize was won by Mrs. Beulah Montesant.

Others present were Mrs. James Grosh, Mrs. Edgar Reynolds, Mrs. Robert Platt and Mrs. Harry Cornelius.

Former Residents Are Residing In Formosa

Christmas, a time of celebrating the Christ child's birth with gifts, is also a time for renewing old friendships. Many local people received greetings from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Bright, former residents, who now are residing in Formosa.

They report they are enthralled with the island, so well named by the Portuguese, which means, beautiful island. They have been there nine months, and "find life here very pleasant," and contrary to reports, "practically as safe as in Ocean Grove, New Jersey." They live in "an American oasis in a welter of bicycles, pedicabs, water buffalos and chopsticks." And enjoy the "shark fin soup, sweet and sour pork and Peking duck."

Mr. Bright, who is associated with the J. G. White Engineering Corporation in Formosa, was acting plant engineer of the Celanese Corporation, while here. Mrs. Bright, is a past president of the Woman's Civic Club.

W.Va. Board Of Public Works Told Many People Destitute

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A picture of destitution of many West Virginians was painted verbally before the State Board of Public Works Wednesday.

Two of the state's leading union officials — United Mine Workers District Presidents Raymond Lewis of Charleston and George Titler of Beckley — spoke of critical unemployment in West Virginia's fields.

Lewis noted that in district 7 alone there had been a drop of 17,000 since 1954 in the number of coal miners employed.

"There are no other industries for these men to turn to for employment," he said. "Thousands of them have no other source of income and are wholly dependent on Department of Public Assistance commodities for their existence."

Titler said federal officials "should provide every tolerance that is possible to provide for the distribution of the food."

Titler said there had been a decline of employment of 10,000 miners in District 29 since January of this year. "There are real problems to be solved for these people," he said.

Sen. Jennings Randolph said West Virginia stands at the head of the list of states percentage wise in the number of persons receiving surplus food. He said 15.2 per cent of the state population was being provided the handouts — an estimated 300,000 per-

Tom Myles Is Leader In House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— House Speaker Harry Pauley, (D-McDowell) Wednesday named Tom Myles (D-Fayette), majority leader for the West Virginia House of Delegates for the 1959 session of the Legislature opening Jan. 14.

Myles, who served in the post under the late speaker W. E. Flannery, resigned last June during a one-day special session when Pauley defeated him for the speakership. Pauley of Iaeger, McDowell County, made it a double victory when he bested the Fayetteville attorney early this month at the Democratic caucus.

The appointment of Myles was made during a meeting involving Pauley and six other House Democrats who had sought the speakership.

Also named were W. T. Brotherton, Jr., Charleston, as Judiciary Committee Chairman and Julius Singleton, Morgantown, as Finance Committee Chairman.

Pauley chose Paul Kidd of Glenville, J. E. (Ned) Watson of Fairmont, Myles and himself to the Democratic Party's legislative steering committee. One more delegate will be named to this group which will meet with a similar body of senators here Friday to map the Democrats' 1959 legislative program.

Pauley said the seven - member committee would continue its meeting Thursday with the hope of reaching a complete organization of the House of Delegates.

ESTIMATE TOBACCO CROP

W.Va. Teacher Qualifications Are Studied

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A new study of the system for qualifying teachers and supervisors in the West Virginia public school system has been authorized by the State Board of Education.

The board directed that the study be made under the supervision of State Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough in cooperation with the Committee on Teacher Education and state colleges and the University.

Also given to Rohrbough for study was a resolution by board member Joseph Jefferds, Charleston, to set up 16 required units of study for high school students taking college preparatory courses.

The required units, each equal to one year of study, would include four in English, three in social studies including one in science, mathematics, foreign language and electives, and one in healthy and physical education.

Board members heard Glenville College president Harry B. Heflin that it would cost $320,000 to renovate the Kanawha Hall Women's Dormitory, condemned as unsafe by the state fire marshal.

They decided instead to let Heflin investigate the possibility of selling revenue bonds to finance a new dormitory at an estimated cost of $800,000. Heflin said a renovated Kanawha Hall would house 130 students, while the new building would accommodate 400.

Supt. Hugo Schunhoff of the Schools of the Deaf and Blind at Romney reported that all offices will have been removed from his administration building, also condemned by the fire marshal, by next June, with the exception of his private office and apartment.

The board decided to ask the Legislature to provide $320,000 for a new administration building at Romney.

The next board meeting was set for Jan. 21-22, when bids will be opened on a health and physical education building.

W.Va. Airman Crash Victim

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A West Virginia airman, 1st Lt. Joseph D. Berardi, of New Cumberland, was among a four-member crew apparently killed Tuesday in the crash and explosion of a low-flying B-47 jet bomber near here.

One body was recovered about an hour after the crash, but it was not immediately identified. Berardi, 25, was navigator on the six-jet medium bomber.

The bearings for propellor shafts of many ships are made of hard tropical wood.

Cutting Christmas Trees Prohibited In National Forest

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — Cutting of Christmas trees in the Monongahela National Forest is strictly prohibited, supervisor E. M. Olliver reminded Wednesday. Offenders will be dealt with sternly, Olliver said, pointing out a Hinton man was recently fined $15 for taking some trees out of the forest.

As another example of what happens, Olliver recalled that last year the late U. S. District Judge Ben Moore fined a man $1,000 for carting off 369 trees from the Slaty Fork area of the forest in Pocahontas County.

Chameleons, best known for their changes of color, have trick eyes. One eye can look up while the other pivots down. Eyelids have a peephole through which they can see in all directions.

Bids Opened On W.Va. Armories

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Two Charleston firms were apparent low bidders Wednesday on construction of National Guard armories at Dunbar and Salem.

W. A. Abbitt Co., Charleston, quoted a price of $201,000 for the Dunbar project and a bid of $219,617 by H. B. Agsten Jr., Inc., Charleston, apparently was low for the Salem work.

A State Armory Board spokesman said the bids would be rechecked, then submitted to the National Guard Bureau Friday for approval.

U. S. IMPORTS JUMP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department announced Thursday that United States imports from 20 Latin American republics in September rose to $276,200,000 from $248,400,000 in August, and compared with $261,710,000 000 in September 1957.

The GOP committee said it has received $183,638 in contributions, while the Democratic State Committee listed $15,293 in contributions.

W.Va. Board Of Public Works Told Many People Destitute

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A picture of destitution of many West Virginians was painted verbally before the State Board of Public Works Wednesday.

Two of the state's leading union officials — United Mine Workers District Presidents Raymond Lewis of Charleston and George Titler of Beckley — spoke of critical unemployment in West Virginia's fields.

Lewis noted that in district 7 alone there had been a drop of 17,000 since 1954 in the number of coal miners employed.

"There are no other industries for these men to turn to for employment," he said. "Thousands of them have no other source of income and are wholly dependent on Department of Public Assis- commodities for their existence."

Titler said federal officials "should provide every tolerance that is possible to provide for the distribution of the food."

Titler said there had been a decline of employment of 10,000 miners in District 29 since January of this year. "There are real problems to be solved for these people," he said.

Sen. Jennings Randolph said West Virginia stands at the head of the list of states percentage wise in the number of persons receiving surplus food. He said 15.2 per cent of the state population was being provided the handouts — an estimated 300,000 per-

Tom Myles Is Leader In House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— House Speaker Harry Pauley, (D-McDowell) Wednesday named Tom Myles (D-Fayette), majority leader for the West Virginia House of Delegates for the 1959 session of the Legislature opening Jan. 14.

Myles, who served in the post under the late speaker W. E. Flannery, resigned last June during a one-day special session when Pauley defeated him for the speakership. Pauley of Iaeger, McDowell County, made it a double victory when he bested the Fayetteville attorney early this month at the Democratic caucus.

The appointment of Myles was made during a meeting involving Pauley and six other House Democrats who had sought the speakership.

Also named were W. T. Brotherton, Jr., Charleston, as Judiciary Committee Chairman and Julius Singleton, Morgantown, as Finance Committee Chairman.

Pauley chose Paul Kidd of Glenville, J. E. (Ned) Watson of Fairmont, Myles and himself to the Democratic Party's legislative steering committee. One more delegate will be named to this group which will meet with a similar body of senators here Friday to map the Democrats' 1959 legislative program.

Pauley said the seven - member committee would continue its meeting Thursday with the hope of reaching a complete organization of the House of Delegates.

ESTIMATE TOBACCO CROP

W.Va. Teacher Qualifications Are Studied

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A new study of the system for qualifying teachers and supervisors in the West Virginia public school system has been authorized by the State Board of Education.

The board directed that the study be made under the supervision of State Supt. R. Virgil Rohrbough in cooperation with the Committee on Teacher Education and state colleges and the University.

Also given to Rohrbough for study was a resolution by board member Joseph Jefferds, Charleston, to set up 16 required units of study for high school students taking college preparatory courses.

The required units, each equal to one year of study, would include four in English, three in social studies including one in science, mathematics, foreign language and electives, and one in healthy and physical education.

Board members heard Glenville College president Harry B. Heflin that it would cost $320,000 to renovate the Kanawha Hall Women's Dormitory, condemned as unsafe by the state fire marshal.

They decided instead to let Heflin investigate the possibility of selling revenue bonds to finance a new dormitory at an estimated cost of $800,000. Heflin said a renovated Kanawha Hall would house 130 students, while the new building would accommodate 400.

Supt. Hugo Schunhoff of the Schools of the Deaf and Blind at Romney reported that all offices will have been removed from his administration building, also condemned by the fire marshal, by next June, with the exception of his private office and apartment.

The board decided to ask the Legislature to provide $320,000 for a new administration building at Romney.

The next board meeting was set for Jan. 21-22, when bids will be opened on a health and physical education building.

W.Va. Airman Crash Victim

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A West Virginia airman, 1st Lt. Joseph D. Berardi, of New Cumberland, was among a four-member crew apparently killed Tuesday in the crash and explosion of a low-flying B-47 jet bomber near here.

One body was recovered about an hour after the crash, but it was not immediately identified. Berardi, 25, was navigator on the six-jet medium bomber.

The bearings for propellor shafts of many ships are made of hard tropical wood.

Cutting Christmas Trees Prohibited In National Forest

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — Cutting of Christmas trees in the Monongahela National Forest is strictly prohibited, supervisor E. M. Olliver reminded Wednesday. Offenders will be dealt with sternly, Olliver said, pointing out a Hinton man was recently fined $15 for taking some trees out of the forest.

As another example of what happens, Olliver recalled that last year the late U. S. District Judge Ben Moore fined a man $1,000 for carting off 369 trees from the Slaty Fork area of the forest in Pocahontas County.

Chameleons, best known for their changes of color, have trick eyes. One eye can look up while the other pivots down. Eyelids have a peephole through which they can see in all directions.

Bids Opened On W.Va. Armories

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Two Charleston firms were apparent low bidders Wednesday on construction of National Guard armories at Dunbar and Salem.

W. A. Abbitt Co., Charleston, quoted a price of $201,000 for the Dunbar project and a bid of $219,617 by H. B. Agsten Jr., Inc., Charleston, apparently was low for the Salem work.

A State Armory Board spokesman said the bids would be rechecked, then submitted to the National Guard Bureau Friday for approval.

Proposed Vehicle Dept. Secrecy Rule Illegal, Law Official Says

BALTIMORE (AP) — A regulation aimed at shielding some Motor Vehicles Department records from public inspection would be illegal, a top Maryland law official said Wednesday.

Stedman Prescott Jr., deputy attorney general, said the regulation proposed by the department would have violated the State Code.

But this does not mean, Prescott added, that the department "must open your records for inspection by all persons who wish to satisfy a whim or fancy or who wish to look at them out of curiosity."

In a letter to Motor Vehicles Commissioner James B. Monroe, Prescott said Monroe may "pass such rules and regulations governing the inspection of such records as you find it necessary to impose for the ordinary conduct of your office but you may not forbid the inspection of such records by a person who can show an actual interest therein."

Monroe, contacted away from his office, said he did not recall details of the reason for the proposed regulation, which would have barred some records from public inspection as "confidential for the use of the department." The regulation would have included records of the driver improvement section, the department's medical advisory board, and the investigation section.

Monroe said in general the regulation was drawn after an attempt by an individual to inspect medical records which physicians had compiled on a confidential basis.

Prescott said the law requires the commissioner to keep open to the public all records and data except those "declared by law to confidential for the use of the department."

"We have been unable to find any law which declares the reports and data which the regulation proposes to restrict to be confidential. We are therefore of the opinion that (they) must be kept open for public inspection."

Order School Inquiry

EASTHAM, England (UPI)—The local education authority ordered an inquiry Thursday into complaints that it was so cold in High Colliery County School that ink froze in the inkwells.

Iraq Apologizes For Attack On U.S. Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government of Iraq has apologized for the demonstrations against Assistant Secretary of State William M. Rountree in Baghdad Monday, the State Department said Wednesday.

Simultaneously, department Press Officer Lincoln White denied that the barrage of mud clods, eggs and stones which greeted Rountree upon his arrival were responsible for the American official's departure from Baghdad a day ahead of schedule.

Imposed Stiff Fines

Defiant Alabama Vote Officials Get Hearing Jan. 5

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—U. S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson, Jr., Wednesday ordered a hearing Jan. 5 to decide whether six rebellious Alabama officials must produce registration records for the Civil Rights Commission.

Johnson's ruling automatically postponed a hearing here Friday set by the commission to collect testimony and registration records from officials in Macon, Barbour and Bullock counties.

The commission broke off its hearings here abruptly Dec. 9 when several registrars refused to be sworn in as witnesses and the federal agency failed to collect the records for its investigation of alleged Negro vote discrimination in central Alabama.

Johnson called the hearing after the defiant officials filed motions Tuesday to quash subpoenas ordering them to turn over the records.

The federal judge said the motions were "frivolous and without merit" in some instances, but that "the court is of the opinion that certain grounds set up in support thereof relate to substantial legal questions and for that reason the court feels opportunity should be granted all parties concerned to be heard in open court."

The arguments were filed by Gov.-elect John Patterson, state attorney - general and a staunch segregationist.

The subpoenas ordered circuit Judge George Wallace of Clayton, and Macon Registrars E. P. Livingston and Grady Rogers. Barbour County Registrars J. W. Spencer and W. A. Stokes Sr., and Bullock Registrar M. T. Evans to appear before the commission Friday. But Johnson's ordey today changed the subpoena date to Jan. 9.

Wallace, a staunch segregationist and runner-up gubernatorial candidate in the Democratic spring primaries, refused to appear before the commission's hearing Dec. 8-9.

In answering the district court subpoena Tuesday, Wallace contended the commission, as an executive tribunal, does not have the authority to question his actions as a member of the state judiciary under the theory of separation of governmental powers.

The circuit judge also contended he does not have to surrender the registration records of Barbour and Bullock counties because he had ordered them impounded Oct. 29 on a "purely local matter" when he received complaints of election fraud in the spring primaries.

Proposed Vehicle Dept. Secrecy Rule Illegal, Law Official Says

BALTIMORE (AP) — A regulation aimed at shielding some Motor Vehicles Department records from public inspection would be illegal, a top Maryland law official said Wednesday.

Stedman Prescott Jr., deputy attorney general, said the regulation proposed by the department would have violated the State Code.

But this does not mean, Prescott added, that the department "must open your records for inspection by all persons who wish to satisfy a whim or fancy or who wish to look at them out of curiosity."

In a letter to Motor Vehicles Commissioner James B. Monroe, Prescott said Monroe may "pass such rules and regulations governing the inspection of such records as you find it necessary to impose for the ordinary conduct of your office but you may not forbid the inspection of such records by a person who can show an actual interest therein."

The regulation would have included records of the driver improvement section, the department's medical advisory board, and the investigation section.

Monroe said in general the regulation was drawn after an attempt by an individual to inspect medical records which physicians had compiled on a confidential basis.

Prescott said the law requires the commissioner to keep open to the public all records and data except those "declared by law to confidential for the use of the department."

"We have been unable to find any law which declares the reports and data which the regulation proposes to restrict to be confidential. We are therefore of the opinion that (they) must be kept open for public inspection."

Behind The News In Business

by Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — What the income taxpayer does in December can save him money in April, when the federal return covering this year's earnings must be filed. The precautionary steps must be taken before the end of the month. After Dec. 31, it will be too late.

The dollars so saved are the best kind—they are tax free dollars. They are as good as a cash gift from a rich uncle—the uncle in the case being Uncle Sam.

Time is running out. Where securities transactions are involved, investors have only until Dec. 23 for establishing gains. For establishing losses, there is more time—right up to the last minute of trading on Dec. 31.

In general, the major "do's and don'ts" in seeking to hold down taxes are:

1.—Take stock losses. Where there are no capital gains, up to $1,000 is deductible against regular income.

2.—Accelerate or delay regular deductions so as to itemize deductions in one year and take the standard deduction the next.

3.—Make charitable gifts in stock which has gone up in value, thus saving the capital gains tax and also getting a bigger deduction.

4.—Avoid bunching income in any one year, except where the taxpayer is retiring next year. This will level out the tax and save money.

5.—Persons retiring next year should accelerate deductions this year when income is larger and their tax bracket is higher. Such persons should delay income and profit where possible so that these will be taxed in next year's lower bracket.

6.—Don't wait to marry next year. Do it this year and get the benefit of joint filing.

7.—Don't miss the $600 exemption for employed dependent son or daughter by failing to provide half their living costs.

8.—Check the living costs of parent receiving help and increase support payments where this will permit claiming the $600 exemption.

9.—Don't miss out on the annual tax free gift. Up to $3,000 can be given tax free to any person and $6,000 with the consent of spouse.

10.—Medical and drug bills can cut taxes. This may mean getting new eye glasses this year instead of waiting until after Jan. 1, or having that postponed operation this year.

Before deciding whether to postpone or accelerate income and/or deductions the taxpayers will have to estimate this year's and next's gross income and take off estimated exemptions, deductions and credits for each year.

The objective is to prevent getting into a higher tax bracket in either year. This may mean delaying until next year paying or collecting certain bills. The same as to contributions.

Money can be saved by finding out which is arvantageous before Dec. 31. Next April will be too late.

302 Priests Invested In Chain-Letter Fund

ROME (AP)—An Italian parliamentary commission reported Wednesday night a former bank clerk's chain-letter fund enticed 302 priests into investing with him despite a Vatican warning against it.

The priests numbered almost three out of five persons who responded to the lure of Gian Battista Giuffre for investments with a promise of quick 40 to 100 per cent interest payments, the report said.

The commission said Giuffre used funds collected from subsequent depositors to pay off earlier debtors and still owes investors more than five million dollars after paying out $2,640,000 interest.

Giuffre, 56, started as a bank clerk. For the last eight years he has been financing construction in northern Italy, much of it church property. He had no bank and names of persons dealing with him were not known at first. His fund was commonly referred to in Italy as "bankers Anonymous."

The report said incomplete data showed Giuffre put up about 200 buildings—many church structures—valued at $4,400,000.

Between 1939 and 1952 air passenger mileage increased about 20 times in the United States and Switzerland, almost 22 times in the United Kingdom and more than 40 times in Brazil.

In recent years more than 70 per cent of all the expenditures for private productive facilities in the U. S. have gone for equipment.

Army To Close Three Forts By Next Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army announced Wednesday it will close Ft. Polk, La., Ft. Chaffee, Ark., and Ft. Miles, Del.

The three installations will be inactivated by next summer or as soon as present activities can be transferred to other Army posts.

The Army said it would save $9,290,000 a year after the first year of inactivation by closing the forts.

Ft. Polk comprises the huge Louisiana maneuver area. The Army said that keeping the area was desirable but not feasible with present men and money allowances available to it.

The Army now has an armored combat command at Ft. Polk and will move it to another facility not yet determined. Total troop strength at Polk is 8,700 and civilian employes number more than 14,000.

The Army said it would do all it could to help civilians thrown out of work find new jobs.

Ft. Chaffee is a training center. Its authorized strength is 4,111 military men and 1,197 civilians. In addition it has recently carried an average monthly trainee complement of 10,000.

Ft. Miles is a firing range for anti-aircraft artillery of the type now being dropped from the Army. Miles will be used for summer reserve training, the Army said. It presently has six officers, 45 enlisted men and 63 civilians.

After the forts have been inactivated, estimated savings annually will be five million dollars at Ft. Polk, four million at Ft. Chaffee and $290,000 at Ft. Miles.

New Alaska Senators Will Draw Lots To See How Long They Will Have Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Alaska officially becomes a state, its new senators will draw lots to see how long they will have their jobs, a custom that is almost as old as the country.

We've been in business so long now that we take things for granted.

We know that senators are elected for six years, that a third of them are up for re-election every two years—and never wonder how everything became so tidy.

Yet the process that will be followed when Ernest Gruening and E. L. Bartlett become senators has remained unchanged from the original plans drawn up by the Founding Fathers.

"Immediately after they (the senators) shall be assembled in consequence of the first election," the Constitution says, "they shall be divided equally as may be into three classes.

"The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year."

All right. But how does one go about dividing senators into three classes?

The first Senate took its time but came up with the answer.

Officially that first Congress convened on March 4, 1789, but a quorum wasn't present for more than a month. Not until May 15 did any senator know whether he would serve two, four or six years.

To be fair, the senators probably didn't care much. No one knew whether the new government could survive, and certainly no senator was greedy about staying at the public trough. The pay was $6 a day, when present.

The classification was done by lot. The Senate resolved "that three papers of an equal size, numbered 1, 2 and 3, be, by the secretary, rolled up and put into a box."

The numbers were drawn. Those who plucked out Nos. 1 got the shortest terms — and thus the length of the terms were set, just as they will be by Gruening and Bartlett. Either man could draw two, four or six years.

Although we talk a lot now about the original 13 states, only 20 senators, representing 10 states, were there for the first division. Seven got two years, seven got four years and six drew six years.

New York still hadn't held its elections, and North Carolina and Rhode Island were slow in ratifying the Constitution.

When New York came in, the six-year senatorial class was the smallest, so the first drawing was for that. The same system has been used ever since.

The Senate now has 96 members, with an even division, a graduating class of 32 every two years. So the Alaskans can draw 1, 2, 3 as they did in the beginning —with one annoying exception.

Suppose the certified election returns are sent in from Alaska, and suppose President Eisenhower immediately declares Alaska to be the 49th state. Instantly Bartlett and Gruening become senators—in the old Congress which is due to die quietly on Jan. 3.

That would add complications, and so Alaskans are hoping that Eisenhower is low on the draw with his fountain pen.

Mao Expected To Remain Key Figure In China

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The key fact in the position of Mao Tze-tung is that although he is going to step down as head of the government he will remain the head of the Communist party.

Mao has held two official positions. He has been chairman of the government—the job he is resigning. He is also chairman of the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party. This position he retains.

It seems quite possible that a main reason for Mao's quitting as president is to disassociate Mao's personal prestige and reputation in some degree from acts of the Chinese Communist government.

The most important thing going on in Communist China today is the nationwide organization of peoples' communes. These radical Communist semimilitary rural districts each embraces some tens of thousands of people and runs all economic, cultural, political and military activity within their bounds. The members of the communes own no personal property or land and must work for the commune as directed by its chiefs who have quasimilitary authority over them.

The drive to organize these communes constitutes a drastic social revolution. It is much more far-reaching than the drive to organize collective farms in Russia in the 1928-32 period.

Such a revolution cannot be carried out without resistance. It disturbs traditional patterns of social relationships in rural China. It strikes at the Chinese family, the fundamental institution of the nation.

In order to carry through the drive for organization of communes the Chinese Communist government must suppress discontent on a nationwide scale. This purge, in terms of the numbers of people and probably in the brutality involved, may make Joseph Stalin's purges look mild.

The measures which the government is going to have to take are not the kind which are likely to enhance any political leader's popularity.

It is of importance to the Chinese Communist party to keep as unsullied as possible the image of Mao Tze-tung as father to the masses.

Therefore it is timely for Mao Tze-tung to leave the post of chairman of the government. But he will remain, it seems certain, the key figure in Red China.

Mayor Keech will report on the proposed structure at the next meeting of the Municipal Airport Commission.

When Madame Marie Curie discovered radium she was presented with a gram of radium purchased by American women for a hundred thousand dollars. In turn, she contributed the precious gram to scientists for further medical work.

Post Office Expects Record Despite Early Lag Of Mail

Another 100,000 day in cancellations was reported for Wednesday at the Post Office, and Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said hopes are still held that the total handle of Christmas mail will exceed last year's record.

There were 139,200 cancellations recorded Wednesday, with nearly 26,000 of the total being processed on the second cancellation machine that was placed in operation last week for the first time in the history of the postal facility.

The cancellation total for the Christmas mail period which started December 8 figures out at 651,200 through Wednesday. Last year's total for the mailing period which began December 9 was 712,400, some 61,000 more than this year's total. The handle for December 17 was 139,200 Wednesday and 145,300, in 1957.

Postmaster Conlon said there is a probability that the season's record, set last year with 1,225,700 cancellations, will be broken if the daily total continues at the pace which began Monday. There have been three successive days this week in which the total has been in excess of 100,000, while only four such days were recorded last year.

In reviewing the relatively slow business so far this mailing season, the postmaster said the trend is the same throughout the district. Postal officials have expressed concern that delivery of mail will be held up until Christmas Day unless residents get their letters and cards off early.

Employes at the local facilities have been alerted to the fact that a large volume of mail is expected to arrive here for delivery within the next few days, and this along with the expected large amount of local cancellations is expected to tax the employes and facilities to the utmost.

Only improvements which have been added to service here have permitted postal employes to keep abreast of the large volume of mail, Conlon said.

He explained that the extra cancellation machine and conveyor system have kept the mail from 'backing up', while the truck delivery of mail from and to Baltimore has been so timed that it can be worked before the daily peak is reached at the Post Office.

Dr. Barnes is working in the field of hardening of the arteries and his studies are intended to produce more scientific information about the causes and possible prevention, cure or arresting of this malady.

This is one of several grants for research into various forms of heart disease financed in Maryland as well as in other medical and research centers. These grants, plus Maryland Heart Association supported studies bring heart research investment by the Heart Association in Maryland to $115,000 this year. The Allegany-Garrett Heart Association is a chapter affiliate of the Maryland Heart Association and a member of the American Heart Association. A portion of all funds donated to the local chapter is allocated to research to help find cures and preventions of America's No. 1 killer, heart disease.

Army To Close Three Forts By Next Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army announced Wednesday it will close Ft. Polk, La., Ft. Chaffee, Ark., and Ft. Miles, Del.

The three installations will be inactivated by next summer or as soon as present activities can be transferred to other Army posts.

The Army said it would save $9,290,000 a year after the first year of inactivation by closing the forts.

Ft. Polk comprises the huge Louisiana maneuver area. The Army said that keeping the area was desirable but not feasible with present men and money allowances available to it.

The Army now has an armored combat command at Ft. Polk and will move it to another facility not yet determined. Total troop strength at Polk is 8,700 and civilian employes number more than 14,000.

The Army said it would do all it could to help civilians thrown out of work find new jobs.

Ft. Chaffee is a training center. Its authorized strength is 4,111 military men and 1,197 civilians. In addition it has recently carried an average monthly trainee complement of 10,000.

Ft. Miles is a firing range for anti-aircraft artillery of the type now being dropped from the Army. Miles will be used for summer reserve training, the Army said. It presently has six officers, 45 enlisted men and 63 civilians.

After the forts have been inactivated, estimated savings annually will be five million dollars at Ft. Polk, four million at Ft. Chaffee and $290,000 at Ft. Miles.

New Alaska Senators Will Draw Lots To See How Long They Will Have Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Alaska officially becomes a state, its new senators will draw lots to see how long they will have their jobs, a custom that is almost as old as the country.

We've been in business so long now that we take things for granted.

We know that senators are elected for six years, that a third of them are up for re-election every two years—and never wonder how everything became so tidy.

Yet the process that will be followed when Ernest Gruening and E. L. Bartlett become senators has remained unchanged from the original plans drawn up by the Founding Fathers.

"Immediately after they (the senators) shall be assembled in consequence of the first election," the Constitution says, "they shall be divided equally as may be into three classes.

"The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year."

All right. But how does one go about dividing senators into three classes?

The first Senate took its time but came up with the answer.

Officially that first Congress convened on March 4, 1789, but a quorum wasn't present for more than a month. Not until May 15 did any senator know whether he would serve two, four or six years.

To be fair, the senators probably didn't care much. No one knew whether the new government could survive, and certainly no senator was greedy about staying at the public trough. The pay was $6 a day, when present.

The classification was done by lot. The Senate resolved "that three papers of an equal size, numbered 1, 2 and 3, be, by the secretary, rolled up and put into a box."

The numbers were drawn. Those who plucked out No. 1 got the shortest terms — and thus the length of the terms were set, just as they will be by Gruening and Bartlett. Either man could draw two, four or six years.

Although we talk a lot now about the original 13 states, only 20 senators, representing 10 states, were there for the first division. Seven got two years, seven got four years and six drew six years.

New York still hadn't held its elections, and North Carolina and Rhode Island were slow in ratifying the Constitution.

When New York came in, the six-year senatorial class was the smallest, so the first drawing was for that. The same system has been used ever since.

The Senate now has 96 members, with an even division, a graduating class of 32 every two years. So the Alaskans can draw 1, 2, 3 as they did in the beginning —with one annoying exception.

Suppose the certified election returns are sent in from Alaska, and suppose President Eisenhower immediately declares Alaska to be the 49th state. Instantly Bartlett and Gruening become senators—in the old Congress which is due to die quietly on Jan. 3.

That would add complications, and so Alaskans are hoping that Eisenhower is low on the draw with his fountain pen.

As an example of hard times in the coal fields, Randolph said that at Summerlee, Fayette County, of 50 children attending one school, the father of only one had a regular job. Sen-elect Robert C. Byrd said "the situation as it is now in West Virginia is without equal in the past quarter of century of state history."

Mao Expected To Remain Key Figure In China

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The key fact in the position of Mao Tze-tung is that although he is going to step down as head of the government he will remain the head of the Communist party.

Mao has held two official positions. He has been chairman of the government—the job he is resigning. He is also chairman of the Central Committee of the Chinese Communist party. This position he retains.

It seems quite possible that a main reason for Mao's quitting as president is to disassociate Mao's personal prestige and reputation in some degree from acts of the Chinese Communist government.

The most important thing going on in Communist China today is the nationwide organization of peoples' communes. These radical Communist semimilitary rural districts each embraces some tens of thousands of people and runs all economic, cultural, political and military activity within their bounds. The members of the communes own no personal property or land and must work for the commune as directed by its chiefs who have quasimilitary authority over them.

The drive to organize these communes constitutes a drastic social revolution. It is much more far-reaching than the drive to organize collective farms in Russia in the 1928-32 period.

Such a revolution cannot be carried out without resistance. It disturbs traditional patterns of social relationships in rural China. It strikes at the Chinese family, the fundamental institution of the nation.

In order to carry through the drive for organization of communes the Chinese Communist government must suppress discontent on a nationwide scale. This purge, in terms of the numbers of people and probably in the brutality involved, may make Joseph Stalin's purges look mild.

The measures which the government is going to have to take are not the kind which are likely to enhance any political leader's popularity.

It is of importance to the Chinese Communist party to keep as unsullied as possible the image of Mao Tze-tung as father to the masses.

Therefore it is timely for Mao Tze-tung to leave the post of chairman of the government. But he will remain, it seems certain, the key figure in Red China.

Mayor Inspects Airport Buildings

Mayor J. Edwin Keech inspected the municipal airport yesterday to go over plans for a new shop building which will replace one destroyed by fire several months ago. He was accompanied by Charles R. Scarlett, city draftsman.

Mayor Keech will report on the proposed structure at the next meeting of the Municipal Airport Commission.

Entr'acte is the French word meaning between acts of a show, otherwise "intermission." But, originally it was called "act-tune," meaning audiences could smoke or carry on conversations while an orchestra played soft music.

West Virginia Had More Than Share Of Unusual News Stories During Past Year

By FRED FERRIS
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A lot of people get saddled with "turkeys" now and again — not the type you eat, but the type you can't get rid of. Say, an alligator.

That was the predicament of used car salesman Jack Jarvis of Huntington in one of 1958's more unusual stories in West Virginia. Business being a bit slow, Jack wasn't one to let a likely customer get away.

So this one day, a young man from Ohio was eyeing a car and Jarvis had him pretty well sold on a trade-in. But it wound up with Jarvis getting sold. He accepted an alligator, formerly used in a circus act, as a $250 trade-in.

Pretty soon, Jack was being eaten out of house and home by the big-appetited animal. And you just can't hardly find a buyer for an alligator any more.

Speaking of appetites, a young Mingo County man also had a big one. But meat and potatoes didn't faze him much. He liked nails.

Nobody paid much attention until he got a stomach ache. Even doctors discounted his announcement that he ate nails — until X-rays showed his stomach full of them. During an operation, two and a half pounds of nails and tacks — 207 in all were removed from his stomach. And he survived without a puncture.

Cons Finance Operation

Another operation this year was made possible by inmates at the West Virginia Penitentiary. The prisoners gave unselfishly to a fund to finance delicate heart surgery for a two-year-old girl from Lumberport.

Little Marsha Bane's parents are almost destitute, but with the aid of funds provided by convicts, and women's groups, a heart operation was successfully performed on her at Cleveland Clinic. She would have died otherwise.

The drive for funds for Marsha's operation was publicized among prisoners in the penitentiary newspaper. A Penscope staff member of earlier in the year was no longer around, though.

John McGee, the sports editor, was covering a game by the prison basketball team. When the game was over, they looked around — and the sports editor was gone. He had fled the coop during the excitement. He was found a few days later in Pittsburgh.

At Huntington, they were preparing to release a prisoner from jail. The name of the prisoner was called and up stepped a burly character, who signed for $82 in cash and other personal effects, then walked happily from jail.

Soon afterward a policeman walking through the jail noticed the man who was to be released was still in a cell. It turned out the big man had forcibly taken the first man's place.

Then there was the veteran moonshiner from Kanawha County who wasn't particularly disturbed when "revenuers" caught him and destroyed his still. He explained he had been at the game 41 years and often wondered how he had got away with it so long. He was 72.

Love Is Blind

A young Bluefield couple showed that if you're in love it doesn't make much difference where you get married. Everett Farmer and Charlotte Richardson took their vows in the super market where he was employed, before an altar of food boxes draped with sheets.

And the canines proved what humans know—that it sometimes takes a female to move a stubborn male. A big male collie got on some ice in the Kanawha River at Charleston in last February's freeze. He ignored urgings of two men to come off the ice but he promptly walked a plank to safety when a female dog was brought to the river bank and gave him a come-hither bark.

At Martinsburg, James Conklyn found out what it's like to hunt for a needle in a haystack. He had dropped his wallet while baling some hay over a year ago. He knew it had to be in one of the 792 bales of hay he put up for the winter. He looked in each as it was opened for live stock this year — and finally in the 784th he found it.

The hula hoop craze caused all sorts of problems. There was the woman who fell and suffered a broken arm while trying her stuff. And teachers were tearing their hair in some schools before students were given orders to leave the hoops at home. They were falling all over stairs, jostling classmates and generally creating havoc with the gyrations.

And then there's the eye doctor at Summersville who's Santa Claus to the post office people there even if not to the children. A few years ago Dr. James Robinson participated in a civic Christmas program and took the job of answering kiddes' letters to Santa. This year, over five years later, letters addressed to Santa Claus were still being delivered to him.

Patrolman Hands Out Yule Tickets

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — South Charleston patrolman Ross Dent gave several motorists their Christmas presents in advance Tuesday.

Dent ran out of parking tickets and instead of returning to headquarters for a new supply, he purchesd several Christmas cards from a nearby store.

When the overtime parkers returned to their cars they found this note on the windshield:

"Please put your money in the meters. Thank you, A. R. Dent."

A hen that lays 200 eggs requires about three pounds of oyster shells per year.

A short business session was held and a jingle party followed. Refreshments were served and gifts exchanged. Secret sisters were revealed. Secret sisters for the coming year were concealed in a small box of candy which was given to each member.

Cherry Run Man Killed In Crash

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP — Robert William Crouse, 23, of Cherry Run, Morgan County, was killed Thursday when his car ran off W. Va. 9 and hit a tree.

Crouse, an army veteran who recently completed a tour of duty in Germany, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Crouse of Cherry Run. He was a 1953 graduate of Berkeley Springs High School.

State Police said Crouse was driving alone when he apparently lost control of the car about eight miles west of Martinsburg.

Important Supreme Court Rulings Expected In Libel Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has tabbed for argument two cases bearing on the immunity of government officials and military officers from libel suits for statements concerned with matters under their control.

The high court's rulings may have far-reaching import as to the freedom of officials to give their views to newspaper reporters and of military officers to make reports to Congress.

In one case, which the court announced Tuesday it has decided to review, the Justice Department is appealing on behalf of William G. Barr, who was acting director of the Office of Rent Stabilization in 1953.

Barr was sued by two former employes for statements made in a press release which said the workers would be fired. A jury in U.S. District Court here awarded Mrs. Linda A. Matteo $6,500 and John J. Madigan $2,000.

The U.S. Court of Appeals here affirmed the award. It ruled Barr did not have an absolute privilege because he went outside the line of duty in using the press release. However, the Supreme Court directed the Court of Appeals to consider whether Barr had a qualified privilege.

Last June the Court of Appeals ruled Barr had a qualified privilege, but it said a jury in a new trial should decide whether the privilege was lost by malice or by lack of reasonable grounds for believing the contest of the press release was true.

In layman's language, absolute privilege leaves no ground for argument over the right to make a statement. In qualified privilege, the right may be subject to questions of motives and circumstances.

The second case involves the question whether military officers have absolute immunity from libel suits in forwarding official reports to members of Congress.

The Justice Department appealed to the court in the case on behalf of Adm. W. E. Howard Jr., commander of the Boston naval shipyard. The department asked reversal of a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston that Howard had only a qualified privilege in sending a report to congressmen.

REUNITED AFTER 13 YEARS — Helena Piasecki (right), a Bedford, Ohio, school teacher, embraces her sister, Wladislawa Karolewska, on latter's arrival yesterday at Idlewild Airport, New York, from Warsaw, Poland, with group of 27 Polish women victims of German Nazis. They had not seen each other in 13 years. Miss Karolewska, 49, of Lublin, was among victims of medical experiments at Ravensbreuck concentration camp in 1942-44. The women arrived in U.S. for a year's free medical care for pains suffered as "human guinea pigs." Helena and Wladislawa will spend Christmas at home of Miss Caroline Ferriday, Bethlehem, Conn., who deals with displaced persons' problems. (AP Photofax)

Fairless Says U.S. Growth Under Free System Challenge To Reds

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the steel industry's elder statemen called on the government Wednesday to point out to the peoples of Asia and Africa that under a free system the U.S. had a 40-year growth record that matches anything the Communists have produced.

"We were once a nation of farmers but in the years from 1870 to 1910 we moved to the top among industrial nations of the world," said Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute and former chairman of U.S. Steel Corp.

Furthermore, he added in a talk prepared for delivery before the New York Chapter of the American Steel Warehouse Assn., "our growth, under freedom, in the past 40 years is certainly not to be sneezed at, either."

Fairless said in the future production race with Russia, American business, instead of constantly being forced to grant uneconomical wage increases, should be allowed to pass along some of the advances of productivity to consumers in the form of lower prices or more quality for the same price.

Fairless said an important consideration of American policy with respect to the poorer lands of the world should be the type of economic growth they need.

West Virginia Had More Than Share Of Unusual News Stories During Past Year

By FRED FERRIS
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A lot of people get saddled with "turkeys" now and again — not the type you eat, but the type you can't get rid of. Say, an alligator.

That was the predicament of used car salesman Jack Jarvis of Huntington in one of 1958's more unusual stories in West Virginia. Business being a bit slow, Jack wasn't one to let a likely customer get away.

So this one day, a young man from Ohio was eyeing a car and Jarvis had him pretty well sold on a trade-in. But it wound up with Jarvis getting sold. He accepted an alligator, formerly used in a circus act, as a $250 trade-in.

Pretty soon, Jack was being eaten out of house and home by the big-appetited animal. And you just can't hardly find a buyer for an alligator any more.

Speaking of appetites, a young Mingo County man also had a big one. But meat and potatoes didn't faze him much. He liked nails.

Nobody paid much attention until he got a stomach ache. Even doctors discounted his announcement that he ate nails — until X-rays showed his stomach full of them. During an operation, two and a half pounds of nails and tacks — 207 in all were removed from his stomach. And he survived without a puncture.

Cons Finance Operation

Another operation this year was made possible by inmates at the West Virginia Penitentiary. The prisoners gave unselfishly to a fund to finance delicate heart surgery for a two-year-old girl from Lumberport.

Little Marsha Bane's parents are almost destitute, but with the aid of funds provided by convicts, and women's groups, a heart operation was successfully performed on her at Cleveland Clinic. She would have died otherwise.

The drive for funds for Marsha's operation was publicized among prisoners in the penitentiary newspaper. A Penscope staff member of earlier in the year was no longer around, though.

John McGee, the sports editor, was covering a game by the prison basketball team. When the game was over, they looked around — and the sports editor was gone. He had fled the coop during the excitement. He was found a few days later in Pittsburgh.

At Huntington, they were preparing to release a prisoner from jail. The name of the prisoner was called and up stepped a burly character, who signed for $82 in cash and other personal effects, then walked happily from jail.

Soon afterward a policeman walking through the jail noticed the man who was to be released was still in a cell. It turned out the big man had forcibly taken the first man's place.

Then there was the veteran moonshiner from Kanawha County who wasn't particularly disturbed when "revenuers" caught him and destroyed his still. He explained he had been at the game 41 years and often wondered how he had got away with it so long. He was 72.

Love Is Blind

A young Bluefield couple showed that if you're in love it doesn't make much difference where you get married. Everett Farmer and Charlotte Richardson took their vows in the super market where he was employed, before an altar of food boxes draped with sheets.

And the canines proved what humans know—that it sometimes takes a female to move a stubborn male. A big male collie got on some ice in the Kanawha River at Charleston in last February's freeze. He ignored urgings of two men to come off the ice but he promptly walked a plank to safety when a female dog was brought to the river bank and gave him a come-hither bark.

At Martinsburg, James Conklyn found out what it's like to hunt for a needle in a haystack. He had dropped his wallet while baling some hay over a year ago. He knew it had to be in one of the 792 bales of hay he put up for the winter. He looked in each as it was opened for live stock this year — and finally in the 784th he found it.

The hula hoop craze caused all sorts of problems. There was the woman who fell and suffered a broken arm while trying her stuff. And teachers were tearing their hair in some schools before students were given orders to leave the hoops at home. They were falling all over, stairs, jostling classmates and generally creating havoc with the gyrations.

And then there's the eye doctor at Summersville who's Santa Claus to the post office people there even if not to the children. A few years ago Dr. James Robinson participated in a civic Christmas program and took the job of answering kiddes' letters to Santa. This year, over five years later, letters addressed to Santa Claus were still being delivered to him.

Patrolman Hands Out Yule Tickets

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — South Charleston patrolman Ross Dent gave several motorists their Christmas presents in advance Tuesday.

Dent ran out of parking tickets and instead of returning to headquarters for a new supply, he purchesd several Christmas cards from a nearby store.

When the overtime parkers returned to their cars they found this note on the windshield:

"Please put your money in the meters. Thank you, A. R. Dent."

West Virginia University Extension Service Offers Advice On Buying And Erecting Christmas Trees

By FRED FERRIS
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—At this time of year, Christmas trees seem to sprout out of nowhere on vacant lots, at gas stations, in front of stores — in all sorts of places where the public passes.

For several days now in cities and towns throughout West Virginia, trees have been on sale, and a lot of them don't look like they would sparkle even without a truck-load of decorations.

Along this line, the West Virginia University extension service has some timely recommendations about selection and treatment of your Christmas trees along with other Christmas wants.

In the first place, check and make sure the tree you select has not been cut some time ago and shipped into the state. The newly-cut kind obviously is the best, and you're not going to pay any more in the long run for a good one, anyway.

Another thing to check is the color of the tree. Make sure it's green, not yellow. And figure out beforehand how much space you have for it in the room where it is to stand. Best of the long-needled variety — which take more space — are Scotch and red pine. Of the short-needled trees, firs are the best.

Now, let's say you have your tree. But if you're not ready to take it inside, keep the butt end in water. When you're ready to decorate, take it out of water, and cut off the lower 3 to 4 inches of the butt.

In mounting the tree, make sure again the butt end is in water. This will keep the tree fresher and reduce shedding.

Another important thing that should be done before bringing the tree into the house is to spray it with fire resistant solution. A simple compound can be made by mixing 9 parts of so-called water glass — such as used to waterproof eggs — and one part of water with a teaspoon of liquid soap.

The trouble is, once you get a fine tree and decorate it beautifully, the kids can't enjoy it as they would like. They are warned to stay at a distance from it.

Speaking of the kids — the small ones, especially — some good advice is provided for parents to prevent mutually weary episodes for themselves and the children.

It's recommended that the youngsters not be dragged along on extended shopping tours. It's okeh for an hour or so, but a visit to one toy store is enough for one day. Too much to look at — and too many Santas — confuse the little ones.

Important Supreme Court Rulings Expected In Libel Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has tabbed for argument two cases bearing on the immunity of government officials and military officers from libel suits for statements concerned with matters under their control.

The high court's rulings may have far-reaching import as to the freedom of officials to give their views to newspaper reporters and of military officers to make reports to Congress.

In one case, which the court announced Tuesday it has decided to review, the Justice Department is appealing on behalf of William G. Barr, who was acting director of the Office of Rent Stabilization in 1953.

Barr was sued by two former employes for statements made in a press release which said the workers would be fired. A jury in U.S. District Court here awarded Mrs. Linda A. Matteo $6,500 and John J. Madigan $2,000.

The U.S. Court of Appeals here affirmed the award. It ruled Barr did not have an absolute privilege because he went outside the line of duty in using the press release. However, the Supreme Court directed the Court of Appeals to consider whether Barr had a qualified privilege.

Last June the Court of Appeals ruled Barr had a qualified privilege, but it said a jury in a new trial should decide whether the privilege was lost by malice or by lack of reasonable grounds for believing the contest of the press release was true.

In layman's language, absolute privilege leaves no ground for argument over the right to make a statement. In qualified privilege, the right may be subject to questions of motives and circumstances.

The second case involves the question whether military officers have absolute immunity from libel suits in forwarding official reports to members of Congress.

The Justice Department appealed to the court in the case on behalf of Adm. W. E. Howard Jr., commander of the Boston naval shipyard. The department asked reversal of a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston that Howard had only a qualified privilege in sending a report to congressmen.

REUNITED AFTER 13 YEARS — Helena Piasecki (right), a Bedford, Ohio, school teacher, embraces her sister, Wladislawa Karolewska, on latter's arrival yesterday at Idlewild Airport, New York, from Warsaw, Poland, with group of 27 Polish women victims of German Nazis. They had not seen each other in 13 years. Miss Karolewska, 49, of Lublin, was among victims of medical experiments at Ravensbreuck concentration camp in 1942-44. The women arrived in U.S. for a year's free medical care for pains suffered as "human guinea pigs." Helena and Wladislawa will spend Christmas at home of Miss Caroline Ferriday, Bethlehem, Conn., who deals with displaced persons' problems. (AP Photofax)

Fairless Says U.S. Growth Under Free System Challenge To Reds

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the steel industry's elder statemen called on the government Wednesday to point out to the peoples of Asia and Africa that under a free system the U.S. had a 40-year growth record that matches anything the Communists have produced.

"We were once a nation of farmers but in the years from 1870 to 1910 we moved to the top among industrial nations of the world," said Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute and former chairman of U.S. Steel Corp.

Furthermore, he added in a talk prepared for delivery before the New York Chapter of the American Steel Warehouse Assn., "our growth, under freedom, in the past 40 years is certainly not to be sneezed at, either."

Fairless said in the future production race with Russia, American business, instead of constantly being forced to grant uneconomical wage increases, should be allowed to pass along some of the advances of productivity to consumers in the form of lower prices or more quality for the same price.

Fairless said an important consideration of American policy with respect to the poorer lands of the world should be the type of economic growth they need.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains finally settled in steady and some firm tones at the close Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to up ⅝ cent; corn (old) off ⅛ to up ⅛ cent; (new) off 1⅜ to up ¼ cent; oats up ½ to off ½ cent; rye up 4⅝ to off ½ cent; soybeans off ¼ to up ¼ cents.

It was a day of liquidation in December contracts as the position finished trading on the board.

Short covering helped wheat. It gave some support to December. Commission houses were on both sides of the contract. Mills bought March from cash brokers. May wheat also advanced.

Corn featured a nervous session. Orders to buy deferred contracts increased. Commercial houses bought March. Cash interests mainly were on the selling side.

Good buying of December oats against sales of May highlighted the grain. Elevator houses bought.

A mixed commission house trade weakened soybeans. Elevator houses did some buying in January beans.

AMAZED BY HORSE

DUNMOW, England (UPI) — Officials were amazed Thursday by the homing instinct of Charlie the homesick horse. The animal took off for home in Wales last Friday from the farm of a new owner, Mrs. Anne Tomkin. Officials plotting Charlie's course said the horse had covered more than 200 miles on a straight line toward Wales, crossing five highways, several towns and two main railway lines, and swimming eight rivers.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU, SON — It will be a Merry Christmas to this boy when he finds a brand new U.S. Savings Bond, wrapped in a free Treasury gift jacket, on his Christmas tree. That Bond is a present for his future, a symbol of security and for the great things he plans on doing in later years. Thousands of children, like him, will receive Bonds for Christmas this year. It's the present that grows.

West Virginia University Extension Service Offers Advice On Buying And Erecting Christmas Trees

By FRED FERRIS
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—At this time of year, Christmas trees seem to sprout out of nowhere on vacant lots, at gas stations, in front of stores — in all sorts of places where the public passes.

For several days now in cities and towns throughout West Virginia, trees have been on sale, and a lot of them don't look like they would sparkle even without a truck-load of decorations.

Along this line, the West Virginia University extension service has some timely recommendations about selection and treatment of your Christmas trees along with other Christmas wants.

In the first place, check and make sure the tree you select has not been cut some time ago and shipped into the state. The newly-cut kind obviously is the best, and you're not going to pay any more in the long run for a good one, anyway.

Another thing to check is the color of the tree. Make sure it's green, not yellow. And figure out beforehand how much space you have for it in the room where it is to stand. Best of the long-needled variety — which take more space — are Scotch and red pine. Of the short-needled trees, firs are the best.

Now, let's say you have your tree. But if you're not ready to take it inside, keep the butt end in water. When you're ready to decorate, take it out of water, and cut off the lower 3 to 4 inches of the butt.

In mounting the tree, make sure again the butt end is in water. This will keep the tree fresher and reduce shedding.

Another important thing that should be done before bringing the tree into the house is to spray it with fire resistant solution. A simple compound can be made by mixing 9 parts of so-called water glass — such as used to waterproof eggs — and one part of water with a teaspoon of liquid soap.

The trouble is, once you get a fine tree and decorate it beautifully, the kids can't enjoy it as they would like. They are warned to stay at a distance from it.

Speaking of the kids — the small ones, especially — some good advice is provided for parents to prevent mutually weary episodes for themselves and the children.

It's recommended that the youngsters not be dragged along on extended shopping tours. It's okeh for an hour or so, but a visit to one toy store is enough for one day. Too much to look at — and too many Santas — confuse the little ones.

D'Alesandro Drive For Renomination Goes Into High Gear

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Democratic bandwagon for renomination of Thomas D'Alesandro for mayor appeared to be in high gear Thursday.

After being given a tremendous nudge by the endorsement of Governor-elect J. Millard Tawes, other party big wigs were about to put their shoulders to the wheel.

State Sen. J. Raymond Buffington Jr. said he "would be inclined to follow Mr. Tawes." Buffington is a member of the Coggins-O'Malley organization in the huge Third District which until recently was considered anti-D'Alesandro.

State Sen. George W. Della of the Sixth District also said the "chances are that the organization will go for D'Alesandro." His organization, which includes Joseph Wyatt as a leader, also had been cool toward D'Alesandro in the past.

These strong signs threatened to roll right over the prospective candidacy of J. Harold Grady, state's attorney, as an opponent of D'Alesandro in the Democratic primary.

"That can't be!" was his reaction to first hearing that Tawes had endorsed the mayor. He added he would "have to think it over" before deciding whether to run against D'Alesandro with so many big cards stacked against him.

Republican Gov. McKeldin also expressed some surprise at the Tawes - D'Alesandro double barrelled announcements Wednesday night.

However, he said it would have little effect on his own future plans.

"I'm still in the same position I was before," he said. And what's that?

"I haven't decided yet" whether to run for mayor on the Republican ticket. The filing deadline is Dec. 23 and the primaries on March 3.

There was some grumbling throughout Democratic circles over the Tawes blessing for D'Alesandro. Some of those who had been urging Grady to run claimed that Tawes had promised as late as noon Wednesday to keep his voice out of the city elections.

D'Alesandro's announcement of his candidacy and the Tawes endorsement were issued at a late hour Wednesday night.

"It's the customary thing for a governor—Particularly if he's a county man" to stay out of city primaries, commented City Comptroller R. Walter Graham. Tawes is from Somerset County.

Among those feeling let down were Senators Joseph V. Mach of the Second District and Philip H. Goodman of the Fifth. Both have been hopeful of seeing D'Alesandro defeated in the Democratic primary.

Bandit Kills Tavernkeeper

Dead was Christopher Arsenis, operator of a bar in the 1800 block of West Lanvale St.

Two persons were in the tavern when the shooting took place. One was a customer, and the other was the janitor, Charles Parker.

Parker gave police this account:

He arrived at the tavern about midnight to clean up before the closing time of 1 a.m.

About 1:30 a.m., a Negro man entered a side door. And another Negro came in the front entrance. One asked for a bottle of beer. Arsenis told him the bar was closed.

The man then said: "Give me your money."

Arsenis started behind the bar. The man again asked for the money. Then he whipped out a pistol and fired one shot. Arsenis fell.

The gunman ordered Parker and the customer, known only as Sarge, into a rear room.

When Parker heard the men leave, he ran into the street and yelled for help.

Youth Held On Murder Charge In Stabbing Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A slight, gum-chewing youth, John A. Naples, 19, was held Thursday on a charge of murder in the fatal stabbing of his next door neighbor, Miss Edna G. Jewel.

Naples, an identical twin, is charged with killing the 51-year-old Pentagon employe when she surprised him ransacking her first floor apartment Tuesday night.

The day after the killing, the unemployed Naples called his twin, Louis, an usher at a local theater, and arranged to see a movie.

Detectives, who said they had been tipped off in a telephone call, were waiting in the lobby to arrest the youth.

Capt. Lawrence Hartnett of the homicide squad, said Naples gave this account:

He found the apartment door slightly ajar and eased in.

"There wasn't a sound, but all of a sudden the woman was in the room.

" 'What are you doing here? Get out!', she shouted, and then threw a book at me."

Harnett said Naples then described a strange sensation.

"I got the feeling I sometimes get," he was quoted. "Everything got dark, and then it went black. The next thing I knew I was pulling my knife out of her neck."

Naples then took off his "white housebreaking gloves" because they were bloody and tried to burn them on a gas jet in the kitchen.

It was the smell of the smoldering cloth that caused a neighbor to investigate and find the body.

Beatification Of Mother Seton Formally Asked

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The cause for the beatification of the American nun Elizabeth Ann Seton, known also as "Mother Seton," was officially proposed Thursday to Pope John XXIII.

The cause for beatification was read to the Pontiff, seated on his throne, at the consistory for new cardinals at the Roman Catholic Church.

The American nun's cause now goes to the Vatican's Congregation of Rites for a decision. If beatified, Mother Seton will be the first native born American to attain this high honor.

Elizabeth Seton was a convert to Catholicism.

She was married, and had children. After her husband died on a journey to Italy she devoted herself to charitable work and the education of youth. She was the founder of the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul. Much of her work was in the Baltimore area.

Undercover Worker Is Spared Jail Term On Narcotics Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Washington woman who could have gone to jail for 20 years on a narcotics charge was put on probation Thursday after federal agents said she had worked as an undercover agent.

The court was told she had "performed a marvelous task" in 18 months of undercover work and was responsible for conviction of 12 dope figures in Baltimore, Washington and New York.

The 32 - year - old woman was docketed as Mrs. Elizabeth Etta Williams with a number of aliases. She is a native of Frederick County, the records showed. The slim, attractive woman was listed as a Negro. Her appearance was Spanish.

She was charged as a third offender under narcotics laws and could have drawn 10 to 20 years in prison. After hearing testimony from police and agents, Judge Anselm Sodaro gave her a two-year suspended sentence and put her on probation on condition of good behavior and that she leave Maryland.

Police said she was arrested March 5, 1957 when she was taken off a Washington-New York train after police were informed she was carrying heroin.

Capt. Joseph Carroll of the Baltimore narcotics squad, said she had "done a very good job" as an undercover agent. A federal agent described her as "one of the best undercover workers."

The agent also told the court the woman is no longer an addict and that she had married a responsible business man since the 1957 arrest.

Her attorney entered a plea for her of guilty to a charge of possession. The state did not press other counts against her.

Records showed she was previously known under the names of Stevenson, Cooper and Whitt and now is married to a man named Dominski.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains finally settled in steady and some firm tones at the close Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to up ⅝ cent; corn (old) off ¼ to up ⅛ cent; (new) off 1⅜ to up ¼ cent; oats up ½ to off ½ cent; rye up 4⅝ to off ½ cent; soybeans off ¼ to up ¼ cents.

It was a day of liquidation in December contracts as the position finished trading on the board.

Short covering helped wheat. It gave some support to December. Commission houses were on both sides of the contract. Mills bought March from cash brokers. May wheat also advanced.

Corn featured a nervous session. Orders to buy deferred contracts increased. Commercial houses bought March. Cash interests mainly were on the selling side.

Good buying of December oats against sales of May highlighted the grain. Elevator houses bought.

A mixed commission house trade weakened soybeans. Elevator houses did some buying in January beans.

AMAZED BY HORSE

DUNMOW, England (UPI) — Officials were amazed Thursday by the homing instinct of Charlie the homesick horse. The animal took off for home in Wales last Friday from the farm of a new owner, Mrs. Anne Tomkin. Officials plotting Charlie's course said the horse had covered more than 200 miles on a straight line toward Wales, crossing five highways, several towns and two main railway lines, and swimming eight rivers.

Baruch Coined "Cold War" Term

The communists always speak as if the cold war—not the phrase, but the grim actuality—were an American invention: something the United States is waging against Russia instead of vice versa. It is interesting to delve into the origin of the term.

Bernard M. Baruch used the term "cold war" in a graduation speech he delivered in Washington June 26, 1947, and he can be credited with bringing it into general use. But Mr. Baruch did not coin the phrase. He said he had first heard it from a friend.

The background makes it clear that the phrase was provoked by Russia's actions after the war, particularly her refusal to agree to international control of the atomic bomb. Through most of 1946 Mr. Baruch had been promoting a plan under which the United States, then sole possessor of the bomb, would turn its stocks over to the United Nations to make sure that it could never be used in warfare. He sold the plan to American policymakers. He sold it to the UN. But he couldn't sell it to Russia, which refused to sign the necessary international agreements.

Rebellious Democrats Take Oath Of Secrecy Concerning Their Plot

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Democratic Congressmen who have stormed against secrecy policies of the Eisenhower administration took an oath of secrecy that they would divulge nothing of what they themselves planned and plotted against their leader, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Within 30 minutes after the meeting broke up, however, a full report on what the "naughty boys" did behind closed doors was on its way to Mr. Sam.

The Democrat who urged secrecy was Congressman Sid Yates of Illinois. The liberal Democrats were meeting to break the throttle-hold of Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia and the Rules Committee over legislation which Smith doesn't want to reach a full vote of House of Representatives. Congressman Smith will debate the "Love Life of a Raccoon" or "Diseases of Horses," but he is flatly opposed to letting the so-called "representatives of the people" debate slum clearance, public housing, sewage disposal, or other measures of interest to the people which are opposed by the big utilities or the real estate lobby.

"We must be certain that what we do here doesn't have the appearance of a revolt against the Speaker," said Congressman Yates. "We're for the Speaker. We love him dearly and we'll vote with him. So we must be careful about any publicity against him."

Accordingly each Congressman took a pledge to say nothing. However, this column can report what happened behind closed doors.

It was agreed:

1. To stroke Sam Rayburn's barren bean lovingly and get him to go along with the move to overthrow the throttle-hold of Congressman Smith of Virginia.

2. To revive the "21" day rule, by which a bill bottled up by Mr. Smith would come out of the Rules Committee after 21 days on the motion of a committee chairman, or by a ranking Congressman on an interested committee who favored a certain bill.

3. As an alternative, to change the membership ratio on the Rules Committee so as to give the Democrats a 9-3 edge. This would mean dropping one Republican and adding a Democrat. It was agreed that Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota should be the Democrat to be added.

Pacify Mr. Sam

"We are not here to plan any uprising against the Speaker or Majority Leader John McCormack," declared Congressman Frank Thompson of New Jersey. "On the contrary, we want to work with them in curbing Smith's obstructionist tactics against liberal legislation. We want a showdown with Smith, not the Speaker."

This view was strongly supported by Reuss (Wis.), Metcalf (Mont.), Vanick (Ohio), and others.

Actually, however, the meeting was something of a revolt against Mr. Sam. For it was the Democrats under Rayburn who had thrown out the 21-day rule in 1951 and reinstated the throttle power of the Rules Committee. It was Speaker Rayburn who put this across. Thus it may take a lot more than loving caresses to persuade Mr. Sam to remove his gag.

Mr. Smith's Cows

Mr. Sam was quite irate last August when his friend, Mr. Smith, went to tend his dairy cows in northern Virginia and wouldn't even answer the phone. This automatically killed vitally important legislation, such as the TVA refinancing bill, the public housing bill, and the urban development bill affecting millions of people. Whether Mr. Sam is still sore remains to be seen. He is reported sending word to his southern colleagues that he is with them, not with the liberals. In this case the secret moves of the liberal Democrats won't get far. They will have to have an out-in-the-open battle.

At present they have 100 votes in the House and have over half of the newly elected 68 Democratic Congressmen. This gives them more than the necessary 144 votes to force Mr. Sam's hand in the Democratic caucus. But whether they will really fight remains to be seen.

"I've seen Howard Smith go fishing too many times while important liberal bills languished in his committee," said one man who believes in a fight, Rep. Lester Johnson of Wisconsin. "I feel that I was given a mandate like the rest of you in the last election to lift the Smith embargo on liberal legislation and I won't rest until something is done about it."

Humphrey To Red China?

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the man who talked to or was talked to by Premier Nikita Khrushchev longer than any other westerner, has now petitioned the State Department for permission to meet with the ruler of Red China, Mao Tse-tung.

Humphrey has also asked the State Department to let him take former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut along. Benton is the man who as Assistant Secretary of State first inaugurated the State Department's information and propaganda campaign and was also one of the first Americans, along with publisher John Kennedy of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader, to warn of the tremendous strides scored by Russian education.

The fact that Khrushchev considered it important to convey information to the United States during so long an interview, Humphrey has told the State Department, might be a lead to Mao Tse-tung to do likewise.

Matter Of Fact

Meet Under Threat

PARIS

The Foreign Ministers of the West are meeting under threat of a new Soviet offensive on all fronts considerably worse than the offensives launched by Josef Stalin. The menace to Berlin, which is the all-absorbing topic here, is only another, particularly ugly chapter in a long, somber story.

Very few people in America have grasped these unpleasant facts, partly because Nikita Khrushchev bubbles over with such jolly bonhomie between thrusts at our vitals, and partly because Secretary Dulles has exiled our best qualified analysts of Soviet behavior. The sharpest American eyes are in Manila or elsewhere, so we have been half blind. But by now the facts are too big and too black to escape notice any longer.

The beginning of the new Soviet offensive may be roughly dated from the summer of 1957, after the defeat of Khrushchev's enemies of the so-called "anti-party group." The first incident was the Syrian coup d'etat, organized by the Kremlin with the help of its unsavory Syrian agent, former Defense Minister Khalid al Azm.

This little-understood but crucial coup in Syria had two altogether novel aspects. First, it revealed the adoption of a new and more aggressive Kremlin line in the Arab lands. Second, it led on to Nikita Khrushchev's use of military menaces of a previously unprecedented character. Khrushchev charged that Turkey was thinking about reacting to the coup d'etat by invading Syria—and there was more foundation for this charge than appeared at the time. He therefore massed his armies on the Turkish frontier, and roared that if Turkey invaded Syria, Turkey would also be invaded. This reporter well remembers George F. Kennan, one of the brilliant exiled analysts, worriedly remarking that he "wished for once he again had access to all the intelligence, because he was puzzled by Khrushchev's roars, which struck a really new and very alarming note."

The coup d'etat in Iraq provided the next climax. Once again, Khrushchev freely and violently talked of resorting to military measures. His menaces continued until he was sure that the relatively meaningless Western troop-landings in the Lebanon and Jordan were not the first phase of an attack on the new Iraqi government. That incident left the Western position and the Western policy in the Middle East in utter, irremediable ruins. There followed the grab for Quemoy, the first open aggression anywhere since Korea.

The firm line of Secretary Dulles caused the grab for Quemoy to be frustrated in the end, after a good many breathless weeks. But the fact that the offshore islands are now being shelled only every other day should not distract attention from the extraordinary signs of growing Soviet boldness in other areas.

In the few weeks since this reporter was in Iraq, the Communists seem to have strengthened their grip on that unhappy country to a point that is likely to be fatal. This is the new Kremlin line for the Arab lands—to have the Communists take over themselves wherever possible, if need be in open opposition to Gamal Abdel Nasser's Arab nationalists. In Iraq, the Nasserites have been jailed by the score. There is no military risk, of course, in this new Communist line in the Middle East. But it is none the less amazingly daring to offer this kind of political challenge to the undisputed leader of Arab nationalism, the most powerful figure among all the Arabs, Egypt's Nasser. The daring is underlined by the fact that the Kremlin plainly expects Nasser to ignore the challenge, and to go on helpfully attacking the remaining Western positions in those parts of the Arab world where the Communists are not yet strong enough to act alone.

In part, one suspects, the Kremlin's Middle Eastern gamble is based on the new Berlin gamble; for Nasser will never break with his Soviet friends if the Western powers finally surrender at Berlin. This kind of shattering and terrible Western defeat, if it is permitted, will surely start a whole series of political avalanches. The avalanches will occur not only in the Middle East, but also in the Far East, in Africa, and no doubt in South America too, not to mention Europe itself.

Once again, the outstanding feature of the Berlin crisis has been Nikita Khrushchev's flagrant, incessant use of the naked menaces of military force. In the last eighteen months, in short, the Soviet bloc has openly resorted to force once, at Quemoy, and Khrushchev has used menaces of force three times. Furthermore, his language about Berlin has been more shockingly unrestrained than ever before.

That is the record. It is a pretty disturbing record, and the spectacle of the worried huddle of Foreign Ministers here does not tend to be calming, either. What is a little calming is the memory of the final outcome at Quemoy. Yet the record says, very loudly and clearly that the Soviets are now acting in the belief that the military balance of power has sharply shifted in their favor. And the record further says that a period of acute danger will be the smallest price to be paid for the budget-first American defense planning of the last six years.

Flat Warning To Khrushchev May Be Needed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Why did Premier Khrushchev start a crisis over Berlin? Why does he carry his nation to the brink of war?

The mystery has not yet been solved, and it may take a flat warning to the Soviet premier—that force will be used by the West—to bring a showdown.

Many people, of course, have been assuming that it's all a Soviet bluff and that no war could possibly ensue. History tells us that such wishful thinking is often wrong and that when war is least expected—after everyone assumes it isn't coming—something untoward happens that really forces the final crisis for everybody. Up to the day World War II broke out, there were confident expressions abroad that it just couldn't and wouldn't happen.

Most observers today rationalize that war would be too horrible for anybody deliberately to start. But with troops and nuclear weapons actually mobilized on a war basis by both sides in the vicinity of Berlin, a tragic incident could be precipitated at any moment.

Secretary Dulles has just said to the NATO Council in Paris: "I am quite certain the Soviet Union will not risk war over Berlin. Therefore we can proceed with confidence."

But it's Khrushchev's game to make the Western allies think he will stop at nothing to get them out of Berlin.

For several weeks now the inside talk among high governmental officials here and in United Nations circles in New York has emphasized one comment: "The Soviets are getting tougher than ever before."

The technique of "toughness" is a familiar one in diplomacy. Dictatorships use it shrewdly as a means of bargaining. It is not at all risky to be tough with democracies—they are resilient to the influences of a public opinion which, wishing to avoid war at all costs, gives the impression of being willing to "negotiate" almost anything. This often implies a possible surrender.

One of the reasons why Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is so unpopular with the appeasers and peace-at-any-price exponents is that, through a lifetime of experience in diplomacy, he knows softness is dangerous and, in the end, would bring on the very war that everyone wanted to prevent.

Mr. Dulles will be remembered in history as the "man with Guts" who stood up to the Communists everywhere. He was jumped upon a few months ago by the timid and the partisanly political when he stood up courageously to the Communists in the Far East, refusing to be bluffed on the Quemoy-Matsu episode. Events since have proved he was right. The Communists didn't dare to precipitate a Far Eastern war. Little is being said now of the Dulles triumph in that part of the world, but it is the significant happening of the year 1958 in the international field.

It is worth noting, incidentally, that some of the same Democratic senators who could not understand what Quemoy meant as a symbol of freedom in the Far East are today saying with respect to Berlin that it cannot be surrendered because it is a symbol of freedom to Western Germany's republic. Berlin is 100 miles within the Iron Curtain as contrasted with the few miles that Quemoy lies off the Red China coast. Almost every word being said generally now for holding Berlin was being said by the President and Secretary Dulles as an argument for holding on to Quemoy because of its importance to the cause of the Chinese Nationalists.

Mr. Dulles is confident that, if the West maintains a firm policy with respect to Berlin, the Communists will be dissuaded from precipitating a general war. Everyone here hopes he will be proved right, but the world knows little of what is back of the Khrushchev move and just what strategy he has in mind. It is asserted, for instance, by Senator Humphrey, of Minnesota, who talked recently with the Soviet Premier, that the presence of the "island of Berlin" in the middle of Iron Curtain territory is a thorn in the side of the Communist leaders and they want to get rid of it. But this is only another way of saying that the Soviet government considers East Germany a permanent part of the Soviet Union and that there is no intention ever to agree to an autonomous Germany unless it is in the form of a satellite like Poland.

The Soviet Premier undoubtedly has internal troubles and must every now and then create some tension with the outside world so as to emphasize his own supposedly heroic leadership in defying the non-Communist countries. But with so many different nationalities involved in the Soviet Union, it is difficult to see how patriotism can be exploited effectively there. Indeed in 1917, in the middle of World War I, the Russian people and their allied nationalities broke away from the central government, preferring a separate peace to continued support of a tyranical regime. Maybe if war does come, it will be the signal for revolution inside Russia. Khrushchev may be a skillful demagogue but, like Hitler, he can bring the house down on himself if he risks armed conflict with the West.

You're Telling Me!

Red Police Boss Ivan Serov who was ousted from his post has been "given other work to do," Radio Moscow declares. The announcement didn't say where Ivan's new job is—in Siberia or Outer Mongolia.

Statistics show that every day an average of 400,000 have to stay home from work because they have a cold. At least, that's what they phone the boss.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The snow started late. It came down on a noisy wind out of the north and it hit the windows like granulated sugar. I got out of bed, just to make sure. The green bedroom drapes came back; the blinds were slatted; it was snowing. Little islands of white were on the lawn.

I went back to bed. This was the first snow of the year and it wasn't much. I picked up at page 113 of High Tide at Gettysburg and read the same paragraph over and over, without understanding a word of it. My mind was on snow.

Of all the phenomena of nature, snow is the most memorable. It is decorative. It puts a hard vanilla sauce on all the rooftops and draws a percale sheet over sleepy lawns. It finds a bare black oak and it plasters one side of the trunk with white and sprinkles cocoanut on the boughs.

Nothing is too small or too mean for the touch of snow. I've seen it place a white beret on the lid of a garbage can and make a slum area look jolly. Sometimes, when the wind dies, the flakes come down fat and white, in slow motion, and you can catch one in your hand and watch it die, like a dream of diamonds.

Snow runs in moods. When snow is vicious, it is merciless. I was on the Cunard Liner Ivernia three years ago coming down off Newfoundland and the snow came up slantwise and tough out of the southeast. It coated the windows of the bridge with ice and it engulfed the ship in a bowl of milk. The fog horn sobbed helplessly every minute.

I've seen it piled so deep that the schools closed and we built snow forts and made snowballs and piled them up like Civil War cannonballs. We used to go bellywhopping down Grant Avenue hill and the flakes stung our cheeks and put apples in them and we'd pass peddler's wagons and see the steamy plumes from the horses' nostrils.

My dog always loved snow and, when he got out in it, he ran in crazy circles snapping at the flakes, licking it and shaking it off his fur and whistling through his nose with happiness. A year-old-baby watches the falling flakes with wonder; the eyes as big as blue soup plates the mouth forming a silent O.

I've been in Damariscotta, Maine, in February, when a five-foot layercake of snow sat in the hills white enough to blind a man, and below, the river flowed black. "You had a big snow last week," I said to my host. He fixed the ear flaps on his hat and shook his head. "That snow fell last November," he said.

Jack London wrote about a man who froze to death in the Far North and it turned out to be an easy way to go. He felt sleepy. He kept looking at his dog and trying to scratch a match. The snow was deep in the valley, deeper on the mountains.

The dog gave up and curled up in the snow, the white flakes hard on his whiskers, the dying eyes slitted against the wind. The man kept trying to scratch the match and he kept telling himself that he must not give in to the feeling of luxurious fatigue. It is a sweet sleepiness, and, while he was thinking about it, his fingers gave up and refused to hold the match, and he died, watching it standing on end in the snow, unable to grasp it.

I feel asleep with the book open at page 113. In the morning, the housekeeper knocked on the bedroom door and I got up slowly, the feet over the side of the bed trying to find the white leather mocassins, a tired arm reaching for the toweling robe, the mind half here, half there.

"You going to New York today?" the housekeeper said. I nodded. She put up the orange juice and the corn flakes and the tea. The headlines in the morning papers required time to sink into my consciousness.

"The snow stopped," she said.

"It did?" I said politely. Then I said: "What snow?" It took time to recall that snow had started to fall the night before. I got up from the table and hurried out on the porch. The dark three-ton rocks on the seawall were covered with sugar. The fountain on the lawn was heavy with snow. I shivered. The snow was about one inch deep.

"Remind me to call New York," I said. "I can't make it in this weather . . ."

Divers Can Get 'Drunk' Without Drinking

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Drunkenness of the depths" is a condition that deep sea and scuba divers may encounter on reaching the bottom of the ocean. This sense of giddiness is created when excessive amounts of nitrogen in the inhaled air are forced into the blood and other tissues.

According to Capt. Gerald J. Duffner of the United States navy, the feeling is similar to drinking alcohol and divers measure the sensation by the "martini rule." At a depth of 100 feet the effect is similar to drinking one martini on an empty stomach; at 200 feet, two or three martinis; at 400 feet, too many martinis. Individual variations occur in that some tolerate nitrogen better than others.

It is safer for a conventional diver to develop a deep sea binge because his condition is easily detected by those on the surface via the telephone system. The scuba diver may get into real trouble, especially when he feels so gay he takes off his mask and attempts to put it on a passing fish. The nitrogen comes from the air that is inhaled, which dissolves in the blood along with the oxygen.

The diver must ascend slowly to give the pent up gas a chance to escape thru the lungs; otherwise the "bends" will develop. On reaching the surface, the excess nitrogen in the blood begins to bubble, just as bubbles appear when the cap is removed from a bottle containing a carbonated beverage.

The gas floats in the blood stream and symptoms depend upon how large and numerous the bubbles are and where they lodge. Pain in and about joints is a common complaint.

The only way to relieve distress is to force the gas back into the blood stream by increasing the external pressure. This is done most easily by sitting in a decompression chamber. The pressure is increased until pain subsides and then is reduced gradually until nitrogen escapes from the blood into the lungs.

JARRED BRAIN

J. G. writes: Does a brain concussion heal itself without treatment?

REPLY

Yes, in most instances, with rest. In severe concussions, where there are signs of additional pressure, treatment may be needed.

HOLIER THAN THOU

T. R. writes: I notice that most of my friends who suffer from headaches eat a lot of chocolate. My sleepless friends are great coffee drinkers. My fat friends never sit down to a decent meal but always are nibbling and tasting this and that. Why are people not more intelligent?

REPLY

These individuals keep the medical profession busy. What are your weaknesses?

THEY MOVE OR STAY PUT

L. W. writes: Is it better to pass kidney stones than to hoard them?

REPLY

You have no choice. Smaller stones will pass regardless of your feelings along this line. A choice comes only with the larger calculi and it is here that the hoarder loses in the end, because stones should be removed before they destroy the kidneys.

MEASLES PREVENTIVE

J. E. writes: Are there any shots to prevent measles in a child?

REPLY

Gamma globulin usually modifies measles and large doses might prevent the disease. A preventive serum such as that against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus is available but its value has not been fully established.

TOMORROW: Eliminate booby traps in the home.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

D'Alesandro Drive For Renomination Goes Into High Gear

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Democratic bandwagon for renomination of Thomas D'Alesandro for mayor appeared to be in high gear Thursday.

After being given a tremendous nudge by the endorsement of Governor-elect J. Millard Tawes, other party big wigs were about to put their shoulders to the wheel.

State Sen. J. Raymond Buffington Jr. said he "would be inclined to follow Mr. Tawes." Buffington is a member of the Coggins-O'Malley organization in the huge Third District which until recently was considered anti-D'Alesandro.

State Sen. George W. Della of the Sixth District also said the "chances are that the organization will go for D'Alesandro." His organization, which includes Joseph Wyatt as a leader, also had been cool toward D'Alesandro in the past.

These strong signs threatened to roll right over the prospective candidacy of J. Harold Grady, state's attorney, as an opponent of D'Alesandro in the Democratic primary.

"That can't be!" was his reaction to first hearing that Tawes had endorsed the mayor. He added he would "have to think it over" before deciding whether to run against D'Alesandro with so many big cards stacked against him.

Republican Gov. McKeldin also expressed some surprise at the Tawes - D'Alesandro double barreled announcements Wednesday night.

However, he said it would have little effect on his own future plans.

"I'm still in the same position I was before," he said. And what's that?

"I haven't decided yet" whether to run for mayor on the Republican ticket. The filing deadline is Dec. 23 and the primaries on March 3.

There was some grumbling throughout Democratic circles over the Tawes blessing for D'Alesandro. Some of those who had been urging Grady to run claimed that Tawes had promised as late as noon Wednesday to keep his voice out of the city elections.

D'Alesandro's announcement of his candidacy and the Tawes endorsement were issued at a late hour Wednesday night.

"It's the customary thing for a governor—Particularly if he's a county man" to stay out of city primaries, commented City Comptroller R. Walter Graham. Tawes is from Somerset County.

Among those feeling let down were Senators Joseph V. Mach of the Second District and Philip H. Goodman of the Fifth. Both have been hopeful of seeing D'Alesandro defeated in the Democratic primary.

Bandit Kills Tavernkeeper

Dead was Christopher Arsenis, operator of a bar in the 1800 block of West Lanvale St.

Two persons were in the tavern when the shooting took place. One was a customer, and the other was the janitor, Charles Parker.

Parker gave police this account:

He arrived at the tavern about midnight to clean up before the closing time of 1 a.m.

About 1:30 a.m., a Negro man entered a side door. And another Negro came in the front entrance. One asked for a bottle of beer. Arsenis told him the bar was closed.

The man then said: "Give me your money."

Arsenis started behind the bar. The man again asked for the money. Then he whipped out a pistol and fired one shot. Arsenis fell.

The gunman ordered Parker and the customer, known only as Sarge, into a rear room.

Sybert To Take Oath For Another Term

BALTIMORE (AP) — C. Ferdinand Sybert will be sworn in Friday afternoon for another term as Maryland's attorney general.

The oath will be administered by Gov. McKeldin.

Sybert won his second four-year term of office in the November general election by defeating his Republican opponent, Robert A. Wallace, by more than 220,000, votes. He carried every county in the state with the exception of Garrett.

Sybert served as a State senator and speaker of the House of Delegates from Howard County before becoming attorney general in 1954.

Youth Held On Murder Charge In Stabbing Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A slight, gum-chewing youth, John A. Naples, 19, was held Thursday on a charge of murder in the fatal stabbing of his next door neighbor, Miss Edna G. Jewel.

Naples, an identical twin, is charged with killing the 51-year-old Pentagon employe when she surprised him ransacking her first floor apartment Tuesday night.

The day after the killing, the unemployed Naples called his twin, Louis, an usher at a local theater, and arranged to see a movie.

Detectives, who said they had been tipped off in a telephone call, were waiting in the lobby to arrest the youth.

Capt. Lawrence Hartnett of the homicide squad, said Naples gave this account:

He found the apartment door slightly ajar and eased in.

"There wasn't a sound, but all of a sudden the woman was in the room.

"'What are you doing here? Get out!', she shouted, and then threw a book at me."

Harnett said Naples then described a strange sensation.

"I got the feeling I sometimes get," he was quoted. "Everything got dark, and then it went black. The next thing I knew I was pulling my knife out of her neck."

Naples then took off his "white housebreaking gloves" because they were bloody and tried to burn them on a gas jet in the kitchen.

It was the smell of the smoldering cloth that caused a neighbor to investigate and find the body.

Life Term For Youth

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jerry P. Cooper, 19, was sentenced to life in prison Thursday for the attempted rape of a 72-year-old woman.

The Negro youth was accused of forcing his way into the woman's apartment last March 23. He was captured by other residents of the building who heard her screams.

Filing the suit in Superior Court were Annie E. Wells, Beatrice E. McArthur, Bell Stewart, Etta Spencer and Florence Gallaway.

Beatification Of Mother Seton Formally Asked

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The cause for the beatification of the American nun Elizabeth Ann Seton, known also as "Mother Seton," was officially proposed Thursday to Pope John XXIII.

The cause for beatification was read to the Pontiff, seated on his throne, at the consistory for new cardinals at the Roman Catholic Church.

The American nun's cause now goes to the Vatican's Congregation of Rites for a decision. If beatified, Mother Seton will be the first native born American to attain this high honor.

Elizabeth Seton was a convert to Catholicism.

She was married, and had children. After her husband died on a journey to Italy she devoted herself to charitable work and the education of youth. She was the founder of the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul. Much of her work was in the Baltimore area.

Undercover Worker Is Spared Jail Term On Narcotics Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Washington woman who could have gone to jail for 20 years on a narcotics charge was put on probation Thursday after federal agents said she had worked as an undercover agent.

The court was told she had "performed a marvelous task" in 18 months of undercover work and was responsible for conviction of 12 dope figures in Baltimore, Washington and New York.

The 32 - year - old woman was docketed as Mrs. Elizabeth Etta Williams with a number of aliases. She is a native of Frederick County, the records showed. The slim, attractive woman was listed as a Negro. Her appearance was Spanish.

She was charged as a third offender under narcotics laws and could have drawn 10 to 20 years in prison. After hearing testimony from police and agents, Judge Anselm Sodaro gave her a two-year suspended sentence and put her on probation on condition of good behavior and that she leave Maryland.

Police said she was arrested March 5, 1957 when she was taken off a Washington-New York train after police were informed she was carrying heroin.

Capt. Joseph Carroll of the Baltimore narcotics squad, said she had "done a very good job" as an undercover agent. A federal agent described her as "one of the best undercover workers."

The agent also told the court the woman is no longer an addict and that she had married a responsible business man since the 1957 arrest.

Her attorney entered a plea for her of guilty to a charge of possession. The state did not press other counts against her.

Records showed she was previously known under the names of Stevenson, Cooper and Whitt and now is married to a man named Dominski.

The Edison hotel in Sudbury, Pa., was believed to be the first building in the world to be electrically lighted.

Holiday Ham Traditional For Menus At Christmas

Christmas is such a wonderful time of year! Holly trimmed fruit cakes, tinseled bedecked trees and the closet marked, "Keep Out" are all part of this wonderfully joyous celebration.

Holiday menus, especially Christmas dinner, are just as important as the music, bells and decorations.

So as not to keep the homemaker on kitchen patrol, a delicious and easily prepared canned ham as been chosen for the grand feast on December 25th. Something just a bit different in the way of a glaze has been appropriately chosen to top this meat cut.

To prepare the ham, simply consult the directions on the can. Since it is fully cooked, it will require just warming.

Cereal Glaze For Ham

- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- Whole cloves, if desired
- Maraschino cherries, if desired

Use the corn flakes just as they come from the package — no crushing is necessary. The ease of use is but one advantage of flavorful breakfast cereals when used as an ingredient. Flavor, texture, and the nutritional value of recipes are improved by the addition of breakfast cereals.

- 1 pound dried apricots, quartered
- 1 pound red, green, or white candied pineapple slices, cut into eighths
- ½ pound green candied cherries.
- ½ pound red candied cherries
- 3 cups pecan or walnut halves

Add salt, eggs, milk, and vanilla and beat at low speed until mixture is smooth and free of lumps (about 2 minutes). Stir in corn flakes. Blend fruit into mixture. Pack mix into 2 greased and paper lined loaf pans (8½x4½x2½ inches). Bake in a very slow oven (275 degrees F.) until done, about 2½ hours. Yield: 2 loaves.

The East of today's hand was aware that one swallow does not make a summer. He was equally convinced that one ruff would not beat the four heart contract. By shifting the line of attack he evolved a successful defense.

The game contract was reached in easy stages. After South's two over one response, North had sufficient strength to show his second suit at the three level. When South rebid the hearts, North raised to game.

West opened the five of clubs and altho it appeared likely to East that the lead was a singleton, there was grave doubt in his mind as to the propriety of returning the suit. One club ruff would not result in defeat of the contract unless West could also win two diamond tricks. West could hardly have A-K of diamonds for with such holding he would no doubt have opened the king of diamonds.

East therefore deferred the effort to give West a ruff in favor of returning the jack of diamonds. Declarer covered. Had he failed to do so East would then have shifted back to a club. West won with the ace and realized the futility of cashing the queen. While it is possible East has the jack and a small diamond, it is inconceivable that he could overruff dummy. West decided, therefore, that his best chance was to find partner with the 10 of diamonds. So he underled the queen and was rewarded for his enterprise when East held the trick and returned a club for the setting trick.

Baruch Coined "Cold War" Term

The communists always speak as if the cold war — not the phrase, but the grim actuality — were an American invention: something the United States is waging against Russia instead of vice versa. It is interesting to delve into the origin of the term.

Bernard M. Baruch used the term "cold war" in a graduation speech he delivered in Washington June 26, 1947, and he can be credited with bringing it into general use. But Mr. Baruch did not coin the phrase. He said he had first heard it from a friend.

The background makes it clear that the phrase was provoked by Russia's actions after the war, particularly her refusal to agree to international control of the atomic bomb. Through most of 1946 Mr. Baruch had been promoting a plan under which the United States, then sole possessor of the bomb, would turn its stocks over to the United Nations to make sure that it could never be used in warfare. He sold the plan to American policymakers. He sold it to the UN. But he couldn't sell it to Russia, which refused to sign the necessary international agreements.

Rebellious Democrats Take Oath Of Secrecy Concerning Their Plot

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Democratic Congressmen who have stormed against secrecy policies of the Eisenhower administration took an oath of secrecy that they would divulge nothing of what they themselves planned and plotted against their leader, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Within 30 minutes after the meeting broke up, however, a full report on what the "naughty boys" did behind closed doors was on its way to Mr. Sam.

The Democrat who urged secrecy was Congressman Sid Yates of Illinois. The liberal Democrats were meeting to break the throttle-hold of Congressman Howard Smith of Virginia and the Rules Committee over legislation which Smith doesn't want to reach a full vote of House of Representatives. Congressman Smith will debate the "Love Life of a Raccoon" or "Diseases of Horses," but he is flatly opposed to letting the so-called "representatives of the people" debate slum clearance, public housing, sewage disposal, or other measures of interest to the people which are opposed by the big utilities or the real estate lobby.

"We must be certain that what we do here doesn't have the appearance of a revolt against the Speaker," said Congressman Yates. "We're for the Speaker. We love him dearly and we'll vote with him. So we must be careful about any publicity against him."

Accordingly each Congressman took a pledge to say nothing. However, this column can report what happened behind closed doors.

It was agreed:

1. To stroke Sam Rayburn's barren bean lovingly and get him to go along with the move to overthrow the throttle-hold of Congressman Smith of Virginia.

2. To revive the "21" day rule, by which a bill bottled up by Mr. Smith would come out of the Rules Committee after 21 days on the motion of a committee chairman, or by a ranking Congressman on an interested committee who favored a certain bill.

3. As an alternative, to change the membership ratio on the Rules Committee so as to give the Democrats a 9-3 edge. This would mean dropping one Republican and adding a Democrat. It was agreed that Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota should be the Democrat to be added.

Pacify Mr. Sam

"We are not here to plan any uprising against the Speaker or Majority Leader John McCormack," declared Congressman Frank Thompson of New Jersey. "On the contrary, we want to work with them in curbing Smith's obstructionist tactics against liberal legislation. We want a showdown with Smith, not the Speaker."

This view was strongly supported by Reuss (Wis.), Metcalf (Mont.), Vanick (Ohio), and others.

Actually, however, the meeting was something of a revolt against Mr. Sam. For it was the Democrats under Rayburn who had thrown out the 21-day rule in 1951 and reinstated the throttle power of the Rules Committee. It was Speaker Rayburn who put this across. Thus it may take a lot more than loving caresses to persuade Mr. Sam to remove his gag.

Mr. Smith's Cows

Mr. Sam was quite irate last August when his friend, Mr. Smith, went to tend his dairy cows in northern Virginia and wouldn't even answer the phone. This automatically killed vitally important legislation, such as the TVA refinancing bill, the public housing bill, and the urban development bill affecting millions of people. Whether Mr. Sam is still sore remains to be seen. He is reported sending word to his southern colleagues that he is with them, not with the liberals. In this case the secret moves of the liberal Democrats won't get far. They will have to have an out-in-the-open battle.

At present they have 100 votes in the House and have over half of the newly elected 68 Democratic Congressmen. This gives them more than the necessary 144 votes to force Mr. Sam's hand in the Democratic caucus. But whether they will really fight remains to be seen.

"I've seen Howard Smith go fishing too many times while important liberal bills languished in his committee," said one man who believes in a fight, Rep. Lester Johnson of Wisconsin. "I feel that I was given a mandate like the rest of you in the last election to lift the Smith embargo on liberal legislation and I won't rest until something is done about it."

Humphrey To Red China?

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the man who talked to or was talked to by Premier Nikita Khrushchev longer than any other westerner, has now petitioned the State Department for permission to meet with the ruler of Red China, Mao Tse-tung.

Humphrey has also asked the State Department to let him take former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut along. Benton is the man who as Assistant Secretary of State first inaugurated the State Department's information and propaganda campaign and was also one of the first Americans, along with publisher John Kennedy of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader, to warn of the tremendous strides scored by Russian education.

The fact that Khrushchev considered it important to convey information to the United States during so long an interview, Humphrey has told the State Department, might be a lead to Mao Tse-tung to do likewise.

Matter Of Fact

Meet Under Threat

PARIS

The Foreign Ministers of the West are meeting under threat of a new Soviet offensive on all fronts considerably worse than the offensives launched by Josef Stalin. The menace to Berlin, which is the all-absorbing topic here, is only another, particularly ugly chapter in a long, somber story.

Very few people in America have grasped these unpleasant facts, partly because Nikita Khrushchev bubbles over with such jolly bonhomie between thrusts at our vitals, and partly because Secretary Dulles has exiled our best qualified analysts of Soviet behavior. The sharpest American eyes are in Manila or elsewhere, so we have been half blind. But by now the facts are too big and too black to escape notice any longer.

The beginning of the new Soviet offensive may be roughly dated from the summer of 1957, after the defeat of Khrushchev's enemies of the so-called "anti-party group." The first incident was the Syrian coup d'etat, organized by the Kremlin with the help of its unsavory Syrian agent, former Defense Minister Khalid al Azm.

This little-understood but crucial coup in Syria had two altogether novel aspects. First, it revealed the adoption of a new and more aggressive Kremlin line in the Arab lands. Second, it led on to Nikita Khrushchev's use of military menaces of a previously unprecedented character. Khrushchev charged that Turkey was thinking about reacting to the coup d'etat by invading Syria — and there was more foundation for this charge than appeared at the time. He therefore massed his armies on the Turkish frontier, and roared that if Turkey invaded Syria, Turkey would also be invaded. This reporter well remembers George F. Kennan, one of the brilliant exiled analysts, worriedly remarking that he "wished for once he again had access to all the intelligence, because he was puzzled by Khrushchev's roars, which struck a really new and very alarming note."

The coup d'etat in Iraq provided the next climax. Once again, Khrushchev freely and violently talked of resorting to military measures. His menaces continued until he was sure that the relatively meaningless Western troop-landings in the Lebanon and Jordan were not the first phase of an attack on the new Iraqi government. That incident left the Western position and the Western policy in the Middle East in utter, irremediable ruins. There followed the grab for Quemoy, the first open aggression anywhere since Korea.

The firm line of Secretary Dulles caused the grab for Quemoy to be frustrated in the end, after a good many breathless weeks. But the fact that the offshore islands are now being shelled only every other day should not distract attention from the extraordinary signs of growing Soviet boldness in other areas.

In the few weeks since this reporter was in Iraq, the Communists seem to have strengthened their grip on that unhappy country to a point that is likely to be fatal. This is the new Kremlin line for the Arab lands — to have the Communists take over themselves wherever possible, if need be in open opposition to Gamal Abdel Nasser's Arab nationalists. In Iraq, the Nasserites have been jailed by the score. There is no military risk, of course, in this new Communist line in the Middle East. But it is none the less amazingly daring to offer this kind of political challenge to the undisputed leader of Arab nationalism, the most powerful figure among all the Arabs, Egypt's Nasser. The daring is underlined by the fact that the Kremlin plainly expects Nasser to ignore the challenge, and to go on helpfully attacking the remaining Western positions in those parts of the Arab world where the Communists are not yet strong enough to act alone.

In part, one suspects, the Kremlin's Middle Eastern gamble is based on the new Berlin gamble; for Nasser will never break with his Soviet friends if the Western powers finally surrender at Berlin. This kind of shattering and terrible Western defeat, if it is permitted, will surely start a whole series of political avalanches. The avalanches will occur not only in the Middle East, but also in the Far East, in Africa, and no doubt in South America too, not to mention Europe itself.

Once again, the outstanding feature of the Berlin crisis has been Nikita Khrushchev's flagrant, incessant use of the naked menaces of military force. In the last eighteen months, in short, the Soviet bloc has openly resorted to force once, at Quemoy, and Khrushchev has used menaces of force three times. Furthermore, his language about Berlin has been more shockingly unrestrained than ever before.

That is the record. It is a pretty disturbing record, and the spectacle of the worried huddle of Foreign Ministers here does not tend to be calming, either. What is a little calming is the memory of the final outcome at Quemoy. Yet the record says, very loudly and clearly that the Soviets are now acting in the belief that the military balance of power has sharply shifted in their favor. And the record further says that a period of acute danger will be the smallest price to be paid for the budget-first American defense planning of the last six years.

Flat Warning To Khrushchev May Be Needed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Why did Premier Khrushchev start a crisis over Berlin? Why does he carry his nation to the brink of war?

The mystery has not yet been solved, and it may take a flat warning to the Soviet premier—that force will be used by the West—to bring a showdown.

Many people, of course, have been assuming that it's all a Soviet bluff and that no war could possibly ensue. History tells us that such wishful thinking is often wrong and that when war is least expected—after everyone assumes it isn't coming—something untoward happens that really forces the final crisis for everybody. Up to the day World War II broke out, there were confident expressions abroad that it just couldn't and wouldn't happen.

Most observers today rationalize that war would be too horrible for anybody deliberately to start. But with troops and nuclear weapons actually mobilized on a war basis by both sides in the vicinity of Berlin, a tragic incident could be precipitated at any moment.

Secretary Dulles has just said to the NATO Council in Paris: "I am quite certain the Soviet Union will not risk war over Berlin. Therefore we can proceed with confidence."

But it's Khrushchev's game to make the Western allies think he will stop at nothing to get them out of Berlin.

For several weeks now the inside talk among high governmental officials here and in United Nations circles in New York has emphasized one comment: "The Soviets are getting tougher than ever before."

The technique of "toughness" is a familiar one in diplomacy. Dictatorships use it shrewdly as a means of bargaining. It is not at all risky to be tough with democracies—they are resilient to the influences of a public opinion which, wishing to avoid war at all costs, gives the impression of being willing to "negotiate" almost anything. This often implies a possible surrender.

One of the reasons why Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is so unpopular with the appeasers and peace-at-any-price exponents is that, through a lifetime of experience in diplomacy, he knows softness is dangerous and, in the end, would bring on the very war that everyone wanted to prevent.

Mr. Dulles will be remembered in history as the "man with Guts" who stood up to the Communists everywhere. He was jumped upon a few months ago by the timid and the partisanly political when he stood up courageously to the Communists in the Far East, refusing to be bluffed on the Quemoy-Matsu episode. Events since have proved he was right. The Communists didn't dare to precipitate a Far Eastern war. Little is being said now of the Dulles triumph in that part of the world, but it is the significant happening of the year 1958 in the international field.

It is worth noting, incidentally, that some of the same Democratic senators who could not understand what Quemoy meant as a symbol of freedom in the Far East are today saying with respect to Berlin that it cannot be surrendered because it is a symbol of freedom to Western Germany's republic. Berlin is 100 miles within the Iron Curtain as contrasted with the few miles that Quemoy lies off the Red China coast. Almost every word being said generally now for holding Berlin was being said by the President and Secretary Dulles as an argument for holding on to Quemoy because of its importance to the cause of the Chinese Nationalists.

Mr. Dulles is confident that, if the West maintains a firm policy with respect to Berlin, the Communists will be dissuaded from precipitating a general war. Everyone here hopes he will be proved right, but the world knows little of what is back of the Khrushchev move and just what strategy he has in mind. It is asserted, for instance, by Senator Humphrey, of Minnesota, who talked recently with the Soviet Premier, that the presence of the "island of Berlin" in the middle of Iron Curtain territory is a thorn in the side of the Communist leaders and they want to get rid of it. But this is only another way of saying that the Soviet government considers East Germany a permanent part of the Soviet Union and that there is no intention ever to agree to an autonomous Germany unless it is in the form of a satellite like Poland.

The Soviet Premier undoubtedly has internal troubles and must every now and then create some tension with the outside world so as to emphasize his own supposedly heroic leadership in defying the non-Communist countries. But with so many different nationalities involved in the Soviet Union, it is difficult to see how patriotism can be exploited effectively there. Indeed in 1917, in the middle of World War I, the Russian people and their allied nationalities broke away from the central government, preferring a separate peace to continued support of a tyranical regime. Maybe if war does come, it will be the signal for revolution inside Russia. Khrushchev may be a skillful demagogue but, like Hitler, he can bring the house down on himself if he risks armed conflict with the West.

What, no soup?

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The snow started late. It came down on a noisy wind out of the north and it hit the windows like granulated sugar. I got out of bed, just to make sure. The green bedroom drapes came back; the blinds were slatted; it was snowing. Little islands of white were on the lawn.

I went back to bed. This was the first snow of the year and it wasn't much. I picked up at page 113 of High Tide at Gettysburg and read the same paragraph over and over, without understanding a word of it. My mind was on snow.

Of all the phenomena of nature, snow is the most memorable. It is decorative. It puts a hard vanilla sauce on all the rooftops and draws a percale sheet over sleepy lawns. It finds a bare black oak and it plasters one side of the trunk with white and sprinkles cocoanut on the boughs.

Nothing is too small or too mean for the touch of snow. I've seen it place a white beret on the lid of a garbage can and make a slum area look jolly. Sometimes, when the wind dies, the flakes come down fat and white, in slow motion, and you can catch one in your hand and watch it die, like a dream of diamonds.

Snow runs in moods. When snow is vicious, it is merciless. I was on the Cunard Liner Ivernia three years ago coming down off Newfoundland and the snow came up slantwise and tough out of the southeast. It coated the windows of the bridge with ice and it engulfed the ship in a bowl of milk. The fog horn sobbed helplessly every minute.

I've seen it piled so deep that the schools closed and we built snow forts and made snowballs and piled them up like Civil War cannonballs. We used to go belly-whopping down Grant Avenue hill and the flakes stung our cheeks and put apples in them and we'd pass peddler's wagons and see the steamy plumes from the horses' nostrils.

My dog always loved snow and, when he got out in it, he ran in crazy circles snapping at the flakes, licking it and shaking it off his fur and whistling through his nose with happiness. A year-old-baby watches the falling flakes with wonder; the eyes as big as blue soup plates the mouth forming a silent O.

I've been in Damariscotta, Maine, in February, when a five-foot layercake of snow sat in the hills white enough to blind a man, and below, the river flowed black. "You had a big snow last week," I said to my host. He fixed the ear flaps on his hat and shook his head. "That snow fell last November," he said.

Jack London wrote about a man who froze to death in the Far North and it turned out to be an easy way to go. He felt sleepy. He kept looking at his dog and trying to scratch a match. The snow was deep in the valley, deeper on the mountains.

The dog gave up and curled up in the snow, the white flakes hard on his whiskers, the dying eyes slitted against the wind. The man kept trying to scratch the match and he kept telling himself that he must not give in to the feeling of luxurious fatigue. It is a sweet sleepiness, and, while he was thinking about it, his fingers gave up and refused to hold the match, and he died, watching it standing on end in the snow, unable to grasp it.

I feel asleep with the book open at page 113. In the morning, the housekeeper knocked on the bedroom door and I got up slowly, the feet over the side of the bed trying to find the white leather mocassins, a tired arm reaching for the toweling robe, the mind half here, half there.

"You going to New York today?" the housekeeper said. I nodded. She put up the orange juice and the corn flakes and the tea. The headlines in the morning papers required time to sink into my consciousness.

"The snow stopped," she said.

"It did?" I said politely. Then I said: "What snow?" It took time to recall that snow had started to fall the night before. I got up from the table and hurried out on the porch. The dark three-ton rocks on the seawall were covered with sugar. The fountain on the lawn was heavy with snow. I shivered. The snow was about one inch deep.

"Remind me to call New York," I said. "I can't make it in this weather . . ."

Divers Can Get 'Drunk' Without Drinking

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Drunkenness of the depths" is a condition that deep sea and scuba divers may encounter on reaching the bottom of the ocean. This sense of giddiness is created when excessive amounts of nitrogen in the inhaled air are forced into the blood and other tissues.

According to Capt. Gerald J. Duffner of the United States navy, the feeling is similar to drinking alcohol and divers measure the sensation by the "martini rule." At a depth of 100 feet the effect is similar to drinking one martini on an empty stomach; at 200 feet, two or three martinis; at 400 feet, too many martinis. Individual variations occur in that some tolerate nitrogen better than others.

It is safer for a conventional diver to develop a deep sea binge because his condition is easily detected by those on the surface via the telephone system. The scuba diver may get into real trouble, especially when he feels so gay he takes off his mask and attempts to put it on a passing fish. The nitrogen comes from the air that is inhaled, which dissolves in the blood along with the oxygen.

The diver must ascend slowly to give the pent up gas a chance to escape thru the lungs; otherwise the "bends" will develop. On reaching the surface, the excess nitrogen in the blood begins to bubble, just as bubbles appear when the cap is removed from a bottle containing a carbonated beverage.

The gas floats in the blood stream and symptoms depend upon how large and numerous the bubbles are and where they lodge. Pain in and about joints is a common complaint.

The only way to relieve distress is to force the gas back into the blood stream by increasing the external pressure. This is done most easily by sitting in a decompression chamber. The pressure is increased until pain subsides and then is reduced gradually until nitrogen escapes from the blood into the lungs.

JARRED BRAIN

J. G. writes: Does a brain concussion heal itself without treatment?

REPLY

Yes, in most instances, with rest. In severe concussions, where there are signs of additional pressure, treatment may be needed.

HOLIER THAN THOU

T. R. writes: I notice that most of my friends who suffer from headaches eat a lot of chocolate. My sleepless friends are great coffee drinkers. My fat friends never sit down to a decent meal but always are nibbling and tasting this and that. Why are people not more intelligent?

REPLY

These individuals keep the medical profession busy. What are your weaknesses?

THEY MOVE OR STAY PUT

L. W. writes: Is it better to pass kidney stones than to hoard them?

REPLY

You have no choice. Smaller stones will pass regardless of your feelings along this line. A choice comes only with the larger calculi and it is here that the hoarder loses in the end, because stones should be removed before they destroy the kidneys.

MEASLES PREVENTIVE

J. E. writes: Are there any shots to prevent measles in a child?

REPLY

Gamma globulin usually modifies measles and large doses might prevent the disease. A preventive serum such as that against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus is available but its value has not been fully established.

TOMORROW: Eliminate booby traps in the home.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Canned Beef Gravy Good Noble December Eating

It's December . . . the month of noble eating!

With the advent of cold weather, all appetites demand heartier foods and dishes made with mouth-watering goodness. Canned beef gravy adds to this goodness, especially when it's part of a gourmet dish. Thinly sliced veal is the meat. When combined with celery and green pepper, then slowly and tenderly cooked in luscious, low-calorie canned beef gravy, you've a recipe to be loved, in noble November or busy December!

Your table will take on party manners when you serve veal delight with a tossed salad, using either fresh or marinated leftover vegetables, and for dessert a lovely, light snow pudding. Top this if you wish with canned green peach slices. Aand don't forget the pot of hot coffee.

Try veal delight made this way:

Veal Delight

1 pound thinly sliced veal
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
1 bay leaf
1 can (10¾ ounces) beef gravy
¼ cup sour cream
Buttered cooked noodles

In skillet, brown veal in butter. Add onion, celery, green pepper, garlic, bay leaf, and gravy. Cover; cook over low heat about 30 minutes. Just before serving, stir in sour cream. Serve with buttered noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Jiffy Christmas Bread

¼ cup soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 (5-ounce) loaves Brown 'n Serve French bread

Combine butter, green pepper, pimiento, onion and lemon juice. Slice bread, diagonally into ¾-inch slices, being careful not to cut through bottom crust. Spread bread slices with butter mixture. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 12 minutes, or until golden brown.

Yield: 10 servings (2 slices each).

Cranberry Nut Bread

An all-time favorite.
2 cups all-purpose sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup orange juice
1 T. grated orange rind
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Combine orange juice and grated rind with well beaten egg. Pour all at once into dry ingredients, mixing just enough to dampen. Carefully fold in chopped nuts and cranberries. Spoon into greased loaf pan (9x5x3). Spread corners and sides slightly higher than center. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. about 1 hour . . . until crust is golden brown and toothpick inserted comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

Holiday Ham Traditional For Menus At Christmas

Christmas is such a wonderful time of year! Holly trimmed fruit cakes, tinseled bedecked trees and the closet marked, "Keep Out" are all part of this wonderfully joyous celebration.

Holiday menus, especially Christmas dinner, are just as important as the music, bells and decorations.

So as not to keep the homemaker on kitchen patrol, a delicious and easily prepared canned ham as been chosen for the grand feast on December 25th. Something just a bit different in the way of a glaze has been appropriately chosen to top this meat cut.

To prepare the ham, simply consult the directions on the can. Since it is fully cooked, it will require just warming.

Cereal Glaze For Ham

- ¾ cup crushed corn flakes
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- Whole cloves, if desired
- Maraschino cherries, if desired

Mix corn flakes, sugars and mustard. Add vinegar and mix thoroughly. Thirty to 45 minutes before ham is done, spread ham with glaze. Decorate with cloves and cherries, if desired. Return to slow oven (300° F.) to finish cooking ham and to set glaze

Cranberry Fruit Salad

A Natural Mate For Ham Steak

- 1 package black raspberry flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- ½ cup cold water
- 2 cups (½ lb.) Fresh Cranberries
- 1 orange, quartered and seeds removed
- 1 cup granulated sugar

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Put cranberries and orange (including rind) through coarse blade of food chopper. Stir in sugar. Let stand at room temperature about 5 minutes. Stir into thickened gelatin. Pour into 1 quart mold (lightly-oiled) and chill until firm. Unmold on greens and serve without dressing.

NOTE: Cherry, Strawberry or Raspberry gelatin may be substituted for Black Raspberry.

Cranberry Surprise Salad

A Natural Mate For Cold Beef

- 2 cups (½ lb.) Fresh Cranberries
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 envelope Gelatine
- 1 cup hot water
- ½ cup Mayonnaise
- 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 apple or 1 orange, peeled and diced
- ¼ cup chopped walnuts

Put cranberries through food chopper. Add sugar. Let stand 10 minutes. Dissolve gelatine in hot water. Add real mayonnaise, lemon juice and salt. Blend well with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator tray. Quick-chill in freezer (without changing control) 10 minutes, or until firm about 1 inch from edge but soft in center. Beat until fluffy. Fold in cranberry-sugar mixture, diced apple or orange and walnuts. Pour into a 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce.

Pineapple Prune Scallop

- 2 cups (1 lb.) dried prunes
- 8 slices (No. 2½ can) canned pineapple, quartered
- ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 6 tablespoons Powdered milk
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons water

Cook prunes according to directions on package. Drain and cool. Remove pits. Drain pineapple well. Combine brown sugar, flour, Starlac Powder, ginger and cinnamon. Add butter; cut in with pastry blender to make crumbs. Alternate layers of prunes, pineapple and crumbs finishing with pineapple and crumbs, in a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle water over top. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until lightly browned, about 30 minutes. Serve with WHIPPED TOPPING, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Cereal Flake Fruit Cake Ideal For Gifts, Parties

The speed and ease of preparation of quick-made Cereal Flake White Fruit Cake will be a joy and delight to busy homemakers. Candied fruits, dried apricots, corn flakes, and nuts are combined with a white cake mix for the quickest fruit cake you have ever prepared.

Several fruit cakes are good insurance against unexpected guests or for extra gifts. A gaily decorated fruit cake may be the answer for a gift where a truly personal touch is important. Bake the fruit cakes several weeks ahead to allow them plenty of time to mellow. Wrap in moisture-proof saran for airtight storage.

Keep a loaf of Cereal Flake White Fruit Cake in the refrigerator during the holiday season. This will guarantee that you will be able to cut it into very thin slices.

Use the corn flakes just as they come from the package — no crushing is necessary. The ease of use is but one advantage of flavorful breakfast cereals when used as an ingredient. Flavor, texture, and the nutritional value of recipes are improved by the addition of breakfast cereals.

- 1 pound dried apricots, quartered
- 1 pound red, green, or white candied pineapple slices, cut into eighths
- ½ pound green candied cherries.
- ½ pound red candied cherries
- 3 cups pecan or walnut halves
- ½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 package (20 ounce) white cake mix
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 cups uncrushed corn flakes

Mix fruits, nuts, and flour together until fruit is flour coated. Empty white cake mix into beater bowl. Add salt, eggs, milk, and vanilla and beat at low speed until mixture is smooth and free of lumps (about 2 minutes). Stir in corn flakes. Blend fruit into mixture. Pack mix into 2 greased and paper lined loaf pans (8½x4½x2½ inches). Bake in a very slow oven (275 degrees F.) until done, about 2½ hours. Yield: 2 loaves.

Opening lead: Five of ♣.

The East of today's hand was aware that one swallow does not make a summer. He was equally convinced that one ruff would not beat the four heart contract. By shifting the line of attack he evolved a successful defense.

The game contract was reached in easy stages. After South's two over one response, North had sufficient strength to show his second suit at the three level. When South rebid the hearts, North raised to game.

West opened the five of clubs and altho it appeared likely to East that the lead was a singleton, there was grave doubt in his mind as to the propriety of returning the suit. One club ruff would not result in defeat of the contract unless West could also win two diamond tricks. West could hardly have A-K of diamonds for with such holding he would no doubt have opened the king of diamonds.

East therefore deferred the effort to give West a ruff in favor of returning the jack of diamonds. Declarer covered. Had he failed to do so East would then have shifted back to a club. West won with the ace and realized the futility of cashing the queen. While it is possible East has the jack and a small diamond, it is inconceivable that he could overruff dummy. West decided, therefore, that his best chance was to find partner with the 10 of diamonds. So he underled the queen and was rewarded for his enterprise when East held the trick and returned a club for the setting trick.

Prune-Peanut Delight delights with its lovely flavor and also because it's such an easy dessert. To wit: Take a jar of the ready-prepared prunes. Give the prunes a thick crest of ground peanuts and top with whipped cream dusted with nutmeg.

Some mannerisms can be very annoying.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Watch Out For Personal Faults

You may have faults that make it impossible for you to retain new friends. You can be sincere, warm and enthusiastic in your contacts, but if your mannerisms annoy others, you not only will discourage new friends, but lose old ones, as well.

Once a year it's wise to check yourself carefully and see if you've acquired any faults that escaped notice. Then, you can begin immediately to remedy them. Ask yourself:

1. Do you have a "big-name" complex? People who are too anxious to drop important names into the conversation, to let others know about Mrs. Famous and Count So-and-So, expose themselves to ridicule.

2. Are you a lip biter, face picker, hair twister, shoulder-strap hiker, nail-polish peeler, finger chewer, powder-puff pounder, face maker, hand waver, ring twirler, table drummer or nose puller? All of these annoying mannerisms detract from charm and poise, and are most distracting to your friends.

3. Do you "paw" your companions, touch their clothes, fuss with their jewelry, or hang on to their arm when you stop to talk to them? These habits make people actually "curl up inside." Make it a rule to keep your hands to yourself!

4. Do you constantly talk and brag about yourself and your accomplishments? Nothing is more boring and irritating. Boasting is also childish. Psychologists say it indicates "adolescent immaturity."

By observing others you can add to this collection of failings to guard against, and also bolster your own confidence.

Prunes, often called "the sunshine fruit," are unique in the contribution they make as a natural source of food elements essential to a good diet as we know it today. Being a wonderful source of quick energy, prunes are excellent for breakfast — providing a quick starter for body energy after the long night's fast.

Cranberry Apricot Salad

A Natural Mate For Lamb

- 1 (15-oz.) can whole apricots
- 1 package lemon flavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 cups Fresh Cranberries, ground

Drain apricots and add water to juice to equal 1½ cups. Heat 1 cup of this mixture to boiling and pour over lemon gelatin, sugar and salt in bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add remaining ½ cup of liquid and lemon juice. Chill until mixture starts to thicken. Pit and dice apricots and add to gelatin mixture with cranberries. Pour into lightly oiled 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. If desired, place several apricot halves in bottom of mold, stirring remaining diced apricots into salads as directed. When unmolded, apricots will show on top. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Wintertime Pie

Traditional during the holiday season, mince pie is always a favorite dessert. This unusual version, which is made with broiling foil, is rich and delicious. It is also easy to make and attractive to serve.

WINTERTIME PIE
(Serves 10)

Pastry for 9-inch pie shell
(In making pastry for this pie substitute 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice for liquid of recipe)
Heavyweight foil
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
6 tablespoons dry sherry
2 tablespoons rum or brandy
1½ cups mincemeat
2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 - 4 tablespoons sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Roll out pastry on a 14-inch square of quilted foil, about ⅛-inch thick and 10½-inches round. When quilted foil is used, pie crust does not stick, and no flour is necessary. Lift foil and pastry round together and place in pie plate. Press gently to fit, then trim off corners of foil. Flute edge of pastry. Prick bottom and sides of pastry with fork. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) about 13 minutes. Cool.

Soften gelatin in combined sherry and rum. Heat mincemeat thoroughly in double boiler over hot water until suet in mincemeat is melted. Stir in softened gelatin. Cool this mixture thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Beat egg whites until quite stiff, then gradually add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat until sugar is dissolved. If mincemeat is fairly sweet, use less than 4 tablespoons of sugar.

Gently fold meringue into cooled mincemeat mixture. Next, gently fold in whipped cream. Pile lightly into pie shell and refrigerate over night. Remove from refrigerator 20 minutes before serving.

Spanish Bake Excellent Heat And Eat Casserole

Special indeed is the main dish that's excellent eating, achieved with minimum effort. Spanish Bake, made of a combination of canned entrees, is the dish. To go with it make a favorite salad of canned grapefruit sections, thinly sliced apple and crisp greens. Both are made to order for leisurely living.

Spaghetti, chow mein, stews, chicken and tuna entrees — almost any of your favorite main dishes are canned and ready to heat and eat as they are, or with your own dash of additional seasoning.

SPANISH BAKE

1 can (1 lb.) Spanish style rice
1 can (1 lb.) tamales
Ripe olives

Empty Sanish style rice into a shallow baking dish. Remove parchment from tamales and arrange them in the center. Garnish with olives. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes until heated through. Four to five servings.

Christmas Cake

Gay as a tinsel-trimmed tree is this Christmas cake. Make it with a baker's uniced cake layer and top with a sauce that glistens with glazed fruit and nuts. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a small saucepan; add 1 tablespoon cornstarch and blend. Flavor with 1 tablespoon orange marmalade and 2 tablespoons lemon juice; add 1 cup chopped, mixed glazed fruit. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cook mixture until it becomes clear. Then stir 2 tablespoons slivered almonds into fruit mixture. Place a yellow or white 8-inch cake layer, purchased from your baker, on a baking sheet. Top with fruit-nut mixture, and heat in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 10 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream.

Parsley Dumplings Garnish The Soup

Oh that beautiful soup tureen! How wonderful to receive compliments on its beauty, but what it holds is even more important. A soup worthy of many compliments is this: In saucepan, combine 1 can (10¼ ounces) frozen condensed old-fashioned vegetable with beef soup, 1 can (10½ ounces) frozen condensed green pea with ham soup and 1½ soup cans water. Heat, stirring now and then. Meanwhile, make the dumplings: In small bowl, lightly blend ¼ cup packaged biscuit mix, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, and 1 tablespoon milk. Drop small amounts of dough from tip of a teaspoon into simmering soup. Cook for 5 minutes; cover and cook another 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Add to creamed mixture. Mix well. Stir in prunes and nut meats. Pour into greased 9"x5"x3" loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 60-70 minutes. Slice when cold.

* Prunes were soaked in cold water over night. The soaking water was the prune juice used in this recipe.

Cranberry Orange Relish

A natural mate for Meat.
4 cups (1 lb.) fresh cranberries
2 oranges, quartered (seeds removed)
2 cups sugar

Put cranberries and oranges (including the rind) through the food grinder (coarse blade). Stir in the sugar and chill. Makes 2 pints. Keeps well for weeks stored in the refrigerator.

Delightful Variations . . .

Use cored apple and ⅛ of a lemon instead of the oranges . . . or, sweeten the cranberry-orange mixture with honey; 1 cupful in place of the sugar will be enough.

NOTE: 4 tablespoons sucaryl solution may be substituted for sugar, if desired.

Prune Puff

2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup finely cut, cooked prunes

Put water and Pet Instant into a cold 1-qt. bowl. Beat with cold rotary beater by hand, or with electric beater at high speed, until mixture stands in soft peaks. Gradually beat in lemon juice, sugar and salt until stiff. Fold in prunes. Spoon into 4 dessert dishes. Garnish with additional pieces of prune, if desired. Chill about 30 min. before serving. Makes 4 servings. 116 calories in 1 serving.

Canned Beef Gravy Good Noble December Eating

It's December . . . the month of noble eating!

With the advent of cold weather, all appetites demand heartier foods and dishes made with mouth-watering goodness. Canned beef gravy adds to this goodness, especially when it's part of a gourmet dish. Thinly sliced veal is the meat. When combined with celery and green pepper, then slowly and tenderly cooked in luscious, low-calorie canned beef gravy, you've a recipe to be loved, in noble November or busy December!

Your table will take on party manners when you serve veal delight with a tossed salad, using either fresh or marinated leftover vegetables, and for dessert a lovely, light snow pudding. Top this if you wish with canned green peach slices. Aand don't forget the pot of hot coffee.

Try veal delight made this way:

Veal Delight

1 pound thinly sliced veal
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
1 bay leaf
1 can (10¾ ounces) beef gravy
¼ cup sour cream
Buttered cooked noodles

In skillet, brown veal in butter. Add onion, celery, green pepper, garlic, bay leaf, and gravy. Cover; cook over low heat about 30 minutes. Just before serving, stir in sour cream. Serve with buttered noodles. Makes 4 servings.

Jiffy Christmas Bread

¼ cup soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 (5-ounce) loaves Brown 'n Serve French bread

Combine butter, green pepper, pimiento, onion and lemon juice. Slice bread, diagonally into ¾-inch slices, being careful not to cut through bottom crust. Spread bread slices with butter mixture. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 12 minutes, or until golden brown.

Yield: 10 servings (2 slices each).

Cranberry Nut Bread

An all-time favorite.
2 cups all-purpose sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup orange juice
1 T. grated orange rind
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Combine orange juice and grated rind with well beaten egg. Pour all at once into dry ingredients, mixing just enough to dampen. Carefully fold in chopped nuts and cranberries. Spoon into greased loaf pan (9x5x3). Spread corners and sides slightly higher than center. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. about 1 hour . . . until crust is golden brown and toothpick inserted comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

Cranlilli

A natural mate for Frankfurters.
2 large green peppers
3 medium-sized onions
2 cups (½ lb.) fresh cranberries
½ cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup vinegar

Put peppers, onions and cranberries through coarse blade of food chopper. Add remaining ingredients and simmer gently for 20 to 30 minutes. Pack in sterilized jars and seal immediately. Makes 1 pint. Delicious with hot dogs, hamburgers or cold sliced meat.

Moose Lodge Plans Holiday Activities

Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose will distribute between 40 and 50 Christmas baskets to needy members and other needy families the day before Christmas.

Moose Governor Donald Lilya said last night that a committee headed by William Winters will begin packing the baskets next Tuesday night.

On December 24, the annual kiddies party for children of the Moose will be held at the Moose Home from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Santa Claus is scheduled for an appearance to distribute a Christmas treat and there will be a movie and entertainment. The party is limited to the younger children of members. Joseph McFarland is chairman of arrangements.

The lodge has also made plans for its annual New Year Eve dance. Music will be furnished by Joe Niland and the Four Kings and reservations may be made now. Attendance will be limited to exactly 100 couples and ticket will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis. William Winters and Thomas Hebb are co-chairmen.

The Moose Home will be closed all day on Christmas.

Sweetheart Dance Slated February 14

The Flintstone Future Homemakers of America Club will hold its annual Sweetheart Dance February 14 at Flintstone High School.

Plans for the event were made at a meeting of the club Wednesday afternoon.

Members were assigned by Joyce Roland, president, to committees to stage the dance. They include decorations, food, clean up, nomination, crown and invitation committees.

Miss Jean Sterbutzel, faculty advisor, was asked to select the band for the dance.

During the session, Joyce Clites, needy basket committee chairman, reported on plans for providing a Christmas basket for a needy family.

The club also voted to donate $10 to the Robert Heavner family, whose home on Town Creek Road was destroyed by fire last Saturday.

Members of the Junior Class were in charge of the program which included a panel discussion on the behavior of teenagers.

Participating were Eugene Harris, instructor; William Brake, assistant principal; Mrs. Mollie Smith, club mother, and Joyce Roland, president, Marie Davis was the narrator.

Refreshments were served by the Junior Class, assisted by Mrs. Mollie Smith and Mrs. Audra Kifer, club mothers.

Infirmary Yule Party Is Arranged

A Christmas program will be held Saturday afternoon for patients at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Arrangements for the program are being made by Raymond "Ike" Law, sick committee chairman of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus.

A number of Christmas selections will be sung by the Casey Chorus comprised of members of the Knights of Columbus Council here.

Rev. Arthur Bastress, assistant pastor at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, will direct the chorus. Mr. Law said students of a local dance studio will also entertain the patients.

A highlight of the program, which will begin at 2 p. m., will be the crowning of Mrs. Mary Ellen "Molly" Trimble, the oldest woman patient at the infirmary, as queen of the afternoon's affair. She formerly lived at Frostburg.

She will be celebrating her 93rd birthday on January 7 having been born in 1866. The patients will be presented a treat by Mr. Law during the program.

Education Plan

Mr. Raver noted, that Maryland keep its teaching salaries in line with other states, since there is a nation-wide shortage of teachers and recruitment becomes more difficult and competitive each year. He observed that Maryland will need 4,500 new teachers next year. Of this number 3,100 will be replacements for those who retire, enter other fields or move to other areas. About 1,400 will be needed to man new classrooms in the state, he declared.

Maryland, he said, ranks 11th among states in per capita income. Yet, the state ranks 40th in current expenditures for public education from state and local tax sources.

Maryland ranks 25th in estimated per cent of public school revenue receipts from state sources, and 18th in estimated expenditures per pupil.

The state, he continued ranks 33rd in number of school years completed by persons 25 years of age and older, and it ranks 32nd in the percent of Selective Service registrants disqualified by mental tests in 1956.

Thus, he declared, Maryland needs to take forward steps to provide "quality education for our children," and such steps mean greater costs.

He said the MSTA and PTA had not offered any suggestions or solutions to the legislators for raising additional funds, but believe that under the whole program, it will not be necessary to increase local taxes to finance the need for additional school funds.

There was considerable discussion by those present and members of the legislature asked Mr. Raver several pertinent questions pertaining to the proposal.

Also present were Miss Jean R. Moser, Hagerstown, president of the MSTA, and James Llewellyn, Timonium, vice president of the Maryland Congress PTA. Miss Mary E. Murray, ACTA president, introduced the guests and presented the speakers. Dr. W. Ardell Haines offered the invocation and benediction.

VFW Plans Kids' Party

The sixth annual Christmas party for children of Cumberland will be held on Saturday afternoon by Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Harry Reiber, commander, said last night that the party will begin about noon and last until about 5 o'clock. The children will be treated to a turkey dinner with vegetables, candy and fruit.

The meal will be prepared by the Auxiliary Unit which is co-sponsor of the afternoon program which will include a visit from Santa Claus.

The second floor meeting hall has been appropriately decorated with a large Christmas tree and yule trimmings. Guy Smith is chairman of the program and will be assisted by post officers and auxiliary members. A program of music will provide entertainment for the youngsters.

Some snails can remain apparently dead for years without the need for food, and then revive and live as though they had been eating just as usual all that time.

Kaiser Company Gets W.Va. Bid For Aluminum

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Sales Co. of Chicago has been awarded a $35,560 contract to provide aluminum for next year's West Virginia motor vehicle license plates, it was announced Thursday.

The contract was awarded by the purchasing division of the Department of Finance and Administration on a bid submitted Tuesday. It was about $2,000 higher than Aluminum Co. of America's figure, but Alcoa did not meet specifications for a thin aluminum plate.

State officials estimated that it would have cost $10,500 more annually to mail plates made from the heavier aluminum provided in Alcoa's bid.

West Virginia will be switching from steel for the first time with next year's plates. However, it was estimated 650,000 tags will be made with the same equipment used in the past at the state penitentiary.

It was announced earlier that next year's tags — covering the year beginning July 1 — would be red and white.

Former Judge Dies In Clarksburg

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)— Haymond Maxwell, 79, a former judge of the West Virginia Supreme Court, died at his home here Thursday after an extended illness.

The Harrison County Republican was elected to the high court in 1928 and served through 1940 before returning here where he entered a private law practice.

A life-long resident of Clarksburg, Maxwell was the son of Edwin Maxwell who also served on the state supreme court from 1868-72, his term beginning just five years after West Virginia became a state.

33 Persons Register For County Votes

There have been 33 new registrations at the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors office since the county voting books were reopened on November 20, Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar and chief clerk, said yesterday.

The new registrations are for 14 Republicans and 19 Democrats, Mr. Neat said. They include 15 females and 18 males, and came from Oldtown, Corriganville, Frostburg, Midland and Cumberland.

The county voting ledgers officially were closed on September 22, 45 days prior to the general election on November 4. They were reopened for new registrations and changes of address or affiliations 15 days after the election.

When the books closed last September there were 37,623 eligible voters on the county list, including 37,239 white persons, 383 Negroes and one person of yellow extraction.

Some 16,071 are Democrats, 8,356 males and 7,715 females, and 21,284 Republicans, 10,786 males and 10,498 females. There are 179 males and 77 females registered as independents with no party affiliation for a total of 256.

The new registrants bring the county voting total to 37,656.

Mr. Neat explained the Board of Election Supervisors office is opened Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 o'clock. On Saturday the office is open from 9 a.m. until noon. Officials there will handle all new registrations and changes which now may be dersired by county residents, he said.

Some mannerisms can be very annoying.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Watch Out For Personal Faults

You may have faults that make it impossible for you to retain new friends. You can be sincere, warm and enthusiastic in your contacts, but if your mannerisms annoy others, you not only will discourage new friends, but lose old ones, as well.

Once a year it's wise to check yourself carefully and see if you've acquired any faults that escaped notice. Then, you can begin immediately to remedy them. Ask yourself:

1. Do you have a "big-name" complex? People who are too anxious to drop important names into the conversation, to let others know about Mrs. Famous and Count So-and-So, expose themselves to ridicule.

2. Are you a lip biter, face picker, hair twister, shoulder-strap hiker, nail-polish peeler, finger chewer, powder-puff pounder, face maker, hand waver, ring twirler, table drummer or nose puller? All of these annoying mannerisms detract from charm and poise, and are most distracting to your friends.

3. Do you "paw" your companions, touch their clothes, fuss with their jewelry, or hang on to their arm when you stop to talk to them? These habits make people actually "curl up inside." Make it a rule to keep your hands to yourself!

4. Do you constantly talk and brag about yourself and your accomplishments? Nothing is more boring and irritating. Boasting is also childish. Psychologists say it indicates "adolescent immaturity."

By observing others you can add to this collection of failings to guard against, and also bolster your own confidence.

Prunes, often called "the sunshine fruit," are unique in the contribution they make as a natural source of food elements essential to a good diet as we know it today. Being a wonderful source of quick energy, prunes are excellent for breakfast — providing a quick starter for body energy after the long night's fast.

Cranberry Apricot Salad

A Natural Mate For Lamb

- 1 (15-oz.) can whole apricots
- 1 package lemon flavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 cups Fresh Cranberries, ground

Drain apricots and add water to juice to equal 1½ cups. Heat 1 cup of this mixture to boiling and pour over lemon gelatin, sugar and salt in bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add remaining ½ cup of liquid and lemon juice. Chill until mixture starts to thicken. Pit and dice apricots and add to gelatin mixture with cranberries. Pour into lightly oiled 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. If desired, place several apricot halves in bottom of mold, stirring remaining diced apricots into salads as directed. When unmolded, apricots will show on top. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Wintertime Pie

Traditional during the holiday season, mince pie is always a favorite dessert. This unusual version, which is made with broiling foil, is rich and delicious. It is also easy to make and attractive to serve.

WINTERTIME PIE
(Serves 10)

Pastry for 9-inch pie shell
(In making pastry for this pie substitute 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice for liquid of recipe)
Heavyweight foil
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
6 tablespoons dry sherry
2 tablespoons rum or brandy
1½ cups mincemeat
2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 - 4 tablespoons sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Roll out pastry on a 14-inch square of quilted foil, about ⅛-inch thick and 10½-inches round. When quilted foil is used, pie crust does not stick, and no flour is necessary. Lift foil and pastry round together and place in pie plate. Press gently to fit, then trim off corners of foil. Flute edge of pastry. Prick bottom and sides of pastry with fork. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) about 13 minutes. Cool.

Soften gelatin in combined sherry and rum. Heat mincemeat thoroughly in double boiler over hot water until suet in mincemeat is melted. Stir in softened gelatin. Cool this mixture thoroughly, stirring occasionally. Beat egg whites until quite stiff, then gradually add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat until sugar is dissolved. If mincemeat is fairly sweet, use less than 4 tablespoons of sugar.

Gently fold meringue into cooled mincemeat mixture. Next, gently fold in whipped cream. Pile lightly into pie shell and refrigerate over night. Remove from refrigerator 20 minutes before serving.

Spanish Bake Excellent Heat And Eat Casserole

Special indeed is the main dish that's excellent eating, achieved with minimum effort. Spanish Bake, made of a combination of canned entrees, is the dish. To go with it make a favorite salad of canned grapefruit sections, thinly sliced apple and crisp greens. Both are made to order for leisurely living.

Spaghetti, chow mein, stews, chicken and tuna entrees — almost any of your favorite main dishes are canned and ready to heat and eat as they are, or with your own dash of additional seasoning.

SPANISH BAKE

1 can (1 lb.) Spanish style rice
1 can (1 lb.) tamales
Ripe olives

Empty Sanish style rice into a shallow baking dish. Remove parchment from tamales and arrange them in the center. Garnish with olives. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes until heated through. Four to five servings.

Parsley Dumplings Garnish The Soup

Oh that beautiful soup tureen! How wonderful to receive compliments on its beauty, but what it holds is even more important. A soup worthy of many compliments is this: In saucepan, combine 1 can (10¼ ounces) frozen condensed old-fashioned vegetable with beef soup, 1 can (10½ ounces) frozen condensed green pea with ham soup and 1½ soup cans water. Heat, stirring now and then. Meanwhile, make the dumplings: In small bowl, lightly blend ¼ cup packaged biscuit mix, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, and 1 tablespoon milk. Drop small amounts of dough from tip of a teaspoon into simmering soup. Cook for 5 minutes; cover and cook another 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Christmas Cake

Gay as a tinsel-trimmed tree is this Christmas cake. Make it with a baker's uniced cake layer and top with a sauce that glistens with glazed fruit and nuts. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a small saucepan; add 1 tablespoon cornstarch and blend. Flavor with 1 tablespoon orange marmalade and 2 tablespoons lemon juice; add 1 cup chopped, mixed glazed fruit. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Cook mixture until it becomes clear. Then stir 2 tablespoons slivered almonds into fruit mixture. Place a yellow or white 8-inch cake layer, purchased from your baker, on a baking sheet. Top with fruit-nut mixture, and heat in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 10 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream.

To save wear and tear on your tablecloths, change the way in which you fold them each time. This prevents continued creasing in one place.

Since mascara is soluble in water, most of such stains on towels will come out during the regular session in the washing machine.

ON THE LINE

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There's a story going the rounds in newspaperless New York that the head of the news and special events department of a big network, learning there had been a murder on Park Avenue, rang for his most famous news commentator and barked, "You're assigned to this story. Get cracking. Call the police."

The great commentator looked down at the rug.

"I don't know their number," he said.

A well known TV newsman, with an extensive newspaper and wire service background, put it this way:

"The good Lord certainly has looked fondly on our media since the papers went on strike. We're just not equipped to get out on the street and cover a story — a big fire or flood or some other catastrophe — or a story that demands a lot of leg work and digging."

The President's new budget is expected to hit the 78 billion dollar mark.

That's another way of saying that during the coming fiscal year we'll spend 5200 times as much as we spent on the Louisiana Purchase — out of which we carved 14 of the richest states in the union. Or, to put it another way, well over 10,000 times as much as we paid for Alaska, out of which we have taken nearly a billion in gold alone.

We'll spend as much this year as we would have spent if the United States had been founded at the time of the birth of Christ and had cost some $40,000,000 annually to operate through all those ages.

Peace is expensive. A single segment of peace-guarding, the B52G, for example.

It flies 650 miles per hour and higher than 50,000 feet. Its eight jet engines produce the power of 30 diesel locomotives. Its gas tanks hold more fuel than three railroad tank cars. It can fly 6,000 miles without refueling, or nonstop halfway around the world on a single air refueling. It can hold in its bomb bay more destruction than was visited on all lands by all adversaries in World War II, and in addition is now armed with two Hound Dog guided missiles, supersonic jobs, nuclear-tipped, which can be flung against a target while the B52 is still hundreds of miles away.

The B52 is 156 feet long, has a wing span longer than the Wrights' first flight. Its tail stands nearly as tall as a five-story building.

And with all the "luxuries," it costs about $10,000,000.

Peanuts, of course, compared to the 78 billion dollars or slavery. But dear at that.

Aluminum License Tags Clear Hurdle

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The switch from steel to aluminum license plates for vehicles in West Virginia apparently has received official sanction.

Public Institutions Commissioner Harold E. Neely said Wednesdays his objection to the change had been removed with the agreement that the plates would still be made on an annual basis.

Motor Vehicles head Hubert A. Kelly previously had said the new aluminum plates would be issued only every two years with a small tab for the first renewal.

However, Neely said this would idle machinery and manpower at the Moundsville Penitentiary where the plates are made and offset any savings that Kelly might achieve.

Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., submitted an apparent low bid of $34,560 Tuesday for supplying 90,000 pounds of aluminum for the plates. A lower bid was received from the Aluminum Corp., of America but the type of aluminum offered did not meet specifications.

B&O Reports Nov. Income Of $906,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported November net income was about $906,000, or about half that for the same month of 1957.

President Howard E. Simpson said operating revenues last month totaled about $33,264,000, a drop of 10 per cent under the 1957 months. Operating expenses of about $27,256,000 were 11 per cent below a year ago.

Net income for the first 11 months of 1958 was estimated at $15,739,000, down 31 per cent from the like period of 1957. Operating expenses were about $351,688,000 a drop of 18 per cent. Operating expenses of $282,027,000 were 18 per cent under the 1957 figure.

TV Gives Clue

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI)—Police looking for a suspected wife-killer received unexpected help from television Thursday When the Nagoya television station showed a police roundup of vagrants in Tokyo, the brother of strangled Myyoko Muto spotted the victim s missing husband among them. Police jumped on the clue and narrowed their search to Tokyo's vagrant homes where they expected to find Shuichi Muto suspected of killing Miyoko five weeks ago.

HULA STOPS HEART

BERLIN (UPI)— Ernest Gruse, 61-year-old West Berline., gaily twirled a hula hoop Thursday before a group of friends in a local cafe. Then he fell dead of a heart attack as he left the cafe.

Moose Lodge Plans Holiday Activities

Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose will distribute between 40 and 50 Christmas baskets to needy members and other needy families the day before Christmas.

Moose Governor Donald Lilya said last night that a committee headed by William Winters will begin packing the baskets next Tuesday night.

On December 24, the annual kiddies party for children of the Moose will be held at the Moose Home from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Santa Claus is scheduled for an appearance to distribute a Christmas treat and there will be a movie and entertainment. The party is limited to the younger children of members. Joseph McFarland is chairman of arrangements.

The lodge has also made plans for its annual New Year Eve dance. Music will be furnished by Joe Niland and the Four Kings and reservations may be made now. Attendance will be limited to exactly 100 couples and ticket will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis. William Winters and Thomas Hebb are co-chairmen.

The Moose Home will be closed all day on Christmas.

Sweetheart Dance Slated February 14

The Flintstone Future Homemakers of America Club will hold its annual Sweetheart Dance February 14 at Flintstone High School.

Plans for the event were made at a meeting of the club Wednesday afternoon.

Members were assigned by Joyce Roland, president, to committees to stage the dance. They include decorations, food, clean up, nomination, crown and invitation committees.

Miss Jean Sterbutzel, faculty advisor, was asked to select the band for the dance.

During the session, Joyce Clites, needy basket committee chairman, reported on plans for providing a Christmas basket for a needy family.

The club also voted to donate $10 to the Robert Heavner family, whose home on Town Creek Road was destroyed by fire last Saturday.

Members of the Junior Class were in charge of the program which included a panel discussion on the behavior of teenagers.

Participating were Eugene Harris, instructor; William Brake, assistant principal; Mrs. Mollie Smith, club mother, and Joyce Roland, president, Marie Davis was the narrator.

Refreshments were served by the Junior Class, assisted by Mrs. Mollie Smith and Mrs. Audra Kifer, club mothers.

Infirmary Yule Party Is Arranged

A Christmas program will be held Saturday afternoon for patients at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Arrangements for the program are being made by Raymond "Ike" Law, sick committee chairman of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus.

A number of Christmas selections will be sung by the Casey Chorus comprised of members of the Knights of Columbus Council here.

Rev. Arthur Bastress, assistant pastor at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, will direct the chorus. Mr. Law said students of a local dance studio will also entertain the patients.

A highlight of the program, which will begin at 2 p. m., will be the crowning of Mrs. Mary Ellen "Molly" Trimble, the oldest woman patient at the infirmary, as queen of the afternoon's affair. She formerly lived at Frostburg.

She will be celebrating her 93rd birthday on January 7 having been born in 1866. The patients will be presented a treat by Mr. Law during the program.

Education Plan

Mr. Raver noted, that Maryland keep its teaching salaries in line with other states, since there is a nation-wide shortage of teachers and recruitment becomes more difficult and competitive each year. He observed that Maryland will need 4,500 new teachers next year. Of this number 3,100 will be replacements for those who retire, enter other fields or move to other areas. About 1,400 will be needed to man new classrooms in the state, he declared.

Maryland, he said, ranks 11th among states in per capita income. Yet, the state ranks 40th in current expenditures for public education from state and local tax sources.

Maryland ranks 25th in estimated per cent of public school revenue receipts from state sources, and 18th in estimated expenditures per pupil.

The state, he continued ranks 33rd in number of school years completed by persons 25 years of age and older, and it ranks 32nd in the percent of Selective Service registrants disqualified by mental tests in 1956.

Thus, he declared, Maryland needs to take forward steps to provide "quality education for our children," and such steps mean greater costs.

He said the MSTA and PTA had not offered any suggestions or solutions to the legislators for raising additional funds, but believe that under the whole program, it will not be necessary to increase local taxes to finance the need for additional school funds.

There was considerable discussion by those present and members of the legislature asked Mr. Raver several pertinent questions pertaining to the proposal.

Also present were Miss Jean R. Moser, Hagerstown, president of the MSTA, and James Llewellyn, Timonium, vice president of the Maryland Congress PTA. Miss Mary E. Murray, ACTA president, introduced the guests and presented the speakers. Dr. W. Ardell Haines offered the invocation and benediction.

Ellen Olinger Crowned Queen Of Snowflakes

FROSTBURG — Ellen Olinger, a sophomore at Frostburg State Teachers College, was crowned queen of the Snowflake Ball and reigned for the evening with the following court: Anne Lassetter, Mary Wheeler, Delores Vetter and Judith Ritchie. The dance was held at the Frostburg National Guard Armory from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. with music being furnished by Jimmy Young's Nu Tones.

The committee in charge of the election of the queen was headed by Alice Gaither and included Martha Zimmerman, Anne Schwanebeck and William Ravenscroft.

Other committees included: decoration — Lunn Tracy, chairman; Robert Branson, Terry Hall, Carolyn Brooks, Marvin Vann, Carol Raines, Susan Wilson and David Eyler.

Heading the program committee was Laurel Bachetti, assisted by Rita Benson, Anne Baker, Helen Hoover, Barbara Tompkins, Judy Burrell. Crowns were taken care of by Joy Swett, Joyce Tharp and Jane Duling.

Invitations — Carole Remesch, chairman; Lois Spring, and Marilyn Hitchcock. Publicity was handled by Linda Allen, Russell Heyde, Barbara Glotfelty, Ellen Olinger and Eleanor Minke.

VFW Plans Kids' Party

The sixth annual Christmas party for children of Cumberland will be held on Saturday afternoon by Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Harry Reiber, commander, said last night that the party will begin about noon and last until about 5 o'clock. The children will be treated to a turkey dinner with vegetables, candy and fruit.

The meal will be prepared by the Auxiliary Unit which is cosponsor of the afternoon program which will include a visit from Santa Claus.

The second floor meeting hall has been appropriately decorated with a large Christmas tree and yule trimmings. Guy Smith is chairman of the program and will be assisted by post officers and auxiliary members. A program of music will provide entertainment for the youngsters.

Some snails can remain apparently dead for years without the need for food, and then revive and live as though they had been eating just as usual all that time.

Kaiser Company Gets W.Va. Bid For Aluminum

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Sales Co. of Chicago has been awarded a $35,560 contract to provide aluminum for next year's West Virginia motor vehicle license plates, it was announced Thursday.

The contract was awarded by the purchasing division of the Department of Finance and Administration on a bid submitted Tuesday. It was about $2,000 higher than Aluminum Co. of America's figure, but Alcoa did not meet specifications for a thin aluminum plate.

State officials estimated that it would have cost $10,500 more annually to mail plates made from the heavier aluminum provided in Alcoa's bid.

West Virginia will be switching from steel for the first time with next year's plates. However, it was estimated 650,000 tags will be made with the same equipment used in the past at the state penitentiary.

It was announced earlier that next year's tags — covering the year beginning July 1 — would be red and white.

Former Judge Dies In Clarksburg

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—Haymond Maxwell, 79, a former judge of the West Virginia Supreme Court, died at his home here Thursday after an extended illness.

The Harrison County Republican was elected to the high court in 1928 and served through 1940 before returning here where he entered a private law practice.

A life-long resident of Clarksburg, Maxwell was the son of Edwin Maxwell who also served on the state supreme court from 1866-72, his term beginning just five years after West Virginia became a state.

33 Persons Register For County Votes

There have been 33 new registrations at the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors office since the county voting books were reopened on November 20, Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar and chief clerk, said yesterday.

The new registrations are for 14 Republicans and 19 Democrats, Mr. Neat said. They include 15 females and 18 males, and came from Oldtown, Corriganville, Frostburg, Midland and Cumberland.

The county voting ledgers officially were closed on September 22, 45 days prior to the general election on November 4. They were reopened for new registrations and changes of address or affiliations 15 days after the election.

When the books closed last September there were 37,623 eligible voters on the county list, including 37,239 white persons, 383 Negroes and one person of yellow extraction.

Some 16,071 are Democrats, 8,356 males and 7,715 females, and 21,284 Republicans, 10,786 males and 10,498 females. There are 179 males and 77 females registered as independents with no party affiliation for a total of 256.

The new registrants bring the county voting total to 37,656.

Mr. Neat explained the Board of Election Supervisors office is opened Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 o'clock. On Saturday the office is open from 9 a.m. until noon. Officials there will handle all new registrations and changes which now may be desired by county residents, he said.

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There's a story going the rounds in newspaperless New York that the head of the news and special events department of a big network, learning there had been a murder on Park Avenue, rang for his most famous news commentator and barked, "You're assigned to this story. Get cracking. Call the police."

The great commentator looked down at the rug.

"I don't know their number," he said.

A well known TV newsman, with an extensive newspaper and wire service background, put it this way:

"The good Lord certainly has looked fondly on our media since the papers went on strike. We're just not equipped to get out on the street and cover a story — a big fire or flood or some other catastrophe — or a story that demands a lot of leg work and digging."

The President's new budget is expected to hit the 78 billion dollar mark.

That's another way of saying that during the coming fiscal year we'll spend 5200 times as much as we spent on the Louisiana Purchase — out of which we carved 14 of the richest states in the union. Or, to put it another way, well over 10,000 times as much as we paid for Alaska, out of which we have taken nearly a billion in gold alone.

We'll spend as much this year as we would have spent if the United States had been founded at the time of the birth of Christ and had cost some $40,000,000 annually to operate through all those ages.

Peace is expensive. A single segment of peace-guarding, the B52G, for example.

It flies 650 miles per hour and higher than 50,000 feet. Its eight jet engines produce the power of 30 diesel locomotives. Its gas tanks hold more fuel than three railroad tank cars. It can fly 6,000 miles without refueling, or nonstop halfway around the world on a single air refueling. It can hold in its bomb bay more destruction than was visited on all lands by all adversaries in World War II, and in addition is now armed with two Hound Dog guided missiles, supersonic jobs, nuclear-tipped, which can be flung against a target while the B52 is still hundreds of miles away.

The B52 is 156 feet long, has a wing span longer than the Wrights' first flight. Its tail stands nearly as tall as a five-story building.

And with all the "luxuries," it costs about $10,000,000.

Peanuts, of course, compared to the 78 billion dollars or slavery. But dear at that.

Motor Vehicles head Hubert A. Kelly previously had said the new aluminum plates would be issued only every two years with a small tab for the first renewal.

However, Neely said this would idle machinery and manpower at the Moundsville Penitentiary where the plates are made and offset any savings that Kelly might achieve.

Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., submitted an apparent low bid of $34,560 Tuesday for supplying 90,000 pounds of aluminum for the plates. A lower bid was received from the Aluminum Corp., of America but the type of aluminum offered did not meet specifications.

Celanese Lists Changes In Personnel

The transfer of two supervisory employes of the Celanese Corporation to the extrusion manufacturing section of the Amcelle plant here has been announced by E. James Scott, superintendent of the section.

They are Garner R. Morgan, who comes here from the firm's Celco plant, and Newman B. Miller, who had been assigned with the Canadian Chemical Company at Edmonton. Morgan has been assigned the position of area supervisor, while Miller has been named general foreman of the bobbin and spun stores department.

Morgan joined the staff of the Celco plant as an analytical chemist in 1949 and worked there two years before being called into the armed forces for a two-year tour of duty with Army. He is a graduate of Concord College and attended the graduate school at West Virginia University.

Morgan holds membership in the American Chemical Society, Lions Club and was recruitment chairman for the blood program in Giles County, Va. His wife and only child will join him here in the near future.

Miller also began his Celanese career at Celco, joining the extrusion manufacturing department in 1941. He was transferred to the Celriver plant in South Carolina in 1948 and he was assistant general foreman of the extrusion department for four years before going to the Canadian plant.

He and his wife and two sons are residing at 407 Washington Street.

Bids On Generator, Post Office Asked

The State Roads Commission is advertising for bids for an emergency generator for its District 6 office on Braddock Road and for the purchase of the former Flintstone post office.

Bids on the generator will be opened December 23 at noon in the Baltimore SRC offices.

Bids must be submitted that day for the purchase of the former post office located on the former Nan R. Wigfield property on Route 40 at Flintstone. The 18 by 30 foot building must be removed within 30 days. The site is needed for the Flintstone bypass.

B&O Rail Traffic Up

The recovery in traffic hauled on the Baltimore and Ohio since August has not been steady, although there has been a general improvement, Howard E. Simpson, president, said in a report to employes.

This tendency, he noted, reflects a pattern which has characterized much of the nation's economy since the recession.

B&O's showing in October, he added, illustrates this fluctuating trend. For that month, traffic fell below the September level. Work stoppages in the auto and coal industries were found mainly responsible.

Average daily carloadings in October were 8,399, compared with 8,536 for September and 9,793 for October a year ago. For November the company reported a daily average of 8,623 cars, better than for October and September, but down 5.6 per cent from 9,138 a year earlier. The last figure, it was noted, points up clearly the extent B&O's business, despite recent improvement, is still falling behind that of last year.

Despite these setbacks, Simpson said, the company "can face the future with more optimism than at this time last year."

Frostburg Radio Station Will Start Saturday

A new radio station for the Cumberland area, broadcasting on 740 kilocycles and 250 watts, will begin operation Saturday at 10 a. m. in Frostburg.

Spokesmen for Station WFRB said interviews will be broadcast from Bob's Radio shop between political, religious and community leaders during the initial program. Due to a restricted time element, no schedule was announced.

The station, under construction for several months, has its transmitter and tower local on Little Savage Mountain about one-half mile north of Route 40 on Finzel Road.

Station WFRB is owned and operated by D. C. Loughry, Vandergrift, Pa., formerly of Kitzmiller. He has had 15 years' experience in radio work and will act as chief engineer for the operation.

Associated with him is Robert Kerr, Frostburg, who will be program director. Kerr is a graduate of the Gateway School of Radio Arts, Pittsburgh, and was formerly affiliated with Station WKYR at Keyser as news director.

Others on the staff are James Raines of Race Farm, Route 40, new director, who was formerly associated with Station WMGM at Meadville, Pa., and Cecil Grove, Frostburg, sales manager.

Kerr said the station will present a variety of programming with emphasis on news and music. "For the time being, and during a testing period, the station will be operated on a restricted time basis," he added.

Moorefield Lions To Aid Co-Op Group

The Moorefield Lions Club has agreed to sponsor and assist in the sale of preferred stock of the Rockingham Poultry Marketing Cooperative.

The purpose of the sale is to raise capital for the conversion of the Moorefield plant to meet federal inspection requirements.

A spokesman for the company informed members of the Lions Club that the cooperative has been in Moorefield and Hardy County for 15 years, providing a payroll for 100 to 165 persons and has purchased millions of dollars worth of broilers and turkeys from Hardy County farmers during this period without asking for any financial support.

The conversion of the Moorefield plant, according to figures presented by Victor Pringle, general manager of the cooperative, will require in the neighborhood of $50,000, to meet requirements for the mandatory federal inspection January 1.

The Moorefield plant will be closed for the conversion for six to eight weeks.

H. G. Muntzing, one of the directors of the cooperative and a member of the Lions Club, said the sale of stock was not a gift, loan or donation, but was a sound investment. He pointed out that the preferred stock had paid six per cent dividends for the past 18 years and that with increasing demands for poultry products there is no reason to assume that it would not continue.

Muntzing also pointed out that the purchase of shares of preferred stock was an investment in the entire Rockingham operation and not in the Moorefield plant alone.

It was pointed out at the Lions Club meeting that the continued operation of the plant is of vital importance to the broiler raisers and producers in the Moorefield area because the Rockingham plant provides a market for birds locally and that the number of independent buyers was decreasing steadily.

Man Fined $100 For Killing Turkey

A local man found out yesterday that shooting a turkey out of season can be an expensive act.

The man, William P. Wigger, this city, was fined $100 and costs this morning by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick who found him guilty of two game violations.

Wigger entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of hunting game during deer season, and indicated he would appeal the $50 fine. He pleaded guilty to shooting game from an automobile.

The man was arrested by a game warden during deer season for killing a turkey on Town Hill.

Local Man Given Term For Larceny

Joseph Biggs, 22, of 30 Lyons Street, was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man after finding him guilty of petit larceny.

Biggs was charged Wednesday by Det. Lt. James E. Van of the City Police for the theft of a rifle owned by Raymond Morral, Messick Road.

Lt. Van and Det. Thomas See said the rifle was taken from Morral's pickup truck while it was parked on Gay Street.

Bids On Generator, Post Office Asked

The State Roads Commission is advertising for bids for an emergency generator for its District 6 office on Braddock Road and for the purchase of the former Flintstone post office.

Bids on the generator will be opened December 23 at noon in the Baltimore SRC offices.

Bids must be submitted that day for the purchase of the former post office located on the former Nan R. Wigfield property on Route 40 at Flintstone. The 18 by 30 foot building must be removed within 30 days. The site is needed for the Flintstone bypass.

B&O Rail Traffic Up

The recovery in traffic hauled on the Baltimore and Ohio since August has not been steady, although there has been a general improvement, Howard E. Simpson, president, said in a report to employes.

This tendency, he noted, reflects a pattern which has characterized much of the nation's economy since the recession.

B&O's showing in October, he added, illustrates this fluctuating trend. For that month, traffic fell below the September level. Work stoppages in the auto and coal industries were found mainly responsible.

Average daily carloadings in October were 8,399, compared with 8,536 for September and 9,793 for October a year ago. For November the company reported a daily average of 8,623 cars, better than for October and September, but down 5.6 per cent from 9,138 a year earlier. The last figure, it was noted, points up clearly the extent B&O's business, despite recent improvement, is still falling behind that of last year.

Despite these setbacks, Simpson said, the company "can face the future with more optimism than at this time last year."

Frostburg Radio Station Will Start Saturday

A new radio station for the Cumberland area, broadcasting on 740 kilocycles and 250 watts, will begin operation Saturday at 10 a. m. in Frostburg.

Spokesmen for Station WFRB said interviews will be broadcast from Bob's Radio shop between political, religious and community leaders during the initial program. Due to a restricted time element, no schedule was announced.

The station, under construction for several months, has its transmitter and tower local on Little Savage Mountain about one-half mile north of Route 40 on Finzel Road.

Station WFRB is owned and operated by D. C. Loughry, Vandergrift, Pa., formerly of Kitzmiller. He has had 15 years' experience in radio work and will act as chief engineer for the operation.

Associated with him is Robert Kerr, Frostburg, who will be program director. Kerr is a graduate of the Gateway School of Radio Arts, Pittsburgh, and was formerly affiliated with Station WKYR at Keyser as news director.

Others on the staff are James Raines of Race Farm, Route 40, new director, who was formerly associated with Station WMGM at Meadville, Pa., and Cecil Grove, Frostburg, sales manager.

Kerr said the station will present a variety of programming with emphasis on news and music. "For the time being, and during a testing period, the station will be operated on a restricted time basis," he added.

Round Table Is Assigned Top Weight

Given 132 Impost For Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Round Table, the 1958 "Horse of the Year" and turfdom's leading money-winner, Thursday was assigned top weight of 132 pounds for the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 28.

Travis M. Kerr's champion will be bucking two jinxes if he accepts the impost—no horse has ever won the blue ribbon Santa Anita Handicap with more than 130 pounds and no thoroughbred has ever captured the mile and a quarter classic twice.

Racing Secretary Frank E. (Jimmy) Kilroe not only gave Round Table 132 pounds but asked the champion to give away from 13 to 34 pounds, the biggest span in the history of the race.

The 132 pounds, however, was not the highest impost ever assigned in the race. In 1939 Seabiscuit was asked to carry 134 pounds and skipped the race.

Maine Chance Farm's Jewel's Reward, rested since last summer, was given the second high weight in the Santa Anita Handicap of 119 pounds while his stablemate, the imported Tempest II, was next with 118 pounds.

Other top imposts included Warhead 117, Terrang 116, How Now 116, A Dragon Killer 115, Eddie Schmidt 114, Gone Fishin' 114, Seaneen 114 and Silky Sullivan 114.

Wide Open Type Of Game Is Seen In NFL Playoff

Giants And Browns Expected To Gamble

NEW YORK (AP)—Look for a wide-open, gambling type of game next Sunday when the deadlocked New York Giants and Cleveland Browns clash in a playoff for the Eastern Conference title and the right to meet Baltimore for the National Football League championship.

That's the hunch of Giant Coach Jim Lee Howell.

"I expect Brown (Cleveland Coach Paul Brown) to take a lot of chances Sunday," said Howell. "So will we. This is it. You've got to go for broke. In a game as important as this one you can't sit back and wait for breaks. You've got to make your own. You've got to gamble."

The Giant squad spent the better part of an hour Thursday working on various offenses on turf that was surprisingly dry. Howell said he was well satisfied with the workout and added that another day or two should get the Yankee Stadium field in shape.

The weatherman's long-range prediction for Sunday is "fair and cold."

"Cleveland used different types of defense against us in each of the two previous games (both of which the Giants won), Howell said. "They feared our sweep plays in the first game and played us wide. So we concentrated our ground plays at center of their line.

"Last week they tightened their defense and while we didn't do much with the sweep, we were able to make good use of our passing game. I don't think they will play us close this week. I think they'll be guarding more against our passing game. We hope to show them a few new tricks."

Tennessee Cagers Cop 5th In Row

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee rallied in the second half to turn back a strong Davidson challenge and win its fifth straight basketball victory, 67-52, Wednesday night.

The fifth-ranking Vols appeared rusty after a nine-day layoff for examinations and trailed the Southern Conference visitors most of the game. Davidson led at the half, 32-27.

Big Gene Tormohlen, the night's scoring leader with 18 points, paced the Tennessee surge. Don Reeverts scored 17 for the Vols.

The Moorefield Lions Club has agreed to sponsor and assist in the sale of preferred stock of the Rockingham Poultry Marketing Cooperative.

The purpose of the sale is to raise capital for the conversion of the Moorefield plant to meet federal inspection requirements.

A spokesman for the company informed members of the Lions Club that the cooperative has been in Moorefield and Hardy County for 15 years, providing a payroll for 100 to 165 persons and has purchased millions of dollars worth of broilers and turkeys from Hardy County farmers during this period without asking for any financial support.

The conversion of the Moorefield plant, according to figures presented by Victor Pringle, general manager of the cooperative, will require in the neighborhood of $50,000, to meet requirements for the mandatory federal inspection January 1.

The Moorefield plant will be closed for the conversion for six to eight weeks.

H. G. Muntzing, one of the directors of the cooperative and a member of the Lions Club, said the sale of stock was not a gift, loan or donation, but was a sound investment. He pointed out that the preferred stock had paid six per cent dividends for the past 18 years and that with increasing demands for poultry products there is no reason to assume that it would not continue.

Muntzing also pointed out that the purchase of shares of preferred stock was an investment in the entire Rockingham operation and not in the Moorefield plant alone.

It was pointed out at the Lions Club meeting that the continued operation of the plant is of vital importance to the broiler raisers and producers in the Moorefield area because the Rockingham plant provides a market for birds locally and that the number of independent buyers was decreasing steadily.

Reese Signs As Dodgers' 1959 Coach

Peewee Was Regular Shortstop 16 Years

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Veteran Pee Wee Reese, "Mr. Shortstop" in the National League for 16 years, was signed Thursday to the Los Angeles Dodgers' coaching staff, apparently ending his active baseball playing career.

PEE WEE REESE

Announcement of Reese's "retirement" was made by Vice President and General Manager E. J. Buzzie Bavasi, who said that Pee Wee could have remained on the active roster of another major league club "but the Dodgers, in rebuilding their team, must make room for another youngster."

"That's baseball," said Bavasi. "We are happy, indeed, that Reese has decided that, rather than change uniforms, he would continue his long affiliation with the Dodgers as one of manager Walt Alston's assistants."

Reese, whose given name is Harold, took three years out of his career for military service but had 16 active years with the Dodgers after a two-year tune-up with the Louisville Colonels.

His lifetime record in the majors shows 2166 games, a batting average of .269, 2170 hits and 885 runs batted in. Additionally, he took part in seven World Series. But more than that he still leads all active major league players in lifetime stolen bases, a modern Dodger club record of 232. Among current National League players he ranks second in runs (1338) behind the St. Louis Cardinals' Stan Musial.

Billy Martin Signs Contract

Five Other Indians Also Ink '59 Pacts

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Second baseman Billy Martin was among six players who returned signed contracts Wednesday to the Cleveland Indians.

Tribe General Manager Frank Lane said Martin, recently acquired from Detroit, reported he was completely satisfied with the terms offered by the Indians.

Others who returned signed pacts were pitchers Jake Striker, Morrie Martin; infielders Billy Moran, Randy Jackson, and outfielder Carroll Hardy.

Striker, who hails from Bucyrus, Ohio, will make a bid to nail a spot on the Tribe's pitching staff. At Mobile last year, he posted a 17-11 record.

Jackson played briefly with the Indians last season after being acquired from Los Angeles. He batted .242 in 29 games. Moran, a slick fielder, hit .226 in 116 games.

Morrie Martin, acquired from St. Louis on waivers, appeared in 14 games last season and posted a 2-0 record as a Redskin.

The Indians now have seven players under contract for the 1959 season. Hurler Cal McLish was the first, signing a contract three months ago.

Robertson Leads College Scorers, Has 42.7 Average

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati is off to a fast start in defense of his national basketball scoring championship.

After the first two weeks of the new season, Robertson tops all major college scorers with a record pace of 42.7 points per game.

NCAA figure filberts reported this was the fastest start in history by a major college player. As a sophomore last season, Robertson scored more points (984) at a faster rate (35.1) than any first-year varsity player in college annals en route to All- America honors.

Robertson scored 128 points on 44 field goals and 40 free throws in his first four games.

Bailey Howell of Mississippi State is second with a 38.0 average, followed by Kansas State's Bob Boozer (36.5) and Pittsburgh's Don Hennon (34.5). Like Robertson, all three are well ahead of their pace of a year ago. Jim Hagan, who averaged 31.0 points a game in leading Tennessee Tech to a sweep of its first six starts, is the only other player over the 30.0 mark.

Record Deer Kill Of 710 Set For Garrett County

Washington's 333 New High; Allegany County Total 596

A new record of 710 deer kills in Garrett county was established this year, according to official figures released yesterday by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The previous high for Garrett county for a six-day gunning season was 698. This year, 701 whitetails were slain during the regular firearms season and nine were killed by archers during the special season. This was the first year for bow and arrow hunting in Garrett county.

Allegany county was the runner-up in total kills with 596 but failed to reach the all-time mark of 623. Gunners bagged 587 bucks while bowmen killed nine.

Washington County's total of 333 also was a new record and bettered the previous mark of 289. Gunners accounted for 320 and archers brought down 13.

The kill in Region No. 1 which totaled 1,639 is 45 per cent of the state total to date.

Gunners bagged 3,132 while bowmen killed 166. Harford county had the most kills by bow and arrow hunters — a total of 44. Frederick and Worcester counties were tied for second place with 24 each.

Round Table Is Assigned Top Weight

Given 132 Impost For Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Round Table, the 1958 "Horse of the Year" and turfdom's leading money-winner, Thursday was assigned top weight of 132 pounds for the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 28.

Travis M. Kerr's champion will be bucking two jinxes if he accepts the impost—no horse has ever won the blue ribbon Santa Anita Handicap with more than 130 pounds and no thoroughbred has ever captured the mile and a quarter classic twice.

Racing Secretary Frank E. (Jimmy) Kilroe not only gave Round Table 132 pounds but asked the champion to give away from 13 to 34 pounds, the biggest span in the history of the race.

The 132 pounds, however, was not the highest impost ever assigned in the race. In 1939 Seabiscuit was asked to carry 134 pounds and skipped the race.

Maine Chance Farm's Jewel's Reward, rested since last summer, was given the second high weight in the Santa Anita Handicap of 119 pounds while his stablemate, the imported Tempest II, was next with 118 pounds.

Other top imposts included Warhead 117, Terrang 116, How Now 116, A Dragon Killer 115, Eddie Schmidt 114, Gone Fishin' 114, Seaneen 114 and Silky Sullivan 114.

Wide Open Type Of Game Is Seen In NFL Playoff

Giants And Browns Expected To Gamble

That's the hunch of Giant Coach Jim Lee Howell.

"I expect Brown (Cleveland Coach Paul Brown) to take a lot of chances Sunday," said Howell. "So will we. This is it. You've got to go for broke. In a game as important as this one you can't sit back and wait for breaks. You've got to make your own. You've got to gamble."

The Giant squad spent the better part of an hour Thursday working on various offenses on turf that was surprisingly dry. Howell said he was well satisfied with the workout and added that another day or two should get the Yankee Stadium field in shape.

The weatherman's long-range prediction for Sunday is "fair and cold."

"Cleveland used different types of defense against us in each of the two previous games (both of which the Giants won), Howell said. "They feared our sweep plays in the first game and played us wide. So we concentrated our ground plays at center of their line.

"Last week they tightened their defense and while we didn't do much with the sweep, we were able to make good use of our passing game. I don't think they will play us close this week. I think they'll be guarding more against our passing game. We hope to show them a few new tricks."

Tennessee Cagers Cop 5th In Row

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee rallied in the second half to turn back a strong Davidson challenge and win its fifth straight basketball victory, 67-52, Wednesday night.

The fifth-ranking Vols appeared rusty after a nine-day layoff for examinations and trailed the Southern Conference visitors most of the game. Davidson led at the half, 32-27.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Lana Turner and her agent, Paul Kohner, met with Charles Schnee to discuss the leading role in "Let No Man Write My Epitaph," Woolard Motley's best seller. The only reason Lana didn't sign right there and then was because she wanted to think about playing the mother of a 'teen-ager. However, I believe she will sign, because Burl Ives already has the top male role and up to now, she likes this script better than any of the others submitted to her.

Lana hurried home from Acapulco to spend Christmas with her daughter, Cheryl Crane. So I do not believe there is any truth in the printed story that Cheryl will leave with Steve Crane's fiancee to meet him in Canada for Christmas. However, it's possible if the Juvenile Court permits, that Lana will let the little girl go after Christmas to see her father.

Marie Wilson, who has based a career on being a "dumb blonde" (she's about as dumb as a fox), is giving up nightclubs and personal appearances (except for "Blackouts") long enough to make a movie. It's been years since Marie batted her big eyes before a movie camera, but she's just signed to star for Alex Gottlieb in "The Perfect Wife." Good title for Marie, if you ask me. She's very happily married to Bob Ballon.

"The Perfect Wife" is a three part yarn entwined in one. The first part is about the way the wife sees herself; the second part is how her husband sees her, and the third as she appears in the eyes of her ex-boyfriend. Put together, it's as you can guess, a zany comedy.

Just had a note that Rosalind Russell is leaving for California by train on Saturday. Freddie Brisson will leave by plane on Wednesday to get here in time for the Christmas holidays. It will be so nice to have Roz back after her long stay in New York. A letter she received from Mrs. Eisenhower is most complimentary.

Mrs. Eisenhower writes that she had a large group of friends in for a showing of the "Auntie Mame" film. She says, "I do not know when we have ever laughed and enjoyed anything so much as we did seeing you perform—and, of course, the horseback scene was hilarious. All of the women were interested in your beautiful clothes. We were just plain fascinated and enthusiastic about the entire picture."

Even unto the second generation the theatrical family of Skouras never undertakes anything on a small scale. Take Spyros Skouras, Jr., who has organized and is heading a newly-formed company, Triton Productions flanked by his brother, Plato, as executive producer and their cousin, Charles, as vice-president.

These ambitious young men are out for no less a star than Jean Simmons for their first venture, "California Street", Niven Busch's forthcoming June Literary Guild novel. Many of the most experienced producers in the business are out after Jean but I'm betting she'll listen to the young Skourases.

I kept hearing so much about "A Night to Remember" that I ran it at my home a few nights ago. It's the story of the sinking of the Titanic and the carelessness which led to the destruction of this great luxury ship when it hit an iceberg. Charles Brackett made "Titanic", based on the same disaster.

The British movie, "A Night To Remember", made by J. Arthur Rank, is really more of a documentary, based on the book by the same name, and it sticks very closely to fact. The American picture had more romance and a more personalized story.

for the sake of being an iconoclast? I do think when he calls Hemingway a fraud and then talks baby talk, he's going too far.

"Since I've been watching TV I have decided I like to see only two people on that screen. I don't like to see twenty dancers. I can't follow them. I do like Ed Murrow's 'Small World'. I've like all but two of those.

"I'm a better farmer than a playwright. I raise Angus and white Sonen goats. I'm in love with goats. I'm starting a world crusade for people to understand goats. I've made a short film on goats, taking it from the time a goat is born until she gives birth. They are wonderful creatures—kind, loving, sweet-smelling. I adore them. Can I sell you a goat?"

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Who, What, Where, Etc.

Charles Chapin, the city editor of the old "Evening World," while awaiting trial for the murder of his wife, used to call in the "Evening World" reporters and raise hell with them about the way they were covering the story. So they say anyway (the same people who said it couldn't be done, that is), and after this last week in a newspaperless New York, I'm ready to believe it.

When you have spent a week in a town without newspapers, the hunger for news gets fairly ravenous. But it is not for news from Syria that you hunger. It's news about your own little rat race, only occasionally known as the newspaper dodge. We were horribly dependent on the radio and the television for news of our own affairs, our own newspapers, our chances to get back to work.

About all we heard—every hour on the hour—was that there was a strike. But what were the issues, fellows Who said what to whom? How far apart are they? What concessions did the publishers make? What about the truck drivers? Who represents the truck drivers? Who, the publishers? What precipitated the strike and what the chances of settlement? Questions, fellows, questions!

Instead of information we got the rich throaty voice, the pregnant pause, the mellifluous flowing sentences with the perceptible punctuation. But the rich throaty voice didn't say anything. Or almost nothing.

WNEW had the splendid idea of having columnists read their own perishable prose between rock 'n' roll records. Cholly Knickerbocker, otherwise known as Igor Cassini, came on, whinnying gently, and fluted: "Between you and me and the lamppost and twenty million readers, Linda Christian is up to her old tricks." And he told a perfectly ghastly story about Linda losing her earrings which would have been otherwise lost to posterity. "This is Cholly Knickerbocker saying goodbye, dear readers and listeners." Bye!

WRCA brought on a full hour of reporters and columnists of "The New York Times," proving that those august bylines actually breathe and talk. This was a newsy session except that even the "Times" men stepped gingerly around the strike situation as if they feared making it worse.

About the one thing a newspaper strike proves again and again is that newspapers are hard to get along without. You can't wrap a fish in Edward R. Murrow's sepulchral tones. You can't hum Chet Huntley all the way to work on the 8:12. Husbands have had a good look at their wives for the first time in years over the breakfast table and it's been a sobering experience.

John Patrick, author of "The Hasty Heart," which is Dupont's show of the month on CBS-TV, has only recently succumbed to television and is on the whole appalled by it. "What appalls me are the commercials. They are often in such bad taste. I remember once during the war coming back to the United States on a transport. Suddenly the air was full of commercials. One forgot how bad they were, having been away."

I asked Mr. Patrick what he had been watching and what he thought about it all: "I started out listening to Mr. Paar and at first I rather enjoyed him and then, little by little—how can I put this?—a lack of humanity showed through. Now I go to bed. Ben Hecht is interesting and unusual. But destructiveness just for the sake of being destructive is not enough. I'm not sure that Mr. Hecht is not a little destructive."

Everyone knows that driving is dangerous enough both on the open road and in city traffic . . . and especially so on holidays. So be safe and sensible during the holidays. When a genial friend says, "Come on, pal, have one for the road," be sure you say, "MAKE MINE COFFEE!"
For coffee gives you a clearer head and clearer eyes for driving. Coffee makes you more alert for quicker reactions. Coffee doesn't let you down. Yes, coffee is a drink that makes any road a safer road home.
BE CAREFUL: THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN.

Frederick-Allegany, Mt.Savage-LaSalle Play Here Tonight

Rebels Face Fort Hill In Hagerstown

Beall At Ridgeley, Unbeaten Romney, Paw Paw Clash

Final scholastic basketball action on the home front until December 30 is on tap for Cumberland fans tonight when Allegany High's Campers engage Frederick High School's Cadets in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game at Campobello and LaSalle High's Explorers, fresh from a thrilling 68-66 triumph at Beall High, play host to undefeated Mt. Savage High School on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Coach Chet Payne's Campers will be seeking a sweep of their series with Homer Brooks' Cadets when the teams windup their series on the West Side court tonight. Allegany won at Frederick, 38-34 after dropping its opening CVAL engagement here to North Hagerstown's Hubs, 60-56. Frederick is 0-2 in the league, having lost to Fort Hill here on Dec. 9 by the score of 45-42.

Mt. Savage, boasting of wins over Oldtown, 74-36, Hyndman, 43-39, Ridgeley, 54-48 and Hancock, 64-25, will try to add the scalp of LaSalle when the teams open their two-game series tonight. LaSalle, on the other hand, hopes to grab this one and crash the .500 column. Coach George Geatz's Explorers hold decisions over Fort Ashby and Beall and lost to Valley, South Hills of Pittsburgh and Fort Hill.

Sentinels In Hub City

The second CVAL engagement of the evening finds Wayne Boor's Fort Hill High School Sentinels tangling with Nick Scallion's South High Rebels in Hagerstown. Fort Hill is 1-1 in the six-school loop while South High, winless in four outings, will be making its first league start. The Sentinels lost to North High, 59-40, and beat Frederick.

Beall High's Mountaineers (0-3) invade Ridgeley tonight to play Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley High Blackhawks, who have won two and lost three. Bill Scott, of Ridgeley High, is now leading the area scorers with 147 points in five games for an average of 29.4.

Fort Ashby (1-4) battles the Bruce High Bulldogs (2-1) tonight at Westernport.

Unbeaten Teams Clash

A pair of unbeaten quints collide when Romney (3-0) opposes Paw Paw (4-0) on the latter's court. All of Romney's games have been with PVC foes while Glenn Smith's Pirates are 1-0 in that circuit with a 50-47 decision over Capon Bridge.

Southern's Highlanders from Oakland test "Honey" Crites' Petersburg Vikings at Petersburg, the high flying Franklin Panthers go after their second PVC win at Circleville, Elk Garden visits Keyser, and "Pete" Vance's Wardensville High Warriors entertain Mathias.

Thomas Seeks Fifth

Other games include Beverly at Mountaineer High, Thomas, which has reeled off four wins in a row, Moorefield at Charles Town, Berkeley Springs at Harpers Ferry, Northern's Huskies of Accident at Salisbury, Pa., Alumni at Capon Bridge and Claysburg at Bedford.

Potomac State College of Keyser will see its last action before January 9 when it plays at St. Mary's City, Md., tonight.

Mariners Guide Wins In Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP) — Jeff-Lin Stable's Mariners Guide slipped through the inner rail while moving from fourth to first in a winning stretch surge in the featured seventh race today at Tropical Park.

Jimmy Johnson, performing in daredevil fashion, whipped the $10.50 chance to a half length decision over C. S. Handelman's Betty Linn. Victory Stable's Sonny Dan was a length and a quarter behind Betty Linn and the same margin in front of Tartan Stable's Meeting, the disappointing 3-2 favorite.

Mariners Guide sped a mile and a sixteenth in 1:41 2/5 over the first fast track in three days.

The rains that have pelted the racing fans since Monday ceased for today's program and the track was good for the first four races and became fast for the fifth.

Joe Nolan paced the attack with 17 points, including eight goals, while John Hancock was runner-up with eight tallies. Lueck and Hudson accounted for ten of the Gaels' 11 points.

St. Michael's scored their second straight win of the campaign by turning back St. Peter's, of Westernport by the score of 61-11 at Frostburg.

Father Regis Larkin's passers held the visitors to three field goals while they slammed in a total of 29. Eleven of the 16 St. Michael's players crashed the scoring column.

Valdes, McMurtry Fight At Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Valdes, whose manager has proclaimed him heavyweight champion, risks his one-man realm against slick boxing Pat McMurtry of Tacoma, Wash., at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The powerful, 6-3, 210-pound Cuban is a 7-5 favorite over the 6-1, 189-pound ex-Marine in the TV 10-rounder (NBC 10 p.m. EST).

Both Valdes and the crew-cropped Westerner are riding hot streaks. Nino has won five straight for a 46-15-2 record, including 33 knockouts. McMurtry has won his last four, fattening his slate to 30-2-1, including 23 kayos.

Reese Signs As Dodgers' 1959 Coach

Peewee Was Regular Shortstop 16 Years

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Veteran Pee Wee Reese, "Mr. Shortstop" in the National League for 16 years, was signed Thursday to the Los Angeles Dodgers' coaching staff, apparently ending his active baseball playing career.

PEE WEE REESE

Announcement of Reese's "retirement" was made by Vice President and General Manager E. J. Buzzie Bavasi, who said that Pee Wee could have remained on the active roster of another major league club "but the Dodgers, in rebuilding their team, must make room for another youngster."

"That's baseball," said Bavasi. "We are happy, indeed, that Reese has decided that, rather than change uniforms, he would continue his long affiliation with the Dodgers as one of manager Walt Alston's assistants."

Reese, whose given name is Harold, took three years out of his career for military service but had 16 active years with the Dodgers after a two-year tune-up with the Louisville Colonels.

His lifetime record in the majors shows 2166 games, a batting average of .269, 2170 hits and 885 runs batted in. Additionally, he took part in seven World Series. But more than that he still leads all active major league players in lifetime stolen bases, a modern Dodger club record of 232. Among current National League players he ranks second in runs (1338) behind the St. Louis Cardinals' Stan Musial.

Billy Martin Signs Contract

Five Other Indians Also Ink '59 Pacts

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Second baseman Billy Martin was among six players who returned signed contracts Wednesday to the Cleveland Indians.

Tribe General Manager Frank Lane said Martin, recently acquired from Detroit, reported he was completely satisfied with the terms offered by the Indians.

Others who returned signed pacts were pitchers Jake Striker, Morrie Martin; infielders Billy Moran, Randy Jackson, and outfielder Carroll Hardy.

Striker, who hails from Bucyrus, Ohio, will make a bid to nail a spot on the Tribe's pitching staff. At Mobile last year, he posted a 17-11 record.

Jackson played briefly with the Indians last season after being acquired from Los Angeles. He batted .242 in 29 games. Moran, a slick fielder, hit .226 in 116 games.

Morrie Martin, acquired from St. Louis on waivers, appeared in 14 games last season and posted a 2-0 record as a Redskin.

The Indians now have seven players under contract for the 1959 season. Hurler Cal McLish was the first, signing a contract three months ago.

Robertson Leads College Scorers, Has 42.7 Average

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati is off to a fast start in defense of his national basketball scoring championship.

After the first two weeks of the new season, Robertson tops all major college scorers with a record pace of 42.7 points per game.

NCAA figure filberts reported this was the fastest start in history by a major college player. As a sophomore last season, Robertson scored more points (984) at a faster rate (35.1) than any first-year varsity player in college annals en route to All- America honors.

Robertson scored 128 points on 44 field goals and 40 free throws in his first four games.

Bailey Howell of Mississippi State is second with a 38.0 average, followed by Kansas State's Bob Boozer (36.5) and Pittsburgh's Don Hennon (34.5). Like Robertson, all three are well ahead of their pace of a year ago. Jim Hagan, who averaged 31.0 points a game in leading Tennessee Tech to a sweep of its first six starts, is the only other player over the 30.0 mark.

Record Deer Kill Of 710 Set For Garrett County

Washington's 333 New High; Allegany County Total 596

A new record of 710 deer kills in Garrett county was established this year, according to official figures released yesterday by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The previous high for Garrett county for a six-day gunning season was 698. This year, 701 whitetails were slain during the regular firearms season and nine were killed by archers during the special season. This was the first year for bow and arrow hunting in Garrett county.

Allegany county was the runner-up in total kills with 596 but failed to reach the all-time mark of 623. Gunners bagged 587 bucks while bowmen killed nine.

Washington County's total of 333 also was a new record and bettered the previous mark of 289. Gunners accounted for 320 and archers brought down 13.

A total of 3,604 deer were reported killed in 19 counties this year but this figure does not include Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

The kill in Region No. 1 which totaled 1,639 is 45 per cent of the state total to date.

Gunners bagged 3,132 while bowmen killed 166. Harford county had the most kills by bow and arrow hunters — a total of 44. Frederick and Worcester counties were tied for second place with 24 each.

Barnes To Coach UCLA Grid Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA made it official Thursday — William F. (Billy) Barnes was named head football coach.

Athletic Director Wilbur Johns announced that the 41-year-old Barnes had been formally given the job for a "period of more than one year."

Terms were not disclosed but the former assistant coach was given the right to engage his own staff of aides and promptly renamed the present staff intact.

Barnes replaces George Dickerson, who suffered a nervous collapse last fall after taking over the reins when Henry R. (Red) Sanders died of a heart attack shortly before the season opened.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Lana Turner and her agent, Paul Kohner, met with Charles Schnee to discuss the leading role in "Let No Man Write My Epitaph," Woolard Motley's best seller. The only reason Lana didn't sign right there and then was because she wanted to think about playing the mother of a 'teen-ager. However, I believe she will sign, because Burl Ives already has the top male role and up to now, she likes this script better than any of the others submitted to her.

Lana hurried home from Acapulco to spend Christmas with her daughter, Cheryl Crane. So I do not believe there is any truth in the printed story that Cheryl will leave with Steve Crane's fiancee to meet him in Canada for Christmas. However, it's possible if the Juvenile Court permits, that Lana will let the little girl go after Christmas to see her father.

Marie Wilson, who has based a career on being a "dumb blonde" (she's about as dumb as a fox), is giving up nightclubs and personal appearances (except for "Blackouts") long enough to make a movie. It's been years since Marie batted her big eyes before a movie camera, but she's just signed to star for Alex Gottlieb in "The Perfect Wife." Good title for Marie, if you ask me. She's very happily married to Bob Ballon.

"The Perfect Wife" is a three part yarn entwined in one. The first part is about the way the wife sees herself; the second part is how her husband sees her, and the third as she appears in the eyes of her ex-boyfriend. Put together, it's as you can guess, a zany comedy.

Just had a note that Rosalind Russell is leaving for California by train on Saturday. Freddie Brisson will leave by plane on Wednesday to get here in time for the Christmas holidays. It will be so nice to have Roz back after her long stay in New York. A letter she received from Mrs. Eisenhower is most complimentary.

Mrs. Eisenhower writes that she had a large group of friends in for a showing of the "Auntie Mame" film. She says, "I do not know when we have ever laughed and enjoyed anything so much as we did seeing you perform—and, of course, the horseback scene was hilarious. All of the women were interested in your beautiful clothes. We were just plain fascinated and enthusiastic about the entire picture."

Now that's pretty nice coming from the first lady.

Even unto the second generation the theatrical family of Skouras never undertakes anything on a small scale. Take Spyros Skouras, Jr., who has organized and is heading a newly-formed company, Triton Productions flanked by his brother, Plato, as executive producer and their cousin, Charles, as vice-president.

These ambitious young men are out for no less a star than Jean Simmons for their first venture, "California Street", Niven Busch's forthcoming June Literary Guild novel. Many of the most experienced producers in the business are out after Jean but I'm betting she'll listen to the young Skourases.

I kept hearing so much about "A Night to Remember" that I ran it at my home a few nights ago. It's the story of the sinking of the Titanic and the carelessness which led to the destruction of this great luxury ship when it hit an iceberg. Charles Brackett made "Titanic", based on the same disaster.

The British movie, "A Night To Remember", made by J. Arthur Rank, is really more of a documentary, based on the book by the same name, and it sticks very closely to fact. The American picture had more romance and a more personalized story.

Farm rodents destroy 200 million bushels of grain crops annually in the United States.

for the sake of being an iconoclast? I do think when he calls Hemingway a fraud and then talks baby talk, he's going too far.

"Since I've been watching TV I have decided I like to see only two people on that screen. I don't like to see twenty dancers. I can't follow them. I do like Ed Murrow's 'Small World'. I've like all but two of those.

"I'm a better farmer than a playwright. I raise Angus and white Sonen goats. I'm in love with goats. I'm starting a world crusade for people to understand goats. I've made a short film on goats, taking it from the time a goat is born until she gives birth. They are wonderful creatures—kind, loving, sweet-smelling. I adore them. Can I sell you a goat?"

Television and Radio

Who, What, Where, Etc.

Charles Chapin, the city editor of the old "Evening World," while awaiting trial for the murder of his wife, used to call in the "Evening World" reporters and raise hell with them about the way they were covering the story. So they say anyway (the same people who said it couldn't be done, that is), and after this last week in a newspaperless New York, I'm ready to believe it.

When you have spent a week in a town without newspapers, the hunger for news gets fairly ravenous. But it is not for news from Syria that you hunger. It's news about your own little rat race, only occasionally known as the newspaper dodge. We were horribly dependent on the radio and the television for news of our own affairs, our own newspapers, our chances to get back to work.

About all we heard—every hour on the hour—was that there was a strike. But what were the issues, fellows Who said what to whom? How far apart are they? What concessions did the publishers make? What about the truck drivers? Who represents the truck drivers? Who, the publishers? What precipitated the strike and what the chances of settlement? Questions, fellows, questions!

Instead of information we got the rich throaty voice, the pregnant pause, the mellifluous flowing sentences with the perceptible punctuation. But the rich throaty voice didn't say anything. Or almost nothing.

WNEW had the splendid idea of having columnists read their own perishable prose between rock 'n' roll records. Cholly Knickerbocker, otherwise known as Igor Cassini, came on, whinnying gently, and fluted: "Between you and me and the lamppost and twenty million readers, Linda Christian is up to her old tricks." And he told a perfectly ghastly story about Linda losing her earrings which would have been otherwise lost to posterity. "This is Cholly Knickerbocker saying goodbye, dear readers and listeners." Bye!

WRCA brought on a full hour of reporters and columnists of "The New York Times," proving that those august bylines actually breathe and talk. This was a newsy session except that even the "Times" men stepped gingerly around the strike situation as if they feared making it worse.

About the one thing a newspaper strike proves again and again is that newspapers are hard to get along without. You can't wrap a fish in Edward R. Murrow's sepulchral tones. You can't hum Chet Huntley all the way to work on the 8:12. Husbands have had a good look at their wives for the first time in years over the breakfast table and it's been a sobering experience.

John Patrick, author of "The Hasty Heart," which is Dupont's show of the month on CBS-TV, has only recently succumbed to television and is on the whole appalled by it. "What appalls me are the commercials. They are often in such bad taste. I remember once during the war coming back to the United States on a transport. Suddenly the air was full of commercials. One forgot how bad they were, having been away."

I asked Mr. Patrick what he had been watching and what he thought about it all: "I started out listening to Mr. Paar and at first I rather enjoyed him and then, little by little—how can I put this?—a lack of humanity showed through. Now I go to bed. Ben Hecht is interesting and unusual. But destructiveness just

During the holidays, when it's "one for the road," be sure it's coffee!
Yes, you can say that again! That's a good New Year's resolution to put into effect right now.
Everyone knows that driving is dangerous enough both on the open road and in city traffic . . . and especially so on holidays. So be safe and sensible during the holidays. When a genial friend says, "Come on, pal, have one for the road," be sure you say, "MAKE MINE COFFEE!"
For coffee gives you a clearer head and clearer eyes for driving. Coffee makes you more alert for quicker reactions. Coffee doesn't let you down. Yes, coffee is a drink that makes any road a safer road home.
BE CAREFUL: THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN.

Bedford Rd. Baptists Plan Yule Pageant

A Christmas pageant, "When the Angels Sang," will be presented Sunday evening at the Bedford Road Baptist Church.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. with music being provided by the children's choir and the adult choir. The cast will include the following young people of the church:

Beverly Michael and Joyce Ruby, narrators; Paul David Simpson, Edward Norris and Gary Wiseman, wise men; Walter Springer, Dennis Michael, Robert Imes, shepherds; Patricia Shahan, Mary; Katherine Woods, angel; Claude Darr, Gabriel; Ralph Michael, Joseph, and Richard Simpson, the prophet.

REALIZING that a sixty dollar a month apartment costs you two dollars every day it is unrented doesn't it seem foolish not to be running a for rent ad at the monthly rate that only runs thirty-seven cents a day and would probably rent the apartment.

St. John's Plans Vespers

A Christmas vespers musicale will be presented in St. John's Lutheran Church at 4 p. m. Sunday, by the three choirs of the church. Selections will be presented by the Chapel Choir which is composed of children in the 9-12 year age group, the Youth Choir which is a high school group, and by the Sanctuary Choir which is made up of adults. Directress of all three choirs is Mrs. Robert Bittle. Organist is Miss Susan Mostoller.

The three selections presented by the Chapel Choir will include a special arrangement of the carol "Silent Night" in which a sextet will be featured. The group members are Michael Early, Doris Mann, Ruth Porter, Charles Sibley, Sharon Smith and Pamela Titchnell.

Included in the selections presented by the Youth Choir will be a solo by Fred Eichner, "To Jesus, From the Ends of Earth", a Canadian Christmas carol.

The Sanctuary Choir will present "The Story of Christmas", a cantata composed by H. Alexander Matthews with solo parts sung by Mrs. Eugene Bittner, Mrs. Russell Fink, Miss Polly Kesner, Fred Eichner, Stanford Zollner, and Alfred Britten.

Sports Writers Are Named "Co-Captains" Of Pitt's Opponents

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt Thursday named three local sports writers as "co - captains" of its 1958 all-opponent football team.

The writers were designated for stories they wrote about how weak Nebraska was before Pitt played the Cornhuskers. Pitt lost 14-6.

Among those named by the players to the Panther all - opponent lineup was end Terry Fairbanks of West Virginia. Others were:

End Monty Stickles, Notre Dame; tackles Ron Luciano, Syracuse, and Francis O'Brien, Michigan State; guards Bob Novogratz, Notre Dame, and Vince Promuto, Holy Cross; center Steve Garban, Penn Staye; quarterback George Izo, Notre Dame; halfbacks Bob Anderson, Army, and Tom Sephens, Syracuse, and fullback Dick McCashland, Nebraska.

Top Of $10 Is Set If Pro Title Game Goes To New York

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said Thursday that if the Dec. 28 title game is played in New York's Yankee Stadium box seats will cost $10, reserved seats $7.50, bleachers $4 and standing room $5.

Cleveland and New York play Sunday to determine which will oppose Baltimore, Western Division champion, for the title. The game will be played on the home field of the Eastern champion.

Bell said he had not been informed what the Cleveland prices would be if the game is played there.

REALIZING that a sixty dollar a month apartment costs you two dollars every day it is unrented doesn't it seem foolish not to be running a for rent ad at the monthly rate that only runs thirty-seven cents a day and would probably rent the apartment.

Education Plan For Maryland Is Outlined

Teacher Shortage Is Nation-Wide

Effective September 1959, a new state minimum salary scale for public school teachers representing a state-wide increase of about $400 per year is recommended by the State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, Milson C. Raver, MSTA executive secretary, said last night.

Speaking at a meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Mr. Raver outlined the legislative program for public education in Maryland as it will be offered to the General Assembly in January. He was addressing an invitation meeting arranged by the Allegany County Teachers Association.

Present were members of the Allegany County delegation to Annapolis, Allegany County Board of Commissioners, representatives from the Board of Education, representatives from the legislative committee of the local teachers and other committee chairmen and delegates from the Allegany County PTA Council.

$12,803,000 Needed

Mr. Raver outlined the entire program briefly and said that it will cost an additional $12,803,000 or about $4.27 per capita to help provide "quality education for our children."

This is represented by a minimum state salary scale of $4,000 to $6,000 for teachers holding a Bachelor's degree; $3,800 to $5,800 for teachers holding first grade or higher certificates and $3,400 to $5,400 for non-degree emergency certificated teachers.

This salary increase will cost an estimated $12,200,000.

MSTA and the PTA, he said, also recommend the use of additional state aid to reduce class size, so that students can get more individual attention from teachers.

Continued expansion of the facilities at the State Teachers colleges as recommended by the State Board of Education is also a part of the program and estimated additional annual cost is $417,000.

It is also proposed that salary scales at State Teachers colleges be advanced on a comparable level to those in effect at other state institutions of higher learning. This will cost an additional $186,000. Thus the total $12,803,000 is reached.

It is increasingly important.

Toy Distribution Begins

Little Joel Harden, being held by his father, Edwood Harden, is well pleased with the toy truck being presented by Mrs. Daniel K. Biggs as the Salvation Army Citadel begins its annual Christmas toy distribution. Standing beside Mrs. Biggs is Russell Robeson, chairman of the Toy Committee and a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, who turned up Wednesday morning to help distribute the toy collection. Nearly 2,000 toys are on hand and will be given out by today.

Certificates Mailed Out For Surplus Food

Distribution Will Begin On Monday

Grant Wiebel, supervisor of the surplus food program for Allegany County, said yesterday all the approved applications for the donable foodstuffs were placed in the mail yesterday.

Mr. Wiebel said each certificate has a date on it on which the person should appear at the old Royale Dairy building at the corner of Arch and Second streets.

The distribution of the food will be made the first three days of next week from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. All residents in the county must come to this point to receive their food since there isn't enough time to set up distribution points throughout the county before Christmas, according to Mr. Wiebel.

Mr. Wiebel said he still needs volunteers to help bag the 40,000 pounds of rice which was made available by the Department of Agriculture. About 10,000 pounds of rice has been put into two-pound bags, but at least 12,000 pounds will be needed next week.

The bagging operation is being held in the basement of the County Building on Union Street and volunteers may either report there or contact Mr. Wiebel on the second floor of the same building.

Persons who have placed an application for food and who do not receive a certificate of approval by Monday or Tuesday should contact the agency where they applied for application.

Foodstuffs which will be distributed next week include cheese, butter, milk, corn meal and rice.

THOMAS S. GIFFORD

Local Man Gets State RAM Medal

Thomas S. Gifford, most excellent high priest of Salem Chapter No. 18, Royal Arch Masons, has been presented the meritorious service medal by the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the State of Maryland.

Mr. Gifford, who makes his home in LaVale, is wire chief for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company here.

George B. Wells, grand high priest, presented the award to Mr. Gifford in recognition of the work of Salem Chapter, considered to have the most outstanding chapter in Maryland during 1958.

The chapter has had an outstanding activities program and some 75 members have been taken into the chapter — the largest membership increase of any chapter in the state.

Jury Awards $2,000 Damages To Barton Man

James Garrison, 64, Was Hit By Auto

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday awarded James Garrison 64, of Barton, $2,000 in a damage suit filed against a Westernport resident after deliberating in the case for nearly two hours.

Defendant in the case was Raymond M. Chaney who operated a car which ruck the plaintiff on Route 36 in December of 1957.

Garrison filed a $20,000 damage suit through his attorneys, Thomas B. Finan and Edward J. Ryan. Walter C. Capper and Thomas N. Berry represented Chaney.

Testimony in the jury trial was heard from Trooper Joseph V. Stakem; Dr. P. E. Berry of Piedmont; Robert Ritchie, 16, of Westernport, a nephew of the defendant and a passenger in Chaney's car; Vernon Haines, Lonaconing, who witnessed the accident while driving past in the opposite direction, and Leo Calvin Riggleman, Barton, a lifelong friend of Garrison, and the plaintiff.

Mr. Ryan also read a report from Dr. Lewis Brings of Cumberland.

It was stated at the trial that Garrison sustained a lacerated scalp and concussion, a fractured right leg and right arm and a shoulder separation as a result of being struck by Chaney's car.

Medical testimony also showed Garrison had suffered disability in his right hand and right arm and also suffers frequent traumatic headaches as a result of the head injury.

Garrison testified he had been walking along the shoulder of Route 36 heading toward Westernport and that he was standing still about two feet from the shoulder of the highway when he was struck.

It also was stated that Chaney was driving toward Barton and as another car passed him, the pedestrian was hit.

Closing arguments were heard following the noon recess and the jury retired shortly after 2 p.m., returning with the verdict at 4 o'clock.

Allan C. Fisher of LaVale was foreman of the jury.

Interstate Road Project Slated Near Hancock

SRC Seeks Bids On Two Bridges

The State Roads Commission is advertising for bids on two bridges needed for modernizing U.S. Route 40 near Hancock to Interstate Highway standards and may ask bids by the end of the year on a three-mile section of the highway.

G. Bates Chaires, District 6 engineer, said the SRC will open bids on the bridges in Baltimore January 6.

Included is a three-span steel beam bridge, with a 40-foot roadway and a twin, rigid frame structure, single span bridge with a 40-foot roadway.

The first bridge will be located 2.7 miles southeast of Hancock and the other 4.2 miles southeast of the community.

Both spans will have median strips to separate traffic lanes.

To be advertised in a few days, possibly before the end of the year, is a contract for almost three miles of U.S. Route 40 built to interstate highway standards.

Mr. Chaires said the contract will take in both bridges. It will involve considerable relocation, he added.

The contract will be the first interstate road project in Western Maryland.

U.S. Route 40 is included in the Interstate Highway System from Baltimore west to Hancock, where it turns and goes north to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Telephone Firm Gives Tips For Making Holiday Calls

If you are planning to make a long distance telephone call this Christmas, chances are you will have some waiting to do since about nine million other people in the country will have the same thought.

Surprisingly enough, any delay you will encounter will not be because of the number of calls placed during these holidays hours because nine million calls a day is a substantially lower than the total of long distance calls placed throughout the Bell System on any regular business day.

The reason for the delay is that persons are calling to small towns and suburban homes instead of the larger cities where the bulk of toll calls are handled each day.

Mrs. Helen Johnson, chief operator in Cumberland, said a full force of operators will be on duty over the holiday to help speed the calls.

Mrs. Johnson offered several tips to those planning calls. Long distance calls should be placed by number and should be made station-to-station. Also give the operator a few seconds to answer you and if you encounter a delay, cancel your call and place it again later.

If you wish to call early and avoid the holiday rush, the local office says the best time to place the call would be early on the afternoon of Christmas Eve. Also there is some indication from last year's record that between noon and three o'clock Christmas day there is usually a slight slackening of traffic.

Mrs. Johnson said last Christmas over 6,000 long distance calls were handled in the local office. This is in addition to the 135,000 local calls and the 1,000 directly dialed long distance calls.

Chamber Plans Detailed Study Of Legislation

Members of the committee headed by Harry I. Stegmaier, have been asked to follow all legislative trends and to make definite decisions to present to the Board of Directors, who set policy.

Local issues will include city growth, streets and highways, taxes and budget studies.

National legislative topics include inflation and spending control, tax reform, competition with private enterprise, labor reform, controls of business and agriculture, intervention in state and local affairs, social security and national security.

The committee will be divided into groups, according to interests, to make detailed studies and recommendations.

The next meeting of the committee will be held early in January.

Pact Approved By Westvaco Electricians

Luke IBEW Members To Get 4-11 Cents

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, has approved a new contract with West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for the 104 employes it represents at the Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., mills, D. C. Valentine, company labor relations coordinator, said yesterday.

Mr. Valentine was notified of the acceptance by a representative of the IBEW bargaining unit.

The contract provides a general wage increase of four cents an hour, three weeks' vacation after 10 years' service instead of 15 as at present, improved hospital insurance coverage and minor changes in contract language.

Pay increases at Luke range, with adjustments, from four cents an hour to 11 cents an hour.

The new contract is effective as of December 8, the first Monday after the normal expiration date, because negotiations were not begun until December 11 and the contract was ratified prior to December 19. Company negotiators had not been able to meet with the IBEW prior to this time.

Negotiations were held December 11 and 12 at Roanoke, Va. The new contract will run to December 5, 1959.

PPG Talks Get News Blackout

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A news blackout was imposed Thursday on negotiations between officials of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and striking United Glass and Ceramics Workers.

The two sides agreed to withhold any statements until a settlement was reached or the talks end in deadlock. They appointed federal mediator Hayward Montoney as the sole spokesman, but he declined to comment on anything except that talks were continuing.

Thursday was the third day talks were held here in an effort to end the two-month-old walkout that has shut down Pittsburgh plants in six states.

Workers at PPG and Libbey-Owens-Ford plants in 10 states struck Oct. 6. The LOF strike ended shortly thereafter.

An earlier round of talks between Pittsburgh representatives and the union in Louisville, Ky., broke off Oct. 31 without any apparent success.

Weather Fails To Halt Work On Bypass Job

Except for the Flintstone Bypass project, road construction has halted for the winter in Allegany and Garrett counties.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said the George F. Hazelwood Company is still working, and still ahead of schedule, on the Flintstone bypass.

The firm is excavating and placing fill for the 2.4 mile road which will connect completed highway projects on Polish Mountain and the east side of Martin Mountain.

Mr. Chaires said he expects to see traffic moving over the new road about the middle of next summer if weather conditions are normal.

Halted for the winter are the first section of the Industrial Highway in South Cumberland, the North Branch to Spring Gap modernization project on Route 51 and the improvement of U.S. Route 40 from State Route 36 to Long.

Winter weather has stopped work on U.S. 219 and State Route 135 in Garrett County.

Court Officials Uninjured When Chandelier Falls

The quiet dignity of the courtroom during a trial in Allegany County Court House was shattered late yesterday morning when a huge chandelier in the 25-foot ceiling of the courtroom crashed to the floor.

The 40 to 50 pound aluminum steel chandelier which contained a 1,000-watt bulb narrowly missed Court Stenographer Robert B. Thomas as he sat at his desk taking testimony in the case.

Also uninjured when the glass facing and light bulb smashed into a thousand fragments was Sidney Storer Sr., a court bailiff who was standing nearby.

Court officials checked the remaining chandeliers after the mishap and found three others loose in their sockets. They were immediately removed for repairs.

Education Plan For Maryland Is Outlined

Teacher Shortage Is Nation-Wide

Effective September 1959, a new state minimum salary scale for public school teachers representing a state-wide increase of about $400 per year is recommended by the State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, Milson C. Raver, MSTA executive secretary, said last night.

Speaking at a meeting at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, Mr. Raver outlined the legislative program for public education in Maryland as it will be offered to the General Assembly in January. He was addressing an invitation meeting arranged by the Allegany County Teachers Association.

Present were members of the Allegany County delegation to Annapolis, Allegany County Board of Commissioners, representatives from the Board of Education, representatives from the legislative committee of the local teachers and other committee chairmen and delegates from the Allegany County PTA Council.

$12,803,000 Needed

Mr. Raver outlined the entire program briefly and said that it will cost an additional $12,803,000 or about $4.27 per capita to help provide "quality education for our children."

This is represented by a minimum state salary scale of $4,000 to $6,000 for teachers holding a Bachelor's degree; $3,800 to $5,800 for teachers holding first grade or higher certificates and $3,400 to $5,400 for non-degree emergency certificated teachers.

This salary increase will cost an estimated $12,200,000.

MSTA and the PTA, he said, also recommend the use of additional state aid to reduce class size, so that students can get more individual attention from teachers.

Continued expansion of the facilities at the State Teachers colleges as recommended by the State Board of Education is also a part of the program and estimated additional annual cost is $417,000.

It is also proposed that salary scales at State Teachers colleges be advanced on a comparable level to those in effect at other state institutions of higher learning. This will cost an additional $186,000. Thus the total $12,803,000 is reached.

It is increasingly important,

Toy Distribution Begins

Little Joel Harden, being held by his father, Edwood Harden, is well pleased with the toy truck being presented by Mrs. Daniel K. Biggs as the Salvation Army Citadel begins its annual Christmas toy distribution. Standing beside Mrs. Biggs is Russell Robeson, chairman of the Toy Committee and a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, who turned up Wednesday morning to help distribute the toy collection. Nearly 2,000 toys are on hand and will be given out by today.

Certificates Mailed Out For Surplus Food

Distribution Will Begin On Monday

Grant Wiebel, supervisor of the surplus food program for Allegany County, said yesterday all the approved applications for the donable foodstuffs were placed in the mail yesterday.

Mr. Wiebel said each certificate has a date on it on which the person should appear at the old Royale Dairy building at the corner of Arch and Second streets.

The distribution of the food will be made the first three days of next week from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. All residents in the county must come to this point to receive their food since there isn't enough time to set up distribution points throughout the county before Christmas, according to Mr. Wiebel.

Mr. Wiebel said he still needs volunteers to help bag the 40,000 pounds of rice which was made available by the Department of Agriculture. About 10,000 pounds of rice has been put into two-pound bags, but at least 12,000 pounds will be needed next week.

The bagging operation is being held in the basement of the County Building on Union Street and volunteers may either report there or contact Mr. Wiebel on the second floor of the same building.

Persons who have placed an application for food and who do not receive a certificate of approval by Monday or Tuesday should contact the agency where they applied for application.

Foodstuffs which will be distributed next week include cheese, butter, milk, corn meal and rice.

THOMAS S. GIFFORD

Local Man Gets State RAM Medal

Thomas S. Gifford, most excellent high priest of Salem Chapter No. 18, Royal Arch Masons, has been presented the meritorious service medal by the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the State of Maryland.

Mr. Gifford, who makes his home in LaVale, is wire chief for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company here.

George B. Wells, grand high priest, presented the award to Mr. Gifford in recognition of the work of Salem Chapter, considered to have the most outstanding chapter in Maryland during 1958.

The chapter has had an outstanding activities program and some 75 members have been taken into the chapter — the largest membership increase of any chapter in the state.

Mr. Gifford has also been selected as a member of the Grand Officers' appointive staff.

James Garrison, 64, Was Hit By Auto

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday awarded James Garrison 64, of Barton $2,000 in a damage suit filed against a Westernport resident after deliberating in the case for nearly two hours.

Defendant in the case was Raymond M. Chaney who operated a car which ruck the plaintiff on Route 36 in December of 1957.

Garrison filed a $20,000 damage suit through his attorneys, Thomas B. Finan and Edward J. Ryan. Walter C. Capper and Thomas N. Berry represented Chaney.

Testimony in the jury trial was heard from Trooper Joseph V. Stakem; Dr. P. E. Berry of Piedmont; Robert Ritchie, 16, of Westernport, a nephew of the defendant and a passenger in Chaney's car; Vernon Haines, Lonaconing, who witnessed the accident while driving past in the opposite direction, and Leo Calvin Riggleman, Barton, a lifelong friend of Garrison, and the plaintiff.

Mr. Ryan also read a report from Dr. Lewis Brings of Cumberland.

It was stated at the trial that Garrison sustained a lacerated scalp and concussion, a fractured right leg and right arm and a shoulder separation as a result of being struck by Chaney's car.

Medical testimony also showed Garrison had suffered disability in his right hand and right arm and also suffers frequent traumatic headaches as a result of the head injury.

Garrison testified he had been walking along the shoulder of Route 36 heading toward Westernport and that he was standing still about two feet from the shoulder of the highway when he was struck.

It also was stated that Chaney was driving toward Barton and as another car passed him, the pedestrian was hit.

Closing arguments were heard following the noon recess and the jury retired shortly after 2 p.m., returning with the verdict at 4 o'clock.

Allan C. Fisher of LaVale was foreman of the jury.

Interstate Road Project Slated Near Hancock

SRC Seeks Bids On Two Bridges

The State Roads Commission is advertising for bids on two bridges needed for modernizing U.S. Route 40 near Hancock to Interstate Highway standards and may ask bids by the end of the year on a three-mile section of the highway.

G. Bates Chaires, District 6 engineer, said the SRC will open bids on the bridges in Baltimore January 6.

Included is a three-span steel beam bridge, with a 40-foot roadway and a twin, rigid frame structure, single span bridge with a 40-foot roadway.

The first bridge will be located 2.7 miles southeast of Hancock and the other 4.2 miles southeast of the community.

Both spans will have median strips to separate traffic lanes.

To be advertised in a few days, possibly before the end of the year, is a contract for almost three miles of U.S. Route 40 built to interstate highway standards.

Mr. Chaires said the contract will take in both bridges. It will involve considerable relocation, he added.

The contract will be the first interstate road project in Western Maryland.

U.S. Route 40 is included in the Interstate Highway System from Baltimore west to Hancock, where it turns and goes north to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Telephone Firm Gives Tips For Making Holiday Calls

If you are planning to make a long distance telephone call this Christmas, chances are you will have some waiting to do since about nine million other people in the country will have the same thought.

Surprisingly enough, any delay you will encounter will not be because of the number of calls placed during these holidays hours because nine million calls a day is a substantially lower than the total of long distance calls placed throughout the Bell System on any regular business day.

The reason for the delay is that persons are calling to small towns and suburban homes instead of the larger cities where the bulk of toll calls are handled each day.

Mrs. Helen Johnson, chief operator in Cumberland, said a full force of operators will be on duty over the holiday to help speed the calls.

Mrs. Johnson offered several tips to those planning calls. Long distance calls should be placed by number and should be made station-to-station. Also give the operator a few seconds to answer you and if you encounter a delay, cancel your call and place it again later.

If you wish to call early and avoid the holiday rush, the local office says the best time to place the call would be early on the afternoon of Christmas Eve. Also there is some indication from last year's record that between noon and three o'clock Christmas day there is usually a slight slackening of traffic.

Mrs. Johnson said last Christmas over 6,000 long distance calls were handled in the local office. This is in addition to the 135,000 local calls and the 1,000 directly dialed long distance calls.

Chamber Plans Detailed Study Of Legislation

Detailed studies of national, state and local legislation will be made by the Legislative committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the committee headed by Harry I. Stegmaier, have been asked to follow all legislative trends and to make definite decisions to present to the Board of Directors, who set policy.

The committee will be asked to study state legislative proposals on the unemployment compensation fund, business taxes and exemptions, state tax structure, water and roads legislation, C & O Canal Parkway, veterans bonus, development credit corporation and a state industrial development fund.

Local issues will include city growth, streets and highways, taxes and budget studies.

National legislative topics include inflation and spending control, tax reform, competition with private enterprise, labor reform, controls of business and agriculture, intervention in state and local affairs, social security and national security.

The committee will be divided into groups, according to interests, to make detailed studies and recommendations.

The next meeting of the committee will be held early in January.

Pact Approved By Westvaco Electricians

Luke IBEW Members To Get 4-11 Cents

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, has approved a new contract with West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company for the 104 employes it represents at the Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., mills, D. C. Valentine, company labor relations coordinator, said yesterday.

Mr. Valentine was notified of the acceptance by a representative of the IBEW bargaining unit.

The contract provides a general wage increase of four cents an hour, three weeks' vacation after 10 years' service instead of 15 as at present, improved hospital insurance coverage and minor changes in contract language.

Pay increases at Luke range, with adjustments, from four cents an hour to 11 cents an hour.

The new contract is effective as of December 8, the first Monday after the normal expiration date, because negotiations were not begun until December 11 and the contract was ratified prior to December 19. Company negotiators had not been able to meet with the IBEW prior to this time.

Negotiations were held December 11 and 12 at Roanoke, Va. The new contract will run to December 5, 1959.

Grease Catches Fire

Central Fire Company extinguished a grease fire at the home of Paul Fisher, 740 North Centre Street, yesterday at 3:55 p.m. Firemen said carbon dioxide was used to quench the blaze which occurred when accumulated grease in the oven of a kitchen stove caught fire. No damage was reported.

PPG Talks Get News Blackout

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A news blackout was imposed Thursday on negotiations between officials of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. and striking United Glass and Ceramics Workers.

The two sides agreed to withhold any statements until a settlement was reached or the talks end in deadlock. They appointed federal mediator Hayward Montoney as the sole spokesman, but he declined to comment on anything except that talks were continuing.

Thursday was the third day talks were held here in an effort to end the two-month-old walkout that has shut down Pittsburgh plants in six states.

Workers at PPG and Libbey-Owens-Ford plants in 10 states struck Oct. 6. The LOF strike ended shortly thereafter.

An earlier round of talks between Pittsburgh representatives and the union in Louisville, Ky., broke off Oct. 31 without any apparent success.

Weather Fails To Halt Work On Bypass Job

Except for the Flintstone Bypass project, road construction has halted for the winter in Allegany and Garrett counties.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said the George F. Hazelwood Company is still working, and still ahead of schedule, on the Flintstone bypass.

The firm is excavating and placing fill for the 2.4 mile road which will connect completed highway projects on Polish Mountain and the east side of Martin Mountain.

Mr. Chaires said he expects to see traffic moving over the new road about the middle of next summer if weather conditions are normal.

Halted for the winter are the first section of the Industrial Highway in South Cumberland, the North Branch to Spring Gap modernization project on Route 51 and the improvement of U.S. Route 40 from State Route 36 to Long.

Winter weather has stopped work on U.S. 219 and State Route 135 in Garrett County.

Firemen Begin Collecting MD Canisters

Canisters put out here in the annual Muscular Dystrophy drive are being collected, according to Fire Chief Virgil Parker, Allegany-Garrett chapter chairman.

He said all of the 800 canisters distributed in the city will be in by the end of the week.

Another 150 canisters placed throughout Allegany and Garrett counties by volunteer fire companies will be collected by a committee headed by Alvin Rankin, Frostburg.

The house-to-house drive, held here for the first time, brought in $1,120.88, Chief Parker said.

He said all Muscular Dystrophy marchers have turned in their kits and that this phase of the drive has been closed.

Kiwanis Club Plans Kettle Drive Today

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, yesterday raised $177.50 in a Christmas kettle drive, bringing the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer fund to the $1,622.05.

Members of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club will man the kettles today from 3 to 9 p. m. Charles F. Helmrich is chairman of the Kettle Drive committee.

Court Officials Uninjured When Chandelier Falls

The quiet dignity of the courtroom during a trial in Allegany County Court House was shattered late yesterday morning when a huge chandelier in the 25-foot ceiling of the courtroom crashed to the floor.

The 40 to 50 pound aluminum steel chandelier which contained a 1,000-watt bulb narrowly missed Court Stenographer Robert B. Thomas as he sat at his desk taking testimony in the case.

Also uninjured when the glass facing and light bulb smashed into a thousand fragments was Sidney Storer Sr., a court bailiff who was standing nearby.

Court officials checked the remaining chandeliers after the mishap and found three others loose in their borings. They were immediately removed for repairs.

Student Hospitalized

Donna Smith, 11, of Winchester Road, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital after she injured her ankle in a fall. The hospital reported the girl had just returned from school and slipped while stepping off a curb.

Youths Caught On Store Roof

Two 16-year-old youths were caught climbing on the roof of Nobil's Shoe Store last night shortly before 11 o'clock by City Police.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said the two were spotted going through an alleyway behind the building by Officer Royce Clayton, who then noticed them climbing atop the building.
